POSTAL STRIKERS MAKE STRONG APPEALS

(By Cable to The Times.) Paris, May 19.—Paris was astounded today to see appeals in faring letters upon the public bill boards urging all workmen to strike. The summons had been affixed to the bill boards some time during the night. The petitions are couched in strong language and urge every workman to cease his labors today, thus aiding the striking postmen and telegraphers to win their strike against the government.

a prisoner at police headquarters on a bigamy charge.

Wellington married Miss Florence May Cushman at "the little Church Around the Corner" on April 27. He met her at a prominent up-town hotel three months before. The wedding was kept a secret until the young woman's brother, R. A. Cushman, of Newark, N. J., hunting up his sister, found her a bride in a Brooklyn hotel.

Mrs. Maud Windsor Gardner Wellington, of No. 324 Third avenue, read of the broker's marriage and went to Assistant District Attorney Charles E. Rice, Jr.

Mrs. Wellington made affidavit that she had been married to Wellington, that there had been no legal separation or divorce, and that he had re-married. Upon this affidavit Magistrate Stewart issued a warrant and detectives were sent after Wellington. They found him at 43 Exchange Place.

"I haven't seen Maud in twelve or thirteen years and I did not think she would make any trouble," was all that he would say.

MR. M. J. BROWN COMPLAINS.

Asks a Retraction of Statement Printed in The Evening Times of April 28th.

In The Evening Times of April 28th there appeared a story under the following head:

"Ask Pardon for Griffin, Big Delegation of Richmond County Citizens Here, Etc." In the article was a statement about as follows:

"He (Mr. Dockery) went over the witnesses upon whose testimony Griffin was convicted and showed beyond a doubt that Griffin's conviction was the direct result of a conspiracy between one Brown, ex-policeman, and a general bad man, and several negroes. Brown, who had lost his job and been succeeded by Griffin, secured several negroes of extremely bad character, to swear that they saw Griffin shoot the negro."

M. J. Brown, the man referred to in the above statement, declares in a letter to The Evening Times, that the statement is false and asks a retraction.

The statement referred to was intended only to give the gist of Mr. Dockery's argument as presented to the Governor. The Times reporter contends that the statement contains the contents of Mr. Dockery and the "big delegation of Richmond county citizens" present, all of whom were free in expressing the sentiments complained of by Mr. Brown; and that the story printed was an accurate account of the hearing before Governor Kitchin. The Evening Times is not concerned with the truth or falsity of the allegations made at a public hearing of this nature. The public is entitled to full knowledge of both sides of a controversy of this kind, and to this end the story of April 28th was printed. The Evening Times earnestly disclaims any intention of declaring Mr. Brown either innocent or guilty of the charges preferred against him by his fellow citizens.

The military commission which is investigating the rioting has taken the testimony of Stephen R. Trowbridge, a missionary of the American board who was with Henry Maurer and D. M. Rogers when they were killed.

NEW BOOKS.

The Spy. By J. Fenimore Cooper. Edited by Samuel Thurber, Jr. 16mo., cloth, xxxi and 424 pages. 25 cents net. The Macmillan Co., 66 Fifth avenue, New York.

This is another volume in the very inexpensive and useful series of pocket American and English classics. Like the other volumes, it is well printed on good paper, and is strongly bound in cloth. The editor has provided, by way of introduction, an excellent sketch of Cooper's life, a brief bibliography of Cooper's most important works, and some suggestions of teachers. At the end of the book he has provided sufficient notes.

The Chrysalis.

By Harold Morton Kramer. Cloth, 12mo., 419 pages. Illustrated. $1.50. Lothrop, Lee & Shepherd Co., Boston.

"The Chrysalis" begins with a Yale-Harvard football match at Yale upon which, by a curious chance, hangs the fate of two statesmen. The scene then changes to the west, alternating between Spokane and a lonely ranching district a little further south. The characters are Yale football men, politicians, ranchers, bronco-busters, and some women, one or two of them "fair and frill", the others so nearly bloodless that they are not very interesting. The interest of the action, however, is not absolutely dependent on the characterization. The book will while away a few hours very comfortably.

Considered as a work of art "The Chrysalis" is certainly defective. The conversations are stilled and impossible, the style leans towards the sophomoric, and in one case—where the principal character throws a football game away—one has to read carefully or else miss the explanation entirely. The other events in the career of "The Chrysalis"—so called because his best character unfolds itself after some unpleasant manifestations—are told rather well. GEORGE SUMMER, JR.

Nature's Remedies for Disease.

Nature provides more effective remedies in the roots and herbs of the field than were ever produced from drugs.

Thirty years ago, Lydia E. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., discovered and gave to the women of the world a remedy made from roots and herbs, which has proved more efficacious in curing women's diseases than any other medicine the world has ever known, and today Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is looked upon everywhere as the standard remedy for woman's ills.
