THE CONQUERED BANNER.

Furl that banner, for 'tis weary; Round its staff 'tis drooping dreary; Furl it, fold it, it is best; For there's not a man to wave it, And there's not one left to save it, In the blood which heroes gave it; And its foes now scorn and brave it; Furl it, hide it—let it rest!

Furl that banner, softly, slowly! Treat it gently—it is holy— For it droops above the dead, Touch it not—unfold it never, Let it drop there, furl'd forever, For its people's hopes are dead!

SHAKESPERIAN MUSICALS.

Delightful Final to Study of Shakespeare by Kennness Book Club.

The Shakesperian Musicals at the home of Miss Eleanor Vass yesterday afternoon came as a delightful climax to the study of Shakespeare that the Kennness Book Club has been making during the past season.

The social side of the meeting was strongly emphasized, each member bringing a friend.

The visitors were charmingly welcomed by Miss Vass and other members of the club.

After being served with delicious fruit punch in the hall the guests gathered in the parlor, hall and library to enjoy the delightful program which was in charge of the secretary Miss Loula Hall Briggs.

Miss Briggs read a highly interesting paper on "Shakesperian Music," written by Prof. Wade Brown showing how Shakespeare had left a great influence on music, the musician owing more to him than any other artist, or any other profession.

The musical program that followed were examples showing what his influence had been and added delightful emphasis to the facts that had just been read.

"Hark, Hark the Lark," from Franz Schubert was sung by Mrs. Horace Dowell. Mrs. Wade Brown sang a charming group of old English Ballads and ancient melodies, the contrast in them being brought out by her true and beautiful interpretation. They were: "O Mistress Mine," ("Twelfth Night"); "Under the Greenwood Tree," as You Like It; "Ode Melody of Heartase," ("Romeo and Juliet"); "The Airs Sung by Ophelia," ("Hamlet") and Heigho for a husband," (Ancient Melody).

This was followed by a number of old times, "Lights o' Love," "The Carman's Whistle," and "Greensleeves," played by Miss Futrell.

Mrs. Brown again sang "Should He Upbraid" from Taming the Shrew.

Five dances mentioned by Shakespeare were played by Miss Futrell and the program came to a close with the beautiful song from Shubert "Who is Sylvia," sung by Mrs. Dowell.

Misses Bessie Futrell and Sadie Duncan were the accompanists.

The program was a great success, greatly enjoyed by every one.

Delicious refreshments were served and a delightful social meeting followed.

SWEETS are graded by degrees, from crude liquid molasses to refined NUNNALLY'S candies. There are all sorts in between, but none beyond. People may start with a lower grade and gradually cultivate the taste for a higher. But no one who tries NUNNALLY'S is ever content with any other kind.

A fresh supply always kept by H. T. Hicks Company, Truckee Building, Raleigh. "None Like Nunnally's."
