THE WEATHER

(By Leased Wire to The Times.)
Washington, Sept. 17—Forecast for North Carolina for tonight and Friday:
Fair tonight and Friday; light variable winds.

Dogs! Dogs! Dogs!

Dogs continue to annoy peaceful citizens. A gentleman who lives on Newbern Avenue says that last night there were at least a dozen dogs around his house. They kept him awake a large part of the night.

Maj. Bill Utley, guardian at the Governor's Mansion, reports a canine carnival held on the lawn there last night. Mr. Utley looked tired and sleepy this morning.

"They kept me awake, and I didn't get much fun out of it, myself," said Maj. Utley, "but the dogs seemed to enjoy it. From the canine standpoint the gathering must have been a howling success."

Norman Hackett in "Classmates"

Norman Hackett, who will appear at the Academy Monday night in "Classmates." Mr. Hackett will be entertained at a special drill at the A. & M. College Monday evening. After the drill he will address the students of that institution. On Monday night the officers and faculty of the college will occupy special boxes at the performance of "Classmates."

In Honor of Mr. Patterson.
The State Agricultural Building is today draped in mourning for the beloved Commissioner of Agriculture S. L. Patterson, who died Monday. The whole department wears an air of subdued grief, for Mr. Patterson was loved and respected by every member of the force, and each and every one feels his loss keenly.

AMUSEMENTS

At The Gem.
By special request the Gem Theatre are re-running today two of the Cameraphone pictures. "Bunker Hill" was shown at the Gem last Saturday night and "Home, Sweet Home," the song, was produced there last night. Both of these subjects are very interesting.

The feature in the silent picture for today is "The Kentuckian," produced from the book of that title. In this picture seven different scenes are shown, and they are all good.

"SMART SET."
S. H. Dudley, who stands in the front rank of colored comedians, will be seen in a new piece this season with the "Smart Set." The play is called "The Black Politician." It is in three acts and will be the next attraction at the Academy of Music, September 18. "The Black Politician" may be rightly termed a comedy success with music. Besides convulsing the audience with wholesome, relishing laughter, it also thrills. The situations are side-splitting and the action is speedy and consistent. As Hezekiah Dec, S. H. Dudley has a role that fits him like a kid glove. He is nothing more than a race track tour in the play, but when requested to pose as a great politician he rises to the situation with all the grace and dignity of an old campaigner. There are innumerable features in this rollicking offering, but to swell on a few of all of them would be to deprive the patrons of the Academy of a genuine treat. If catchy melody, capable singers, dancers, comedians, and vaudeville performers, novelties, able stage management and appropriate costumes are any criterion, this incomparable troupe of mirth-provokers are in for a successful engagement.

AT THE GAIETY.
"Classmates" and "Romance of a War Nurse" are the two big headlines on at The Gaiety Thursday and Friday.

Don't miss either of these if you appreciate good moving pictures. The management of The Gaiety endeavor at all times to secure for its patrons the cream of the film market, and in offering this exceptional program, there is no doubt but that all previous efforts to secure two good subjects in one change of program have been excelled.

How to Get Strong.
P. J. Daly, of 1247 W. Congress St., Chicago, tells of a way to become strong; he says: "My mother, who is old and very feeble, is deriving so much benefit from Electric Bitters that I feel it's my duty to tell those who need a tonic and strengthening medicine about it. In my mother's case a marked gain in flesh has resulted, insomnia has been overcome, and she is steadily growing stronger." Electric Bitters quickly remedy stomach, liver and kidney complaints. Sold under guarantee at all drug stores. Etc.
