

PYTHIAN ORPHANAGE

Durham Pythians Want It Located There

Florida's Candidate For Governor Visiting His Sister—Robinson's Chimes Fund—County Convention Tomorrow—Damage to Water Plant.

(Special to The Times)

Durham, Aug. 28—At a meeting last night of the local Pythians State Deputy J. D. Nutt was present and spoke. He was on a visit to the lodge in his official capacity.

The fraternalists took up the matter of locating the Pythian orphanage here and appointed a committee consisting of R. O. Everett, W. M. Yearby, and Dr. R. L. Felts to attend the grand lodge at Hendersonville next June and place this city's claims properly before that body. It is known that the Pythians generally are favorable to Durham, and the three lodges here went on record as favoring the establishment of the institution. A site and land have been offered the grand domain of North Carolina and nobody here would be surprised to see the proposition accepted.

General Albert Gilchrist, of Jacksonville, Fla., is here on a visit to the family of Dr. A. Cheatham. The general is a half-brother of Mrs. Cheatham. Mr. Gilchrist is the democratic nominee for governor of Florida, chosen in the second of two exciting primaries. His mother, Mrs. J. A. Gibbs, is also here, and the two will spend several days here. Gen. Gilchrist is a popular bachelor and a favorite over all Florida.

Editor James A. Robinson is boosting his Episcopal chimes fund tonight and last night by a benefit performance given by the Lakewood Stock Company. The players are putting on "A Noble Outcast," and running it two nights for him. He is trying to raise a fund of $4,000 to buy these ten bells, to be used by the church, and has perhaps $500 in hand now. The editor is making himself famous all over the country by this effort and expects to raise the money. He has received contributions from every section of the country.

The county convention which meets tomorrow will select the next state senator to represent Durham and the four other adjoining counties. This county is entitled this year to a senator and it seems that Mr. J. S. Manning will have no opposition. Several other men were spoken of, but the nomination will hardly provoke a contest.

The city water supply, which was so badly damaged by the floods is being aided and the pump-station is receiving rehabilitation after its severe experience this week. Captain Michie, of the waterworks, yesterday said he thought the damage has been overestimated and that his business will not suffer more than $6,000 against the feared $15,000 the day before. The water is muddy because the filter-house has been washed away, but the general condition of things is very much better than at first thought, though the destruction in the country was fearful. A letter from Bahama says the house belonging to Misses Canada was washed entirely away.

Big Parade and Two Large Performances

To Exhibit at Cameron Field Monday Afternoon and Night—Parade in Morning—New Waterproof Tent That Will Seat 5,000 People.

If all reports are true, Gentry has the best street parade of his long career as a showman. Embracing more animals, more features, and more high-class acts than ever before. Everything this year is entirely new, except the menagerie. The pavilion with a seating capacity of 5,000 has been specially made for them this season, and is entirely waterproof. The wagons, chariots, and various equipages used in the parade and performance are resplendent in gold and colors, and every piece of harness, trappings, and material either for use or ornament is as bright and brilliant as hands can make it. The elephants are gaily arrayed in their spangled finery, the camels caprisoned with barbaric splendor, the prancing ponies and their diminutive jockeys decked out in gala attire, and the tout ensemble forms one of the most attractive street processions seen here in a long time.

Of the performance proper, it bears the stamp of Gentry's trade mark, "Excellence." Mr. Gentry knows what the public likes, and makes it a point to satisfy them, to this he attributes his remarkable success as a showman for the past 20 years. Nothing is too good for his patrons, and no trouble is too great in order to secure what he knows the public wants. Not content with giving the most elaborate and entertaining animal exhibit in America, he has this year gone to the expense of importing acts from Europe, to add variety and charm to his show. These acts are the best in their line, and suitable for the class of people to whom this show caters for their patronage. There is absolutely nothing objectionable in any shape or form connected with the Gentry aggregation, their motto being courtesy, attention to the slightest detail, and the highest class of entertainment, suitable for the highest class of visitors.

Ex-Senator Marion Butler and Hon. R. Z. Linney Get Into the Discussions—Very Little Friction—List of Candidates.

(Special to The Times)
Charlotte, Aug. 27—The republican convention adjourned this evening at 6 o'clock, after a strenuous day. The morning session was taken up with a discussion of the platform. Ex-Senator Marion Butler brought about a little excitement occasionally, but the Hon. Romulus "Zig-Zag" Linney, "Bull of the Brushes," was there every time with "oil for the troubled waters." Linney is an interesting character and was listened to with great interest by the convention.
