POMP AND NOISE MARK THE NOTIFICATION DAY

James S. Sherman Officially Notified of Nomination Today

MR. BURROWES SPEAKER FOR THE OCCASION

Peculiar Feature is the Absence of Governor Hughes Who Was Not Invited to be Present—Salute of Nineteen Guns at Daybreak—Big Crowd of Visitors in the City and a Big Parade This Morning. Among Those Present Were Secretary Root and Frank Hitchcock.

(By Leased Wire to The Times.)
Utica, N. Y., Aug. 18.—Notification Day for the republican vice-presidential nominee, James Schoolcraft Sherman, is being observed here today with all the pomp and noise that was to be found in either Cincinnati or Lincoln.

When day dawned this morning nineteen guns boomed, the salute for the vice-presidential nominee. The city was already prepared when the people began to stir.

There is just one singular feature which cannot be explained. This is the absence of an invitation to Governor Charles E. Hughes. Mr. Hughes, accordingly, is not here.

There is a mad riot of enthusiasm. Automobiles gayly decked in national colors, assembled for their part in the big parade and open carriages with waving plumes add another touch of lively color to the imposing scene. Hundreds of visitors are in town, either to take part in or witness the show.

At 11 o'clock the parade started with the notification committee in automobiles. Bands played stirring music, people cheered and flags waved.

The Sherman home was almost hidden in a maze of red, white and blue and in front a stand had been erected for the orators.

Among the prominent men here to take part in the ceremonies are Senator Burrows, chairman of the notification committee; Secretary of State Elihu Root, national chairman Frank Hitchcock, and President M. W. Stryker, of Hamilton College, from which institution Mr. Sherman was graduated years ago.

Mr. Sherman received a tremendous ovation from his townfolk when he made his public appearance. Frank Hitchcock was pointed out as one of the notables of the hour.

The line of march of the parade was lined with a cheering throng of spectators and as soon as the line passed there was a grand rush towards Genesee street in order that good positions might be gained.

The program for the day had been arranged so that nothing could interfere. An opera house had been rented in case of adverse weather, but the weather man was kind and this contingency was precluded. It was planned that the honored guests should take luncheon with Mr. Sherman, Mayor Hoeler, Chairman Simonds, of the reception committee and other prominent residents of the town in the early afternoon.

Following this the program calls for out of door sports and this evening will be a grand display of fireworks. At 6 o'clock tonight Mr. Sherman will give a dinner for the notification committee.

Operators' Meeting Excites Forty Thousand Miners

(By Leased Wire to The Times.)
Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 18.—Forty thousand miners in the Pittsburg district are excited over a meeting of operators which has been called here for today, at which a blow may be struck at the heart of the miners' union. Union leaders of the miners have demanded that mine owners take a greater check-off from the monthly pay of miners for the union. This the operators have refused to do and the strike is threatened in the entire district.

The call for a secret meeting sent out by the operators is for the purpose of settling the check-off system once for all. It is not intended that there be a conference with the miners' officials. Should the operators decline to hold out the monthly money for the union it is claimed that the United Mine-Workers would not exist three months.

HAINS OUGHT TO BE PUNISHED

His Wife Says He Should Be Heavily Punished for His Crime

THE CAPTAIN BEAT HER

Did Not Know What She Was Doing When She Signed Alleged Confession—Wants Custody of Her Children and Will Raise Them in Ignorance of Their Father's Crime. Captain Hains Used to Beat and Choke Her and She Was Afraid of Him.

(By Leased Wire to The Times.)
New York, Aug. 18.—"Captain Hains should be punished. I hope for my babies' sake that he does not die, but his punishment should be heavy."

These are the words of the wife of Peter C. Hains, Jr., the United States army captain who shot William E. Annis to death on the float of the Bayside Yacht Club last Saturday afternoon because, as he believed, Annis had broken up his domestic happiness.

Mrs. Hains is a handsome woman and spirited. She is determined to get her children and take them to the home of her father, in Winthrop, Mass., where she has been living since her husband separated from her.

"I wanted to see my children very much today," she said, "but it's too late now and I must go back. Should I go on to the fort, I would have to explain to the guards and then call up the colonel's office and, well, you see, I had better go back to New York now."

"I have a perfect right to see my children. I am their mother and I love them and they should be with me. When Captain Hains and his brother and father brought this terrible and untrue charge against me, I did not know what I was doing. I was deadly afraid of the captain. He has beaten me in his wild rage. At times his eyes were like those of a mad man and his voice would choke until he could scarcely speak. It is hard now to tell the full story in a connected way, and I don't see why I should, but such terrible reports have been circulated that I feel justified in branding them as false."

Mrs. Hains then told of her early married life and her meeting with Mr. and Mrs. Annis.

"Mr. Annis was a fine man and his wife and I were close friends," continued Mrs. Hains. "Mrs. Annis knows the truth. She knows that the terrible stories circulated by Thornton Hains were lies. That is some comfort to me but it does not make up for her loss and suffering."

"I cannot explain why I ever signed the paper Captain Hains brought to me which purported to be a confession from me, unless I was frightened into doing it. Yes, I remember now how frightened I was. I came to New York believing I could comfort Mrs. Annis."

"I decided to take my children (Continued on Page Seven.)"

Magistrate Higginbotham Has Lively Time With "Holly Rollers,"

Magistrate Higginbotham, who holds court in that part of Brooklyn known as Williamsburg was the hero of a lively fisty encounter in his court. The witness in the notorious "Holly Rollers" case struck at him and was immediately knocked down and almost out by Magistrate, who is something of an athlete. The judge then had his assailant arrested and locked up on a charge of assault. The woman shown in the upper part of the picture is Isabella G. Clarke, one of the leaders of the Holly Rollers, while the woman in the lower corner is Elizabeth Robinson, who accused Magistrate Higginbotham of having tried to kiss her and was then held for contempt of court.

Fighting Bob Evans Was Retired From Service Today

(By Leased Wire to The Times.)
Lake Mohonk, N. Y., Aug. 18.—After forty-eight years of active service in the United States navy, Robert Evans, known to his countrymen as "Fighting Bob," was retired today and from now on is a private ley D. Evans, known to his countrymen as "Fighting Bob," was retired today and from now on is a private citizen of the nation which he so nobly defended.

Admiral Evans has been spending the summer at Lake Mohonk on account of ill health which arises principally from rheumatism. His crippled leg which was maimed in 1865 during the assault on Fort Fisher, has also been giving him considerable trouble.

"I am in perfect condition, except for my leg," exclaimed the bluff old sailor, heartily, today. "I think in three more weeks I will be sound again. Just because I have retired from active service it does not necessarily mean I have quit the navy. About the middle of October I shall take up my duties as a member of the general board in Washington."

Admiral Evans is president of the San Cristobol Sugar Company of Puerto Rico and in the future will devote the most of his time to that enterprise.

Speaking of the proposed alliance with China, he declared that he thought it would be a good thing for American commerce.

BROUGHT BACK TO LIFE

After Being Pronounced Dead Patient is Made to Breathe

But Second Death Occurred a Short Time Later and Treatment Failed to Revive Him a Second Time.

(By Leased Wire to The Times.)
New York, Aug. 18.—Oscar Culver a ward patient in the eastern district hospital suffering from tuberculosis and rheumatism, who was brought back to life after being dead, according to every known physician and medical test, stopped breathing again today, and this time proved to be beyond resuscitation.

Just before Culver passed away today he opened his eyes. His wife was beside his bed, where she had been all night. He stirred slightly toward her and appeared to smile, seeming to recognize her. Then he was attacked by a sinking spell and the restoratives that proved efficacious once were this time of no avail.

Four hours after Culver had been brought back to life with injections of strychnine and applications of oxygen, this treatment was continued. At last the efforts of the physicians were rewarded by natural respiration setting in. The man's pulse was very weak but distinctly noticeable.

After the first sinking spell Miss Josephine Ryan, senior nurse of the ward in which Culver was, pronounced him dead.

Dr. Michael Jeffer corroborated her but decided to experiment with the strychnine and oxygen. He injected enough strychnine to kill three men.

TROOPERS AND RIOTERS BATTLE ALL NIGHT LONG

LEAPED TO HER DEATH Woman Commits Suicide By Jumping Into Well

Mrs. Phillips Leaves Boarding House Where She Was Staying For Medical Treatment and Throws Herself Into Well.

(By Leased Wire to The Times.)
Madison, Fla., Aug. 18.—Mrs. T. S. Phillips, 70, of Hanson, Fla., committed suicide early this morning by leaping into the well at the boarding house of which she was a guest. Her body was found standing upright in the well with her neck broken.

Mrs. Phillips, accompanied by a daughter, came to Madison Monday for medical treatment. During the early hours this morning she arose unnoticed and, making her way to the well, is supposed to have thrown herself into it. She had been in ill health and despondency over this is said to have been the cause of her deed.

LIFE UNDERWRITERS MEET.

Nineteenth Annual Convention Being Held in Los Angeles.

(By Leased Wire to The Times.)
Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 18.—The nineteenth annual convention of the National Association of Life Underwriters opened here this morning with an address of welcome by Mayor Harper. The president's address and the reports of other officers occupied the morning hours. Addresses on insurance topics and general discussions are on the program for the afternoon. In the evening the delegates will be given a reception at the Hotel Virginia, Long Beach. The convention will be in session three days, closing with a banquet Thursday evening at the Hotel Virginia.

The annual report of Secretary Watte read this morning says the past year has been one of hardship and discouragement for many of the members that the prospects are rosy.

KLEIN HELD FOR COURTS.

Will Answer Charge of Murder for Boycotting Nelson.

(By Leased Wire to The Times.)
Kankakee, Ill., Aug. 18.—Joseph Klein, of Company A, First Illinois Infantry, was held by a coroner's jury to answer to a charge of murder in the civil courts for the death of Earl Nelson. Nelson was bayoneted in the back when he attempted to board a train carrying the regiment from Chicago to Springfield.

Following the finding of the verdict, two deputy sheriffs left for Springfield to take Klein into custody.

That there will be no trouble between the civil and military forces is promised in a statement made by Governor Deneen at Springfield. He said Klein will be turned over.

MR. NATHAN STOCKTON DEAD.

Well Known Citizen of Winston-Salem Died This Morning.

(Special to The Times.)
Winston-Salem, N. C., Aug. 18.—Nathan Stockton, a well known citizen of Winston-Salem, died this morning after a lingering illness of several years. Up to the time his health failed he was engaged in the leaf tobacco business.

Negro Tries to Set Fire to a Building and shoots at Troopers

SIX BATTLES OCCUR DURING THE NIGHT

Outbreaks Were Evidently Planned, As They Occurred in Half a Dozen Spots at the Same Time—City Aroused by the Crack of Rifles and Clank of Racing Soldiers—Governor Offers Reward For Principals.

(By Leased Wire to The Times.)
Springfield, Ill., Aug. 18.—The climax in an all-night battle between the troops and rioters in which the militiamen were fired at from ambush in all parts of the city, was reached at 2:30 a. m. today, when a negro who had tried to set fire to a building on Eighth street, between Jefferson and Madison, within a stone's throw of military headquarters, shot at Trooper Adelman, of Troop B, Seventh cavalry.

The soldier returned the fire, but failed to hit his man. The negro escaped and a firing squad started in pursuit of him. Earlier in the night the same negro had been seen prowling about the house of E. W. Hoeker by Trooper Lowenstein.

The cavalry and infantry were engaged in battle at six separate points with the rioters during the night and early morning. Many negro homes were attacked while the militia and rioters in ambush were firing at one another. The shooting began at 11 o'clock at night, when the militia commanders were congratulating themselves that they had restored quiet.

The outbreaks were evidently planned, as they occurred in half a dozen spots at the same time. In an instant the city was aroused by the cracking of rifles and the clatter and clank of racing soldiers.

Just before the rioting was renewed Governor Deneen issued proclamations calling on all citizens to furnish evidence to the grand jury against persons who participated in the lynchings and destruction of property on Friday and Saturday nights, and offering $200 reward for the arrest of the men responsible for the death of Scott Burton, William Donegan, Louis Johnson, John Colwell, James Scott, and Frank Dekmore.

DESECRATED HOME OF LINCOLN

Was Threatened With the Torch by the Slaughter-Crazed Mob. Saved by a Woman.

(By Leased Wire to The Times.)
Springfield, Ill., Aug. 18.—The home of Abraham Lincoln has been threatened with the torch. A mob, slaughter-mad, crazed by the terrible scenes of murder and arson of Friday and Saturday nights, tried to burn the home from which Abraham Lincoln, the great emancipator, was called to save a dying nation.

The torch was lighted, but was not applied to the building that is loved above everything in Springfield.

A woman, alone and unarmed, stopped the mob in its effort to shame not only the state of Illinois, but the whole nation.

The attempt was made on Saturday night, after the lynching of aged (Continued on Page Seven.)

Race War Imminent in Jellico Coal District

(By Leased Wire to The Times.)

Knoxville, Tenn., Aug. 18.—Because of the determination of the Kings Mountain Coal Company to work negroes in the same mines with white men a race war is imminent in the mining region adjacent to Jellico, Tenn.

Seventy negroes, heavily armed, are barricaded in a commissary which is surrounded by between 350 and 400 white men, and an attack is expected at any moment. Sheriff Huddleston, of Campbell county, has reached the scene and summoned every available citizen to protect the negroes.

The trouble, which has been brewing for several months, broke out Saturday when 150 white miners went to the Kings Mountain mine and drove twelve negro families from there. They marched the negroes all day Saturday, allowing the women and children to camp and eat what food they carried with them, but forced the men to keep moving. General Manager John Gorman, of the Astra mine, and county officers are doing everything in their power to avert trouble.
