TAFT GLORIES IN PANIC

Republican Candidate Says That Panic of 1907 Was First Panic Ever Caused by Over-Prosperity.

(By Leased Wire to The Times)

New York, Oct. 24—President Roosevelt has decided to put practically his whole cabinet on the stump in the doubtful states.

Mr. Root, who had planned to make only one speech, will speak in Ohio, as well as in New York. The president is said to believe there is danger of Mr. Taft losing New York, Ohio, West Virginia, and Maryland.

Mr. Taft, in Indiana, had large crowds at the 16 meetings, some of which were held in the rain. He said it was true, as charged by Mr. Bryan, that the panic of 1907 was a republican panic, and he gloried in it, as it was the first panic ever caused by over-prosperity. He said:

"What we need to put us on the way to the prosperity we enjoyed for 10 years is a restoration of confidence, and you will never bring that about if you put into the executive chair a man who has so many half-backed, unfounded, economic theories as the leader of the democracy."

Mr. Sherman made eight speeches, one of them on prosperity, in a mill that had been vacated because of hard times.

Mr. Bryan, at Wilmington, Del., in Philadelphia, and at many places in New Jersey, referred sarcastically to President Roosevelt substituting Senator Knox for Mr. Gompers as the leader of organized labor and suggested Mr. Roosevelt might undertake to substitute son-in-law Longworth for himself as the leader of the democratic party. Asking the name of one town in New Jersey at which his train stopped, he was told it was Whitehouse. "At last," he exclaimed, "I have arrived there; it is a happy ending to a long journey." He has not yet decided in what way he will reply to the president again "batting into" the campaign, as he called it.

Candidate Thomas L. Hisgen, John Temple Graves, and C. J. Shearn and William Randolph Hearst will speak tonight at Independence league rallies in New York. Mr. Hearst has promised the reading of some more Standard Oil letters.

Candidate Taft today finishes his Indiana tour at Gary and will leave tonight for New York, arriving here tomorrow.

Candidate Bryan speaks in a number of small towns today, ending at Elmira tonight.

Mr. Kern is still at the bedside of his sick son at his Indianapolis home.

FOUR ARE HURT IN AUTO WRECK

(By Leased Wire to The Times)

New York, Oct. 24—Four people were hurt, one of them probably fatally, early today, when a big touring car on its way to the Vanderbilt cup races on Long Island became unmanageable while passing through Roslyn and smashed over one side of the road, the four people in the tonneau were hurled out as the automobile turned over. Three of them were hurt, but they were attended by a physician in Roslyn and were able to board a train and return to their homes in Manhattan. The police did not learn any of their names.

The person most seriously hurt was the chauffeur, Henry Langdon, Manhattan. He was flung out of his seat and struck the ground with a thud.

A RETURN GIFT FROM ARGENTINE

Cargo of as Weird Animals as Ever Seen in This Country

CAMELS WITHOUT HUMP

Weirdest Things in Menagerie Are Two Andes Blood-Drinking Eagles That Drink Half a Bucket of Blood a Day—A Herd of Sheep Carried Aboard, One of Which Was Killed Daily to Furnish Beverage, Camels Eat Uncured Tobacco As a Regular Diet.

(By Leased Wire to The Times)

Boston, Oct. 24—With a cargo of as weird animals aboard as was ever seen in this country, the steamship Hermus came into port and sent the menagerie ashore. It is a gift from the government of the Argentine republic to the United States, and is to be placed in the national zoological gardens at Washington.

The weirdest things in the menagerie are two Andes blood-drinking eagles. They drink half a bucket of blood a day, and the ship carried along a herd of sheep, one of which was killed daily to furnish the birds. Also there were six vicuñas. They are camels about the size of goats, but without a hump. They eat uncured tobacco as a regular diet, and several bales of tobacco were aboard, and the purser showed it as proof. They are said to be the first vicuñas ever imported into America. There also was a flock of Andes turkeys. They have claws on the end of their wings and none on the end of their toes. The natives in charge say they hang by their wings instead of perching at night.

The animals are sent as a return gift for several specimens sent to Argentina by the United States two years ago. Over a year was spent in collecting it.

BRILLIANT FAREWELL RECEPTION TENDERED JAPANESE OFFICERS

(By Leased Wire to The Times)

Yokohama, Oct. 24—A brilliant farewell reception with Japanese officers and diplomats as the guests of honor was given today on board the Connecticut, Rear Admiral Sperry's flagship.

The first squadron of the fleet will sail for Manila, and the second squadron for Amoy tomorrow morning. The visit was planned to end with great splendor this evening.

All the Americans here are convinced of the sincerity of Japan's welcome. The banquet given last night to the American officers by Vice Admiral Baron Ijima, like the many others given in honor of the Americans, was highly successful and all the speeches were marked by expressions of

CANNON TERMED PARTY TRAITOR

Senator LaFollette Conducting Most Remarkable Campaign Ever Witnessed in Wis.

IGNORES STATE TICKET

LaFollette is, With the Exception of His Support of Mr. Taft, Advocating or Ignoring the Other Republican Candidates as He Feels Disposed—Refused to Campaign for State Committee—Declares He Would Rather See Republican Candidate Defeated Than to Have Him Elected and Vote for Cannon.

(By Leased Wire to The Times)

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 24—Senator LaFollette is conducting the most remarkable campaign ever witnessed in Wisconsin. He is, with the exception of his support of Mr. Taft, advocating or ignoring the other republican candidates as he feels disposed.

When an assembly candidate is not a LaFollette follower he is ignored. When he speaks in the district of a congressman who supports Cannon, he declares he would rather see a republican candidate defeated than to have him elected and vote for Cannon, whom he terms a traitor to the party.

Senator LaFollette and Governor Davidson are not in harmony. LaFollette is making no mention of the state republican ticket in his campaign. Governor Davidson is expected to be a candidate for LaFollette's seat in the senate next election. Senator LaFollette is not campaigning under the auspices of any political organization. He refused to campaign for the republican state committee.

All his dates are made by himself and are arranged without any reference to other meetings that may be held at the same time or in the same locality.

The reason for this is that the state committee is controlled by Senator Stephenson who is now an anti-LaFollette man. LaFollette having failed to support him for re-election to the senate.

friendship and good will. The America's friends society also gave a dinner in honor of the visitors. This banquet was held in the Koyo-Kwan tea house in Shiba Park, which is known for its pretty dancing girls, and especially for the "maple leaf dance."

Ex-Minister Baron Kaneko presided at the entertainment. He is president of the society, which is composed of men who have been to America for educational purposes.

A somewhat unusual incident in connection with the battleship cruise took place last evening, when Lieutenant Commander Levi C. Bertollette, of the battleship Vermont, and Miss Lucille Meigs, of San Francisco, were married at the American consulate.

AUTOS RACING FOR CUP TODAY

Vanderbilt Trophy Contested Honor for Which Big Machines Contest

BIG CROWDS SEE RACE

Eighteen Big Machines Start Out on Wet, Slippery Course, in a Drizzling Rain—Biggest Crowd in History of Motor-Racing Was Strung Along the 2 1/2-Mile Course—Estimated that 500,000 People See the Race—William K. Vanderbilt, Donor of the Cup, on the Starting Line.

(By Leased Wire to The Times)

Vanderbilt Cup Course, Oct. 24—Eighteen big racing automobiles started over a wet, slippery course in a drizzling rain, in the Vanderbilt cup contest today.

The biggest crowd in the history of motor-racing was strung along the 2 1/2 miles of the course on Long Island. It was estimated that 500,000 people saw the race.

Some of the best-known automobile-drivers in the world were entered in the contest. Herbert Lyttle, winner of the big race of a fortnight ago, drove an Isotta. Louis Strang was at the wheel of a Renault. Foxhall Keene, son of James R. Keene, drove his own car, a high-power Mercedes.

William K. Vanderbilt, Jr., donor of the cup, was on the starting line with Fred Wagner, the official starter, and helped to get the racers off. The big grandstand on the motor park was crowded, despite the unpleasant weather, and there was not a vacant park space around the entire course.

James Florida, driving a Locomobile, with Fred Hall as his mechanic, was the first to cross the tape. The start was made promptly at 6:30 o'clock. The other cars followed at one minute intervals.

A Brazier car, entered by Harry Payne Whitney, and driven by Pougé, broke its steering gear and was withdrawn. Louis Strang drew up to the tape with his Renault, but when he got the signal to go the machine refused to budge. Vanderbilt, Wagner and other officials worked over the machine trying to get it in order. They were still at work when Florida, in the Locomobile, made the first lap. He flashed past the grandstand in 23 minutes and 10 seconds, having made the course at an average of 61 miles an hour. Taking into consideration the slippery condition of the track this was remarkable time.

Long before the hour set for the start a crowd of rowdies from Brooklyn broke down the high wire fence which guards the new motor parkway, a scientifically constructed road, which comprised about one-third of the course and swarmed in front of the big stand and the press stand opposite.

At 5:30 the rain ceased and with the break of day came a dryer atmosphere. The clouded sky had, however, resulted in delaying the start a little from the time first set and it was 6:30 when Fred Wagner, the official starter, and clerk of the course, called the cars to the line.

To the surprise of many car No. 8, a Thomas entry, came to the line and it was announced that J. M. Seymour would drive it. This car, it was announced last night, could not take part in the race.

Of the 20 cars originally entered only one was really withdrawn, No. 14, a B. L. M., who was to have been driven by Thomas Williams. There has never been a No. 13 in a Vanderbilt cup race. A light drizzle began again just as Florida, in his big Locomobile, came to the line and there was a scramble for shelter by those who had left the stands.

Sharply on the minute each car left the line, the exhaust of each working like a Gatling gun. Florida got a tremendous cheer from the crowded stand and every driven was given a cheer. Willy Haupt, in his Chadwick, looking like a traveling arsenal; Robertson in his Locomobile, and Strang, in the Renault entry, came in for special notice; but when Keene, in his great Mercedes, came to the line, every box-holder, man and woman, stood up and waved everything available from hats to valis. He was

MR. ROOSEVELT WILL MANAGE THE CLOSING DAYS OF CAMPAIGN

(By Leased Wire to The Times)

Washington, Oct. 24—Inquiry at the white house today elicited the response that the president has not accepted the invitation of the Marquette Club, of Chicago, to deliver a speech there next week. The president gave the invitation, with others of the same character, his serious consideration, but according to Secretary Loeb he has no present intention of making speeches.

Representative Bennett, of New York, head of the speaker's bureau, arrived at the white house today in response to a request from the president.

He says that New York next week will see the biggest array of stump speakers that has ever invaded the state and city. The same is practically true of Ohio and Indiana. In the latter state two special trains will be sent flying from one corner of the state to another, Senators Beveridge and Hemenway and Vice-President Fairbanks being the top liners.

Four cabinet officers will invade New York City during the closing days of the campaign, in addition to Judge Taft, Governor Hughes, Representative Sherman and many other speakers of national reputation. Attorney-General Bonaparte will deliver two speeches in New York next Tuesday. On Thursday night Secretary Cortelyou will speak at the Marquette Club, of Chicago; Friday night Secretary Straus will be at Carnegie Hall, and on Saturday night Secretary Root will speak at Durland's Riding Academy.

Ohio will be taken care of by Senator Knox, Secretary Garfield, Postmaster-General Meyer, Senator Lodge and General O. O. Howard.

Judge Taft will come east tomorrow, and is due to make a noon-day speech in New Haven, Conn., on Monday. He will then go to New York where he will be kept busy until the morning of November 2, delivering his last speech in the Empire State at 8 o'clock in the morning. He will then go to Ohio. He will speak at Cleveland during the day and wind up his campaign at Youngstown that night. Mr. Bennett declared today that the only doubtful states under his jurisdiction are Maryland and Kentucky. These states he would not concede to the democrats, but said they were doubtful.

Ohio Republicans Think Newspaper Adventurer is Being Persecuted and Taken to the Dreyfus Affair—Colonel Watterson Makes a Statement.

(By Leased Wire to The Times) Dayton, O., Oct. 24—An attempt is being made here to make Broughton Brandenburg, the purveyor of the alleged Grover Cleveland letter published in the New York Times, "a Dreyfus." In fact, last night a letter was sent out to every corner of the state as follows:

"Loyal republicans and Ohioans of all parties are urged to support the forthcoming efforts of the citizens of Dayton and Miami valley to prevent the mills of New York's Tammany from having the opportunity of crushing Broughton Brandenburg, formerly an Ohioan, at the behest of ruthless and unscrupulous political manipulators, seeking immediate campaign advantages. The case is an outrageous affair, similar in many respects to the martyrdom of Captain Dreyfus in France."

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 24—In regard to a statement reported to have been made at Dayton, O., last night by the attorney for Broughton Brandenburg, "that Colonel Watterson announced before the Cleveland letter was published that it must be discredited by any means," Mr. Watterson last night said:

"I never heard of the alleged Cleveland letter until I read it in the New York Times of Sunday, August 30."

SENTENCE FOR EATING APPLES.

Soldier Court-martialed for Eating Green Fruit—Dishonorably Discharged.

New York, Oct. 24—Six months imprisonment, dishonorable discharge and loss of pay for eating green apples contrary to orders was the sentence pronounced upon Bernard Leiser, a private in Battery D, third field artillery. Sentence of the court martial was passed at the armory building. The charge on which he was convicted was "conduct to the prejudice of good order and military discipline in violation of the sixty-second article of war."

The court martial found that Leiser had been given lawful and explicit orders by a sergeant to throw away the green apples he held in his hand. Furthermore, that he did not throw them away. He threw away the cores. The green apples prejudiced the good order and discipline. They may have prejudiced his digestive apparatus, but deponent sayeth not.

After gravely considering the matter the court martial decided to let him off easy, only dishonorably discharging him, forfeiting all pay and allowances for six months, and being imprisoned at Fort Myer, Va., for six months at hard labor.

THE MEMORIAL TABLET UNVEILED

In Memory of Signers of the Edenton Tea Party Resolves

INTERESTING PROGRAM

Unveiling Was done by Thirteen Descendants of Revolutionary Heroes in Presence of a Good Crowd—Hon. Francis D. Winston and Judge Clark the Speakers for the Occasion—All Participants of Revolutionary Ancestry—Much is Due the Managers for Their Efforts To Make the Occasion a Success.

An event of more than ordinary interest and of deep significance was celebrated in Raleigh today—the unveiling and dedication of the tablet in memory of the fifty-one signers of the Edenton tea party. The tablet was erected by the North Carolina Society of the Daughters of the Revolution.

The dedication exercises were held in the house of representatives this morning at 11:30 o'clock.

The house and galleries were filled with interested spectators. Music was furnished by the band from the State School for the Blind and by the High School chorus, who sang "Carolina" and "America."

Prayer was offered by Rev. Robert Brent Drane, D. D., rector of St. Paul's church, Edenton, North Carolina, after which Mrs. E. E. Moffitt, regent of the North Carolina Society of the Daughters of the Revolution, in an interesting address presented the tablet to the state of North Carolina.

Mrs. Moffitt spoke at some length of the work of the Daughters of the Revolution, giving an account of their organization and work. She spoke of this event, that took place 134 years ago, that was being commemorated today, and of the significance of it in the history of our commonwealth.

The tablet was accepted in the name of the people of North Carolina by Hon. Francis D. Winston, Lieutenant-Governor of North Carolina, in the absence of Governor Glenn.

Governor Winston felt that in the placing of this tablet upon the walls of the capitol of our state a way was being opened for the stimulating of state pride.

"In the historic town of Edenton there is scarcely a spot upon which the eye may fall that is not rich in historic interest.

"The deeds of these makers of history must not pass away, their memory must not die out.

"There are so many historic spots in our grand old state that 1,000 monuments would not be enough to mark the spots. People will come to know who we are, what we are and why we are. Our people have been careless of their history and fame. We have not impressed the fact of the first landing upon North Carolina soil. This landing as no less significant than the landing at Jamestown, which was celebrated last year by the Jamestown exposition.

Other attempts had been made but in Raleigh's colony was the spirit of the home that would make a colony life. He transplanted the English home, a new civilization depended upon it. His ships were filled with women as well as men. From this colony came Virginia Dare, the first white child born of English parents upon the soil of America.

Governor Winston urged upon the society the placing of a tablet to her memory. He urged the beginning of a movement to give her birth its proper place in the history of our country. The state is proud to have the society place upon the wall of the state house a tablet commemorative of so momentous an event."

Mrs. Patrick Matthew, Regent Penelope Chapter, D. R., of Edenton, N. C., told in the verse of a brilliant poem of the immortal Penelope Barker, and of her Edenton Tea Party. The poem was witty and sparkling and was heartily applauded.

Hon. Walter Clark, chief justice of the supreme court of North Carolina, made an interesting address and one fitted to the occasion.

"Liberty had no more ardent supporters," said Judge Clark, "than the fifty-one high-spirited ladies of the (Continued on Page Five.)"

NAVY-HARVARD FOOTBALL GAME

(By Leased Wire to The Times)

Annapolis, Md., Oct. 24—Although hopes that President Roosevelt would be one of the spectators at today's football game between the navy and Harvard are not to be realized, his family will be represented by Miss Ethel Roosevelt, who is to come over from Washington with a party of friends.

Assistant Secretary of the Navy T. H. Newberry will, it is expected, see the game from the Harvard benches.

The navy squad went through final practice for the game yesterday, confining themselves to the lightest work. Lange, the fleet quarterback, who had a stiff leg, was out and showed some improvement that there is no fear he will not be in today's game.

A GREAT STORM SWEEPS COAST

(By Leased Wire to The Times)

Bluefields, Nicaragua, Oct. 21, via Colon, Oct. 24—A disastrous hurricane swept the coast of Nicaragua Friday to Sunday, destroying the towns of Rio Grande and Prinzapolka, and doing great damage in the interior. Only meagre advices have been brought here by echoer, but it appears that the entire coast, from Pearl Cays to Cape Gracias, was swept and there was much loss of life.

Rio Grande is a town of probably 3,000 inhabitants, 60 miles north of Bluefields. Prinzapolka is a town of probably 2,000 persons. There are a few small banana plantations, but the principal industry is mining.
