To the woman away from home, a cake of Ivory Soap is a veritable boon.

With it, she can wash gloves, handkerchiefs, belts, underwaists, and the pretty shirt-waists in which most women look their best.

More than that; she is independent of laundress and cleaner—to the benefit of her pocket-book and the longer life of the things she wears.

A HANGING A DAY.

Political Prisoners Being Executed by Japanese Authorities.

(By Cable to The Times)

Seoul, Aug. 19.—To terrify Korea into obedience to the mikado, Japan is publicly hanging a rebel a day in every important city outside the capital.

The executions began three weeks ago and have continued interruptedly.

The Wily Japanese authorities give foreigners to understand that the victims are brigands. Of the natives, however, it is made clear that the men hanged are political offenders and that the authorities are more strongly disposed to deal leniently with common criminals than with those in arms against the Japanese government.

FORAKER STILL MAD.

Wouldn't Visit a National Headquarters in New York.

(By Leased Wire to The Times.)

New York, Aug. 19.—Republican leaders who had looked forward to a meeting between Senator Joseph B. Foraker, of Ohio, and Frank H. Hitchcock, chairman of the republican national committee in this city, were greatly surprised this afternoon, when Mr. Foraker announced that he would not visit the campaign headquarters before his departure from the city. The senator made this declaration after having said previously that he had been snubbed and humiliated by the failure of the campaign leaders to ask him to speak at the opening of the national campaign at Youngstown on September 5.

The Capital City Telephone--- How to Use It.

Telephoning is such a simple matter that a talk on this subject seems almost unnecessary. What we say, however, is intended to help you and benefit us. There is a right way and a wrong way to use the telephone. We are daily impressed with the fact that a great many people, unintentionally, perhaps, have adopted the wrong method, thereby causing themselves constant irritation.

When you use the telephone your mouth should be directly in front of the mouthpiece and the receiver should be held lightly but firmly against the ear. You should talk directly into the mouthpiece in an ordinary tone of voice. Very often people stand away from the instrument and direct their attention to persons about them. Naturally, under such conditions, the one to whom they are talking cannot hear distinctly and perhaps finds fault with the service.

Then, too, some of us have a habit of shaking the hook violently when the called party does not answer promptly. The hook should be moved slowly up and down two or three times to attract the attention of the operator. If violent methods are used the signal does not work properly. All the operator can do, you know, is to make the connection and ring the bell; she cannot make people answer their telephones in a hurry.

There are directions in the telephone directory covering every feature of the matter. If you will take occasion to read these directions and follow them, it will help you and we are sure it will result in benefit to us.
