

ATHLETES use Sloan's Liniment to prevent lameness after any violent exercise. It penetrates and acts like massage, relieves soreness, stiffness and contraction of the muscles.

Sloan's Liniment

stops any kind of pain and doesn't need any rubbing.
Mr. H. K. Gilman, instructor of athletes, 417 Warren St., Roxbury, Mass., says: "I have used Sloan's Liniment with great success in cases of extreme fatigue after physical exertion where an ordinary rub-down would not make any impression."
All druggists carry Sloan's Liniment. Price, 25c., 50c. and $1.00.
Dr. Earl S. Sloan, Boston, Mass.

SOCIETY.

THE GUIDING STAR.

There is a sea—a quiet sea,
Beyond the farthest blue,
Where all my ships that sail astray,
Where all my dreams of yesterday,
And all the things that were to be—
Are mine!

There is a land—a quiet land,
Beyond the setting sun,
Where every task in which I quailed,
And all, when my courage failed,
Where all the good my spirit planned—
Is done!

There is a hope—a quiet hope,
Within my heart distilled,
That it, undaunted, on I sail,
This guiding star shall never pale,
But shine upon my labor's scope,
Fulfilled!

And there's a tide—a quiet tide,
Flowing toward the goal—
That sweeps by every human shore,
And all its fullest ebbs no more;
And all that first swell shall ride—
My soul!

Delightful Recital of Reading. Another of those delightful recitals of the education department of the Baptist University, was given in the auditorium yesterday afternoon at five o'clock. The readings were listened to with the greatest delight and all received hearty and appreciative applause. It is a privilege to hear the interpretation given to some of the master pieces of literature by the young ladies who have made a careful study of the subject.

Miss Edna Prevatt's rendering of "Paul Revere's Ride" was very good. The selection is from William Curtis, and there is a dash and fire and a delicate sentiment about it that never fails to charm.

"The Dombey Series," from Dickens, by Mrs. Sadie Lambert Blalock, was probably the most enjoyable of the selections. The touching pathos was especially suited to Mrs. Blalock's style.

"Gentleman, The King!" by Robert Barr, was given by Miss Sadie Blalock in her usual dramatic style. Miss Oldham has already made herself popular as a reader of melodramatic.

The next recital will be given April 9, at 5 o'clock. The first of the graduating recitals will be given by Miss Sadie Spurr Baker, March 26, at four-thirty.

B. U. W. SENIORS ENTERTAINED. Mrs. J. R. Rogers Delightfully Entertains in Honor of Her Niece.

One of the most delightful of the social events given in honor of the senior class of the Baptist University, was that of yesterday afternoon, when Mrs. J. R. Rogers entertained the class at her home on Hillsboro street. Her niece, Miss Grace Rogers, is a member of the class.

The afternoon was full of delightful features and was thoroughly enjoyed by all present.

The decorations were effected with greatest taste and beauty. A profusion of hot house flowers were used combined with gay B. U. W. pennants.

A feature of the afternoon that created no end of merriment and brought forth screams of laughter, was the blindfolding of the young ladies, while something cold and wet and clammy was dropped into a sheet spread between them. As it bounded from one side to another, and touched first one girl's hands and then another it took to possess class and ruf and many other horrible aspects. When the blindfolds were removed and a harmless long kid glove, stuffed with wet sand was disclosed every one felt very much sold.

There was a delightful guessing contest, the answers of which were something to eat, drink or wear. The songs were especially appropriate, being tied with green ribbons, the class color, and bearing a picture of the University.

The class prize, the picture of a B. U. W. girl handsomely framed, was won by Miss Lela Howard. The town girl's prize, a picture of an A. and M. boy, fell to the lot of Miss Annie Jones.

A prize was also given to Miss Grace Rogers, as a member of honor. Delicacies and dairy were served, these being in all kinds of colors and shapes, bunches of grapes, flowers, bells, hearts and numerous other devices.

Mrs. Rogers was assisted in receiving by Mrs. J. P. Moore, both of whom made delightful hostesses, doing everything to make the afternoon one of the most delightful in the history of the class.

Besides the members of the class, there were a number of town girls present, Misses Annie and Lella Jones, Jessie Woodall, Alice Newsome, Lela Douglas, and Susie McGee.

GREAT EVENT OF NEXT WEEK. Tag Day Promises All Kinds of Interesting Features.

What is Tag Day? Every one is asking. It is the great event of next week which is being looked forward to with much interest.

As good old St. Patrick has furnished us a beautiful color every will be decorated with little green tags on Tag day, next Wednesday, March 17. Early Wednesday morning squads of bright high school and seventh grade children will be sent out, each squad accompanied by a chaperone. When the fun will begin every one will want to be tagged, as it will be the thing and no one will want to be seen without the little green badge of honor. For the honor of wearing the little tag the wearer will drop a contribution into the sealed box of the child pinning on the tag. No contribution will be refused, the larger the better, however. No child will be allowed to make any change, however, they will have to take what is given.

Out, girls will have a squad of boys around the market house. Mr. Charles Gattis will have a crowd at the depot. There are a large number of ladies who have volunteered their services as chaperones, so all parts of the city will be covered. It will be interesting to watch the fun. If a tag is removed the wearer will be liable to be tagged again. In some places there has been a race to see who can wear the most tags, the more the merrier.

No invasion will be made of the business houses without the full permission of the owner, as the affair is not intended to interfere with any one's business. The ladies are desirous that it should be conducted in the pleasantest manner.

But what is the object of all this? It is not just for the fun of the thing. There is an underlying object, the benefit of the high school. There is a debt on the furniture, which was purchased this year, which the ladies are anxious to raise.

There was a most enthusiastic mothers' meeting at the high school yesterday afternoon, most of the ladies joining the High School Betterment Association. Mrs. Thackston, the chairman of the association, presided over the meeting. Mrs. Earle gave every one a hearty welcome. Mrs. E. E. Moffitt made an interesting talk on the betterment work, while Mrs. Joseph Daniels told the ladies of their plans for Tag Day. Every one was greatly interested and pledged their hearty support. An interesting account of a successful Tag Day in Marion, Ga., was read by Miss Daisy Wall.

The scheme has been tried in a number of large cities where exceedingly large amounts were raised. Several cities in North Carolina have held successful Tag Days. Goldsboro, Fayetteville and Greensboro. In the latter city more than $1,000 was raised.

The children, with the chaperones, will meet at the high school Monday morning to make all arrangements. Every one should get into the spirit of the affair, remember how some of those who refuse will hurt and don't refuse the children who have gone into it heart and soul. Any amount will be accepted. Four prizes have been offered to the children, one to a boy and one to a girl from the high school who get the most money, and one to a boy or girl from the seventh grades of any of the other schools. Watch out for the fun and have a good time Tag Day.

ART MEETING AT CLUB. Delightful Meeting of Art Department of Woman's Club Thursday Afternoon.

The Art Department of the Woman's Club held a most delightful meeting at the club building Thursday afternoon. The meeting of this department are always very interesting, and the ladies of the club who do not attend miss a great deal of pleasure as well as instruction.

Miss Mary Hillard Hinton is chairman of the department. Miss Jane Ward read a most interesting and instructive paper on the National Art Gallery of London.

Miss Ward has been abroad numbers of times and visited the art galleries so she is very familiar with them all. Her descriptions of the pictures was very vivid. She spoke of the various art galleries of Europe, also, the Louvre, and others. Several copies of the pictures were passed around and added very much to the talk.

The Art Department, through the Woman's Club offered this year a prize to the pupils of the graded schools who showed the greatest proficiency in drawing. The term being so short, there was no contest. Next year there will be two prizes offered, a first and a second.

The Raleigh chapter of the Southern Association of College Women, which has been recently formed in the city, will hold its first meeting Monday, at 4:30 in the afternoon, Mrs. Emma Garrett Boyd, president of the southern Association, will address the chapter and offer plans and suggestions of work for the chapter.

At 8:30 o'clock Mrs. Boyd will speak informally on the work of the association.

The faculty and students of Peace Institute and St. Mary's School, the Woman's Club members, and all women interested in educational progress in the south are invited to attend.

Miss Elizabeth Hunter, who has been teaching in the graded schools, left today to visit relatives in Macon.

Mrs. N. M. Cuthbert went to Virginia today, called there by the illness of her grandchild.

Mrs. Raymond Pollock returned to her home at Kinston today after attending the presentation of the portrait at the capital.

Mrs. Cuthbert and Miss Clark, of Peace Institute, went to Pinehurst today.

Mr. and Mrs. Beale Johnson and Miss Lena Ragsdale, of Cardenas, were in the city today, going to Pinehurst for the baseball game.

Mrs. Clara Womble and Mrs. F. Evans have returned to the city from the north, where they have been in the interest of the Woollcott's millinery department.
