THE WEATHER

Washington, Sept. 18.—Forecast for North Carolina for tonight and Saturday: Fair tonight and Saturday; light variable winds.

AMUSEMENTS

TONIGHT "SMART SET."

The maximum of song and action crowded into two hours and forty minutes of entertainment space, and with just sufficient funny dialogue to season the musical comedy broth.

"The Smart Set" brings its batteries charged with novel features and delightful surprises to the Academy tonight, when it hopes to score another one of those full-fledged triumphs that have been accorded in every city where the love for charming music and spontaneous mirth is strong enough to recognize a very superior offering.

J. A. COBURN'S GREATER MINSTRELS.

The newest, swellest, most progressive company of hustling, wide-awake singers, dancers, comedians, musicians, athletes, novelty and minstrel performers ever gotten together by a live manager, the clan whose energy, ideas, ability and efforts present to the minstrel loving patrons of every city they visit, a first class evening's entertainment and revelation.

They are the live wires in minstrelsy, with ideas of their own not "chairwarmers," "has beens," "fill-ins," and second row supernumeraries, of the much heralded mammoth productions. They are the Great "Barlow Minstrels" re-organized under the direction of J. A. Coburn, the most energetic and progressive minstrel director in the country, who has for the past ten years presented one of the cleanest, most enjoyable attractions ever seen in our city. Remember the band concert at noon.
