

S.S.S. NATURE'S PERFECT TONIC

Something more than an ordinary tonic is required to restore health to a weakened, run-down system; the medicine must possess blood-purifying properties as well, because the weakness and impurity of the circulation is responsible for the poor physical condition. The blood does not contain the necessary quantity of rich, red corpuscles, and is therefore a weak, watery stream which cannot afford sufficient nourishment to sustain the system in ordinary health. A poorly nourished body cannot resist disease, and this explains why so many persons are attacked by a spell of sickness when the use of a good tonic would have prevented the trouble. In S. S. S. will be found both blood-cleansing and tonic qualities combined. It builds up weak constitutions by removing all impurities and germs from the blood, thus supplying a certain means for restoring strength and invigorating the system. The healthful, vegetable ingredients of which S. S. S. is composed make it splendidly fitted to the needs of those systems which are delicate from any cause. It is Nature's Perfect Tonic, free from all harmful minerals, a safe and pleasant acting medicine for persons of every age. S. S. S. rids the body of that tired, worn-out feeling so common at this season, improves the appetite and digestion, tones up the stomach, acts with pleasing effects on the nervous system, and reinvigorates every portion of the body.

WAS NO SURPRISE President's Action What Was Expected

Action of the President in Aligning Himself With Aldrich No Surprise. The Announcement of His Cabinet Showed Where He Stood.

(Special to The Times.)
Washington, D. C., June 21—The action of President Taft in aligning himself with Aldrich against the progressives and an income tax was no surprise to those who have been close students of the administration from the outset.

Since the day the president announced his cabinet officers everyone on the inside here in Washington has realized that at heart the new executive is in sympathy with the Cannon-Daize-Aldrich crowd, and that he is a pronounced reactionary. Everyone presuming to understand the under-currents in politics has long realized that the president's feeling toward the progressive wing of his party, and also toward the so-called progressive legislation, is that of hostility. It was not expected, however, that he would make any move that was not absolutely necessary that would tend to direct the attention of the country to his reactionary policies. The president is far too good a politician to make any unnecessary exhibitions of his hostility to the progressives, or his friendship for the stand-patters.

The action of the president in going to Aldrich's aid was necessary to defeat the income tax. He remained out of the public eye until Aldrich was all but defeated. Then he sent in the special message, after having refused point blank to take similar action on behalf of downward tariff revision, and saved the day for the reactionary forces. It is practically certain the Taft-Aldrich two-per cent tax net earnings of corporations, for a period of two years will win.

The Taft-Aldrich program is winning, however, at a fearful cost to the solidity of the republican party. One half of the insurgents, the one-half that stands with the American public, are fighting the substitute for the income tax with as much enthusiasm, if not more, than they did before the president entered the fight against them.

The best evidence that the insurgents will fight to the finish to defeat the Taft-Aldrich plan was the fact that five chosen progressives—Borah, Bristow, Cummins, LaFollette and Clapp—gave out a statement to that effect.

"The friends of the income tax feel it a duty to continue to put forth every effort to secure the adoption of the measure," the statement read, in part: "A tax upon the net incomes of corporations alone will very imperatively reach the desired result. It will tax tens of thousands of stockholders whose total incomes are very small, and will exempt in large measure the immense personal incomes of the country."

"There is no reason for exempting from this tax the vast incomes of individuals like Carnegie, Rockefeller, and others, a very large part of whose fortunes do not consist of corporation stocks."

It is the general opinion here that President Taft has stirred up a hornet's nest in entering the fight against the income tax, and that the buzzing will continue to the last day he occupies the white house. The prognosis is that his alliance with the stand-patters will prevent his re-nomination being freely made.

Taft's appointments and his policies—his cabinet and his official acts—and, incidentally his affiliations, political, personal and legislative, have practically resulted in the Roosevelt endorsement being withdrawn. While no word has been heard from Col. Roosevelt, the latter's close friends do not hesitate to express the opinion that President Taft will wait in vain for the Roosevelt endorsement of his administration thus far.

It has been noticeable that the Taft administration has given constant comfort to the enemies of Roosevelt, and that Harriman, Rockefeller and Morgan are really in the saddle. The substitution of a tax for two years only, on the net earnings of corporations, for an income tax, which would have hit heaviest the three money kings, emphasizes the hold these men have on the present administration.

It is interesting in view of recent developments to recall the earliest criticisms of President Taft by the Roosevelt followers.

They declared that Taft showed his allegiance to Rockefeller by appointing Charles Nagle, attorney for the Waters-Pierce (Standard) Oil Co., head of the department in which is located the bureau of corporations.

They charged that to please J. Pierpont Morgan, Taft appointed as attorney general, to administer the laws, Morgan's personal attorney, George W. Wickersham.

For the other members of his cabinet the new president selected men, who, it was averred, were entirely satisfactory to the big corporations. Emphasis was laid on the fact that at the big offices handling prosecutions had been filled with men satisfactory to the vested interests, and that Wall street influences were thoroughly in control also of the law-making machinery of the government.

These allegations have been substantiated as fast as opportunities have offered.

Women Who Are Envious.

Those attractive women who are lovely in face, form and temper are the envy of many, who might be like them. A weak, sickly woman will be nervous and irritable. Constipation or Kidney poisons show in pimples, blotches, skin eruption and a wretched complexion. For all such, Electric Bitters work wonders. They regulate Stomach, Liver and Kidneys, purify the blood, give strong nerves, bright eyes, pure breath, smooth, velvety skin, lovely complexion. Many charming women owe their health and beauty to them. 50c. at all druggists.

Christian Church Notes.

Sunday school and church services were interesting yesterday. Some of the teaching force were absent on account of sickness and were greatly missed. The pastor used the following text in the morning, "Holiness without which no man shall see the Lord."

Mr. William Heller sang a beautiful solo which was appreciated by the audience. At night the pastor preached to a large congregation on the text, "Will ye also go away?"

The Woman's Union Prayer Meeting.

A year ago last May the women of all the churches of Raleigh gathered together in the First Baptist church to unite their prayers for the cause of prohibition, which was then before our state. After the glorious victory they met again in a praise service, and at this meeting it was unanimously decided to organize a woman's union prayer meeting, to meet once a month in the various churches of the city. The purpose of this meeting is to give a spiritual uplift to all the churches in our city. This is the only opportunity the women of the different churches have of meeting together regularly, and therefore all the women of our city

Why is Sugar Sweet?

If sugar did not dissolve in the mouth you could not taste the sweet. GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC is as strong as the strongest bitter tonic, but you do not taste the bitter because the ingredients do not dissolve in the mouth, but do dissolve in the acids of the stomach. Is just as good for Grown People as for Children. The First and Original Tasteless Chill Tonic. The Standard for 30 years. 50c.

At The Revelry.

One of the most interesting and best acted motion pictures ever seen in this city will be run at The Revelry tonight. The story of a heartless flirt and the friendship of two college friends is depicted by as clever a cast of actors as one may wish to see. Whether or not the punishment of Hilda Norton was too severe is a question for each one seeing the play to decide for themselves, but as to the reward of the beautiful little cripple there is no doubt.

The beautiful little theatre in which this picture is shown continues to surprise the public, for each day some new feature or decoration appears. The painters and decorators are rapidly completing their work and already the house has won for itself regular patrons, who delight in its coolness, pleasant surroundings, music and comfort.

AT THE GEM.

It was at first thought that the "Air Dome" could be completed and ready for the opening tonight. On account of a delay the entire program of the "Air Dome," together with the regular program of the Gem will be shown at The Gem.

Eight vaudeville acts along with two thousand feet of pictures reels will be the program.

The "Air Dome" will be completed tomorrow and all will be in readiness for the opening tomorrow night. Should it rain during any of the performances at the "Air Dome," rain checks will be given good at the Gem Theatre.
