London, July 20.—The United States Olympic team was victorious in the first event of the week at the Olympic games here today. C. M. Daniels, the "human fish," after winning his heat in the 100-meter swimming event in good time, easily distanced all competitors and won the final.

There was never any doubt as to the outcome. The American swimmer went through the water like some machine. DeHalmy, of Hungary, was close behind for the first half of the race, but Daniels was not worried by the chase.

DeHalmy began to drop back at 50 meters. Daniels' speed seemed to increase rather than decrease. He wiggled toward the goal like an eel and finished with a good lead.

The American spectators did not fail to take advantage of this opportunity to show their enthusiasm. The treatment the American team has been subjected to has dampened the spirits of the Americans considerably. But when Daniels brought forth victory they were wild with joy. Daniels finished his swim in 1:05 2-5, which is equal to the best time ever made. His score does not count in the score upon which the track and field championship will be decided, but he will be credited with a win under the English system of scoring.

London, July 20.—C. M. Daniels, of the American team, won the second of the 200 meter semi-final swimming events this morning. He finished in 1:17 1/2 seconds. The first heat of the same event was won by the swimmer of Hungary in 1:09 2-5 seconds.

With every prospect of Daniels being victorious in this event, the spirits of the Americans began to rise. They now have great hope that, despite the handicap of unfair treatment, they will run their average in advance of that of all other teams by superiority in field sports.

Climate Bothers Our Men.

Great efforts are being made to keep the men entered in field sports in good condition. The climate is against them. This is a greater handicap than those not concerned in the games realize. They are busy night and day, and great attention is being paid to the training table.

James E. Sullivan, American commissioner at the games, said this morning that he firmly believed the United States team would be victorious. The field sports, he reasons, will bring up the average in bounds. The teams from other countries realize that America has a distinct advantage over them in this particular.

America has another handicap to overcome, this being the manner in which the heat drawings have been conducted. The drawings went against them in the 1,500 meter race, and the same thing happened in the 400 meter event, the heats of which will be run off tomorrow. English Win the Wrestling. In the catch-as-catch-can wrestling event Press, Tompkins, Saunes, Evans and Sanson, all English, defeated respectively Wetheral, W. J. This was reluctantly agreed to, but later there developed opposition to the marriage. Miss Johnson was sent away to Marion, S. C., where she stayed one day and then came back. She was sent south again and this time she remained there two weeks. When she returned it was decided to send her to Europe, and arrangements were made

Mr. Hitchcock outlined his plans for the western campaign and told in detail of the co-operation which he desired between the states. This plan is for the states which are secure to help those which are not.

Hitherto it has been the plan for each state to keep its efforts within its own borders, but during this campaign Mr. Hitchcock believes, if the states which are safe in the republican column will use their efforts for others which are not, greater results will be obtained. The conference will last through tomorrow, and Mr. Hitchcock will leave here Wednesday for Chicago.

seal to a seal clerk, who is not in the city now, and had gone home, when he was asked to go driving. He went, and was told to surrender by King Kelly, who at that time was a Seaboard detective. Purdee says he was not in the ditch. Numerous witnesses testified to his good character.

Mr. Kelly says that he was concealed behind a tree on the night in question. He went to the ditch, on hearing a noise in it, and demanded that the fellow hold up his hands. Then Purdee came out. Capt. Jake Pope testified that there was mud on one of Purdee's shoes when he was brought to the station house. It was claimed by the defense that Purdee went to the ditch in question on other business.

Mr. Chas. U. Harris began his argument for the defense at a quarter of 1 o'clock, and will be followed by Solicitor Jones for the state. It is probable that the jury may get the case shortly after 4.

(By Leased Wire to The Times.)

Denver, Col., July 20.—The Tammany delegates to the democratic national convention, who went from this city at its close to Yellowstone park, returned last night. They tell of meeting the president's daughter, Mrs. Longworth, and her husband, in the park.

While the braves were fighting the same bears which roam about un-molested, a stage coach came around a bend in the road. A young woman rose on top of the coach and the Tammany men were surprised to hear her signal for their own famous warcry. Everybody in the coach took up the song and cheer and, when the coach drew nearer, the Tammany braves were delighted to see it was Mrs. Longworth.

S.S.S. CURES SKIN DISEASES

When the blood is pure and healthy, the skin will be soft, smooth, and free from all blemishes and eruptions; but when some acid humor takes to the circulation, its presence is quickly manifested by some form of skin disease. The skin receives its necessary nourishment and strength from the blood. When, however, this vital fluid becomes a humor-laden stream, it can no longer preserve the healthy, natural appearance of the skin, but by its acid, impure nature continually irritates and inflames the delicate cuticle and fibres and keeps the cuticle in a diseased and disfigured condition. External applications cannot reach the blood, and therefore are beneficial only for their ability to reduce inflammation, and assist in keeping the parts cool. To cure any skin trouble the blood must be purified of the humors causing the trouble. S. S. S. drives out the humors from the blood, purifies the skin, instead of being irritated and diseased, is nourished by a cooling, soothing stream. S. S. S. goes down into the circulation and dissolves every particle of impure matter, all acids and humors, and restores the blood to its normal, pure condition, thereby curing every form of skin disease or eruption. Back on skin diseases and any medical advice free to all.
