PLANNING REVOLUTION AGAINST VENEZUELA

Venezuelan in New York Seeking Means to Oust Castro from Presidency

BELIEVED LARGE SUM CAN BE RAISED HERE

Castro's Treatment of American Business Interests in That Country, It is Believed, Will Make the Raising of Funds Here an Easy Matter—Pulido Spent Fifteen Years in Washington as Representative of His Government, But Was Recalled Last Spring.

(By Leased Wire to The Times)
Washington, Aug. 13.—Senator Don August F. Pulido, for 15 years a representative of the Venezuelan government in Washington, who was suddenly recalled to Venezuela by President Castro last spring, is in New York planning with a number of other Venezuelans and some Americans, a revolution in his country, which is expected to result in the downfall of Castro.

It has been learned from an unquestionable source that Pulido had been seen in New York by a member of the diplomatic corps, one of the attaches of a Central American legation. The fact that he, with other Venezuelans, is planning the revolution was also confirmed.

Whether Pulido plans to take an armed force from America or merely arms or merely money with which to carry on the revolt against the Castro government are details that have not yet been made clear. Pulido is himself the nephew of one of the richest men in Venezuela, and it is expected that in the junta which has formed in New York and in Venezuela to carry into effect the revolution, are many men of prominence in the South American country.

Castro's treatment of the Americans who have been interested in the Bermudez Asphalt Company and other companies in Venezuela, leads readily to the belief that it will not be difficult to raise a large sum for the overthrow of Castro. Besides revenge, certain interested parties would probably be granted the right by the new government to regain their interests and again control the asphalt company from which Castro ousted them.

Senator Pulido was, for many years, one of the best known diplomats in Washington, where he was a member of the Metropolitan Club and a general favorite in society.

The United States has broken off diplomatic relations with Venezuela. This being the case, it remains to be seen whether this government will take steps to prevent Pulido and his friends from completing their plans for the revolution in Venezuela.

Says President Promised Pay for Disabled Schooner

(By Leased Wire to The Times.)
Belfast, Me., Aug. 13.—Captain Guildford Pendleton, owner of the schooner Menaway, which on July 22 was in collision in Long Island Sound with the president's yacht Mayflower, says that President Roosevelt, who was aboard the Mayflower promised to pay for the damage to the Menaway if the government did not. Captain Pendleton said:

"My loss in the schooner was $10,000, with no insurance. President Roosevelt admitted to the commander of the schooner that the yacht was in fault and that if the government did not pay in full he would. "We shall demand payment and make no move until we learn their position. Our recompense will probably come in a special appropriation by congress, but that is slow. President Roosevelt, in the presence of both captains, admitted their fault

THE GEORGIA LAW MAKERS ADJOURN

Session of the Georgia Legislature Came to an End Early This Morning

GREATER ATLANTA BILL

Bill Increasing the Territory of Atlanta Passes—No Further Action on Convict Lease Question Was Taken But Left Over for Extra Session.

(By Leased Wire to The Times)
Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 13.—At 3 o'clock this morning the official clocks having been turned back sufficiently to confine the session to Wednesday, the Georgia legislature adjourned without taking further action on the convict lease question. This was in line with Governor Hoke Smith's communication of Wednesday morning, in which he gave assurances that an extra session would be called within ten days.

Among the important measures disposed of last night was the service pension bill, which provides for the payment of pensions to all old Confederate soldiers in Georgia of their widows, whose property amounts to less than $1,500, and the great Atlanta bill, which amends the charter of the city of Atlanta by extending the city limits. The territory taken in has a population of about 25,000 and will make the total population of Atlanta proper over 140,000. Eleven square miles are added to the area of the city and its taxable values will be increased by $15,000,000 or $16,000,000 by the extension.

Important action of the session, include: Appointment of convict probe committee; passed the telegraph bill, requiring companies to deliver promptly all telegrams under penalty of fine.

A pure registration bill, closing the registration books six months prior to election.

A measure was passed creating Georgia "volunteers" to take the place of the present national guard. This was strenuously fought by the national guard personnel.

Epidemic of Marriages.
Following a week's drouth in the matrimonial circle, the "marrying microbe" got in its deadly work in colored society yesterday and licenses were issued to the following:

Frank Bennet and Mary L. Williamson, Willie Thomas and Caroline Stewart, Fabius Cotton, Jr., and Lula Wiggins, Vadie Saunders and Edie Feather—all of Raleigh, except the last-named couple, who hail from Clayton.

Young White Man Arrested Last Night Was a Conductor.

(By Leased Wire to The Times)
Richmond, Va., Aug. 13.—Harry Marshall, aged 26, of Manchester, was arrested last night, charged with a series of burglaries in freight cars. Marshall was a conductor and had charge of the train pairs of shoes were found in seven pairs of shoes were found in his possession and a search warrant was sworn out in the belief that he has many goods stored in his home. Atlantic Coast Line authorities have missed many goods, but Marshall was not suspected until he was caught last night in a trap set by the police.

APPEALS TO LABOR VOTE SIX NEGROES THRASHED

First Appeal to Trades Unions Issued Last Night—Republican Party Lines Up With the Corporations and Defies the People to Help Themselves.

(By Leased Wire to The Times)
Chicago, Aug. 13.—President Gompers and the executive council of the American Federation of Labor issued labor's first official pre-election political appeal to trades unionists of the country last night. The appeal, which is signed by every member of the executive council, including John Mitchell, reveals a studied attempt to refrain from mentioning Bryan's name.

It is plain, however, that the document is intended as an official endorsement of the democratic national ticket, though contrary to the expectations of labor men, the endorsement is equivocal.

The political endorsement is accompanied by an appeal to trades unionists throughout the country for funds with which to carry on labor's campaign. Copies of the endorsement and the appeal for campaign funds are being mailed from the federation's headquarters in Washington. Respecting the two great parties, the statement reads:

"The republican party definitely lines up with the corporate interests of the country and defies the people to help themselves.

"The democratic party endorses labor's demands and pledges itself to carry them into effect if it is put into power.

"We earnestly ask you to make the choice which is in accordance with the best interests of yourself and of all the people. If the men of labor and our friends fail to do their duty they will have to reckon with even a worse condition of affairs than now obtains. We feel that we need not more than state the facts here outlined. The workers have had experience in the last year of what the party now in power can do and in-

TREND TOWARD BRYAN

Gov. Glenn Talks to Washington Correspondent of Democratic Prospects—Much Pleased With Outlook in the West, Where He Has Been for Some Time.

(By Leased Wire to The Times)
Washington, D. C., Aug. 13.—Gov. R. B. Glenn, of North Carolina, who has been making Washington his headquarters for several days while on a lecture tour, said tonight that the report that he was to go to Chicago to take charge of the preparation of the democratic handbook, is erroneous; that Josephus Daniels, of North Carolina, will have charge of that work. The governor is a member of the speaker's committee of the democratic committee.

"When I began to think about the presidential election, I believed that the democrats had no possible chance," said Gov. Glenn, "but I have changed my mind decidedly, and I believe that Bryan has more than a fair chance of being elected. I have been in Nebraska, Indiana, Illinois, New York, New Jersey, and Kansas, and have talked with democrats and republicans, and I am becoming more confident every day that we have a fine chance to carry all these states.

"Prominent republicans of Nebraska have told me that Bryan will carry his home state. In Indiana the democrats have put forward the very best man they could select for governor, and with Kern running mate for the vice-presidency, there is more than an even chance of capturing the Hoosier state. Illinois, with the bitter fight among the republicans and the presence of Mr. Stevenson on the ticket, also is to be classed as doubtful. We know about the complications in West Virginia and Ohio, and in New York the public trend is turning more and more toward Bryan.

"Those politicians who are talking about North Carolina going republican, are talking nonsense. The state will give a plurality of from 40,000 to 50,000 for the democratic state and national ticket. I base this on past elections. My plurality was 48,000, while Governor Aycock had about 50,000, and with Mr. Kitchin, who in one of the most popular and majestic men in the state, as the candidate this year, there is no outlook for any change."

Receives Message from Young Turks that Sends Him to Bed from Fear

NEW MINISTER WILL BE PROTECTED

New Minister Says No Harm Will Come to Retiring Envoy if He Can Help it—Friends of All Bey Have All Disappeared With His Recall. Father Was Formerly a Power With the Sultan, But Now in Exile.

(By Leased Wire to The Times)
Washington, Aug. 13.—"If you dare to come to New York we will kill you. The sun has risen anew on our nation. They that have dimmed the lustre of its name must die. Izzet Pasha and his son shall answer to those who love their country."

This portentous message, carrying terror to the heart of Mehmed All Bey, the discredited envoy of Abdul Hamid, was received by him a few hours after the cable dismissing him as minister had sent his blood running cold through his veins, and it was this ominous decree, passed by a band of "young Turks" of New York, that caused him to collapse Tuesday night and take to his bed.

The message was written on red paper with black ink and signed "The avengers of our nation." It is said that when the paper was handed to him by an under-secretary the sweetly face of Mehmed All Bey turned a ghastly white and he reeled against the wall of his legation office as though he had received a blow, while his secretaries sprang to prevent him falling to the floor.

It was the fear of assassination that caused Izzet Pasha, his father, for 15 years the power behind the throne of the sultan, to flee from Constantinople and hide himself in some other part of the world, and even now he lives in mortal fear that the curved knife of some Turk will find a resting place in his body. The friends of Mehmed All Bey have disappeared as snow before the sun. With the falling of his star of power and the advent of Mundji Bey, powerful, alert, resourceful, it practically leaves Mehmed All and his father without a country, exiles in a strange land, with only their Syrian friends to stand by their side. The Turks have all gone over to Mundji Bey, and he is absolute master of the situation. The secretaries that once were glad to do the pleasure of Mehmed All Bey are now followers of his father's implacable and victorious enemy, and at the old legation at 1810 Calvert street only two of the former minor attaches of the legation remain by their former chief.

But Mundji Bey declares no harm shall come to Mehmed, if it is in his power to protect him.

"He is a subject of the sultan," he said, "and no harm shall come to him if we can protect him. It is true that he has received threatening letters, probably from some over-enthusiastic hot-headed Turks. Depend upon it, though, no harm will come to him."

Italian Hotel Keeper Victim of Black Hand

New York, Aug. 13.—Pietro Barillo, a well-to-do hotel man of Wood Haven, L. I., was dragged from his bicycle at Lincoln Road and Noststrand, Flatbush, at 1 a. m. today and stabbed to death by a band of men who had lain in ambush for him in a clump of bushes at the side of the road. The police have arrested Antonio Del Marato, his cousin, a saloon-keeper, in whose company at No. 525 Lincoln Road, he was.

From letters found on him it is practically certain Barillo was the victim of the black hand. The police believe the same band that hacked and hewed a man to pieces shortly after Christmas and dumped his dismembered body wrapped in oil cloth near the scene of today's crime killed the hotel-keeper.

There were two witnesses to Barillo's slaying, Mildred Busch, a 15-year-old girl of No. 323 Lincoln road and a man who happened to be passing. It was apparent, though, after they had been briefly examined by the police of the Flatbush station, that whatever they may have seen has been scared out of their heads by the horror of the assassination.

MASS MEETING TOMORROW.

Discussion of Changes in City Charter—A Civic League.
A movement is on foot for the organization of a civic league in Raleigh, and the matter will be discussed at a mass meeting to be held tomorrow night. There will also be a discussion of a proposed alteration of the city's charter, allowing the aldermen to be elected by the city at large, abolishing the present system. Mr. W. J. Peele is at the head of the movement, and is an ardent advocate of the civic league idea.
