

Washington, Aug. 2.—Forecast for North Carolina for tonight and Tuesday: Showers tonight and Tuesday.

ESTABLISHED 1876.

RALEIGH, N. C., MONDAY, AUGUST 2, 1909.

PRICE 5 CENTS

CZAR, ENGLAND'S GUEST IS GIVING GREAT WELCOME

Mighty Naval Demonstration In Honor of the Czar's Visit to England

A MAGNIFICENT SIGHT

The Mighty Naval Power of Great Britain Assembled Off Cowes to Guard the Czar and Czarina on Their Visit—Powerful Flotilla of Russian Warships Accompanies the Czar—Magnificent Sight Attracts Thousands of Visitors to Cowes—Many Excursions Run Into the City—Visit of Czar a Great Diplomatic Event—Politics Being Much Discussed.

(By Cable to The Times) Cowes, Eng., Aug. 2.—The mighty naval power of Great Britain is assembled off Cowes today guarding the czar and czarina of Russia on their visit to King Edward. Accompanied by a powerful flotilla of Russian warships the Russian Imperial yacht Standart with the czar and czarina on board, steamed into the harbor from Cherbourg this afternoon accompanied by the booming of cannon and the fluttering of flags.

The present visit of the czar is making international history. His mission is one of diplomacy—a mission of such moment and of such delicate diplomatic texture as not to be trusted to the ablest diplomats of the great northern empire.

The usually peaceful harbor of Cowes today resembled the setting of a drama of warfare. Kinged in a semi-circle about the Standart lay the greatest naval strength of Europe.

The dun hulls of the great Russian battleships formed in close formation about the Standart, while fringed further out into Atlantic and channel squadrons of the British navy stood at anchors in the roadstead. Torpedo boats and destroyers grim and swift steamed up and down the harbor watching every craft that entered.

The magnificent sight attracted thousands of spectators to the water front. This being a bank holiday excursions were run into the town bringing people from inland. The streets throng with police and government agents. Hundreds of Russian police came from Cherbourg to watch for suspicious persons and to prevent socialistic outbreaks.

The visit of the czar is the most potent event which England has experienced for a long time. Ever since it was first announced there have been elaborate and socialistic demonstrations. King Edward's tact is sorely tested by this imperial visit—a visit that may make world history rounding out a series of visits which started when he met Emperor William of Germany, in the Baltic.

The next trip was into Swedish waters to visit King Gustave, of Sweden. Following that the emperor attended the unveiling of the monument upon the battlefield of Poltava. Last week the czar came into German waters, touching at Kiel and visiting Prince Henry of Prussia. On Saturday the Standart with its naval convoy arrived at Cherbourg for the visit with President Fallaires of France.

The information was given out that politics would be touched upon but lightly during the course of the visits. Nevertheless politics has been discussed—and deeply.

Never have such elaborate precautions been taken to guard the life of a monarch. Six dreadnoughts formed the guard of honor for the Russian autocrat which was a distinct departure from tradition because formerly an armored cruiser was given over for such use. King Edward and Queen Alexandra met their royal guests at Spithead. They came here late last week for the naval review on Saturday and their presence lent additional importance to the position of Cowes upon the map of Europe.

The most splendid sight the human eye could fall upon will be presented tonight when the great war vessels are lighted up with their thousands of lights and their searchlights are allowed to play upon the town and the horizon. Tomorrow all will see away save four warships of the dreadnought type leaving the Bellophone, or the Indomitable, the Inflexible and the Invincible with a flotilla of destroyers to act as guardships of the Russian emperor.

An especial mooring place was constructed for the Standart in Osborne Bay, near East Cowes, where she will lie alongside the British Imperial (Continued on Page Two.)

THAW LOSES HIS NERVE AGAIN AS JEROME HITS HIM

Becomes Nervous and Paces Back and Forth As Jerome Reads

STRAIN ON MOTHER

Jerome Reads Evidence at Former Trial to Show Young Millionaire Insane—Thaw Became Nervous Under Attacks and Paced Back and Forth While Jerome Continued to Hammer—Jerome Read the Testimony of Catherine O'Neil, the Nurse Who Swore That Thaw As An Infant Showed Marked Signs of Insanity.

(By Leased Wire to The Times) White Plains, N. Y., August 2.—Harry K. Thaw again lost his nerve at his insanity hearing today. While District Attorney Jerome was reading evidence adduced at former trials to show the young Pittsburger insane, Thaw became nervous. He restrained himself as long as possible, but finally jumped from his chair and paced nervously back and forth while Jerome continued to hammer in his attacks.

Thaw's mother, too, showed signs of breaking down under the strain. While Jerome read the testimony of Catherine O'Neil, the nurse, who swore at the second trial of murder that Harry Thaw as an infant and later on in childhood showed marked signs of nervousness, Thaw consulted with Dr. Adolph Meyer and other alienists.

The aged nurse's story went on to describe how Thaw at five years of age suffered from nervous spells attended by his lying awake at night, his large eyes glaring.

Lawyer Moschauer interrupted Jerome when later he sought to read Mrs. O'Neil's declaration that she believed Thaw to be mentally unbalanced at that time. Thaw's lawyer was upheld.

Jerome then went to the testimony given by Mrs. Mary Copley Thaw, the mother of the prisoner. He read the testimony she had given on the point of the death of a child born before Harry. The mother had said that a year before Harry's birth she found the infant dead beside her in bed. The shock caused her to suffer from insomnia for seven months which was accompanied by severe pains in the head.

Harry was so nervous and restless that for eight months he wore out nurse after nurse and we were all worn out sitting up with him, Mrs. Thaw's testimony read.

"Harry would wake up suddenly, bringing his arms up with a sudden jerk," the narrative of the mother ran. "He was too puny as he grew up and his head was far too large for his body. When he ran it was with an unsteady gait, because of the small body and large head. He was easily excited, his forehead would flush and he would give way to fits of anger."

Thaw showed signs of becoming nervous. That the prosecutor was availing himself of this evidence to return Thaw to the mad-house did not particularly appeal to any of the relatives.

When Jerome read Mrs. Thaw's testimony in regard to the existing unsoundness of mind found in her brother, Josiah Copley, Justice Mills interrupted:

"Was that Mrs. Thaw's brother?" asked the court.

"It was, sir," replied Jerome. The fact that Mrs. Thaw felt her son was of unsound mind the day he was married to Evelyn Thaw was again spread upon the court records. The earlier story of the mother describing her son's feeling that Mrs. Nesbit would interfere to prevent the ceremony was retold. Mr. Jerome took up the testimony of Bell Moorhouse Lawrence, Harry Thaw's first school teacher.

The testimony of various witnesses in the two trials and subsequent hearings was read in the records by Jerome, most of it over the protest of Thaw's counsel. It included the testimony of Abraham R. Beck, who had been Thaw's schoolmaster; Mrs. Alice C. Fletcher, a family friend of the Thaws; Steward Braggan, of the whist club which Thaw visited the afternoon of the day he shot White; Amy Cosette, a pretty French girl, who nursed Thaw at Monte Carlo, and Dr. Charles A. Bailey, who treated Thaw on a train in 1906. All (Continued on Page Two.)

Evelyn Nesbit Thaw in Court.

This is a photograph of Evelyn Nesbit Thaw, photographed in court, as she watched her husband in his battle of wits with District Attorney Jerome in the trial now in progress at White Plains, N. Y., to determine Thaw's mental condition.

LEADERS ARE EXECUTED THE COTTON CROP Court Martial Gets in Its Condition of Crop July Work 25, 71.9

One Hundred and Nineteen Revolutionists Executed Today—Coast Towns Are Being Sacked and Homes Burned by the Rioters.

(By Cable to The Times) Paris, Aug. 2.—One hundred and nineteen revolutionists and leaders in the revolt at Barcelona were executed today by soldiers after having been condemned by court martial, according to information just received here from across the border.

The province of Catalonia is in a state of real anarchy. The laborers and striking workmen, infuriated by the killing of their leaders, are avenging themselves by pillage and rapine. They are swooping over the coast towns, sacking homes and factories and public and religious buildings, shooting down indiscriminately where resistance is offered. None is spared.

At Palmos a French factory was burned because the manager refused to allow the workmen to join the strike and then the manager was shot down while defending his family from the rioters. Armed insurgents have thrown out a cordon twenty miles outside of Barcelona and all the newspaper correspondents have been warned not to try to enter the city.

Skirmishing and desultory firing between looters and citizens who are trying to protect their families and property is going on all the time. Catalonia is a riot of blood and gun powder.

Steamers arriving at the port of Vandres report that they heard heavy artillery fire and musketry fire at a number of points along the Catalonia coast.

This indicates that a battle between the troops and rebels has become general throughout the province.

Lynching in Missouri. (By Leased Wire to The Times) St. Joseph, Mo., August 2.—George W. Johnson, who killed John W. Moore, a Platte county farmer, was hanged by a mob of about 100 farmers at Platte City at 2 o'clock this morning. Johnson had been in the Kansas City jail for safe-keeping and was brought back here yesterday to be tried at Platte City today.

BIG BONUS OFFER CREATES A STIR IN THE CONTEST

Have Gone to Work Hard and Are Trying to Land New Subscribers

A VERY LIBERAL OFFER

About the Last Big Bonus Offer That Will be Made During the Life of This Contest—As Contest Now Has Only a Little More Than Three Weeks to Run—If You Do Not Understand Everything Clearly Write the Contest Manager at Once and Get An Explanation, Then Go Out to Win—The Way a Contestant Should Enter the Race—Don't Lag Behind at the Start.

The big bonus offer, as was announced in the paper Saturday, is causing a great stir among the contestants. They have gone to work for sure now and trying hard to land the new subscribers in order to get the advantage of this liberal offer.

This is about the last bonus offer that will be made during the life of this great contest, as the contest will close on August 26th, only having about three and one-half weeks more to run. Have you gone to work yet, or perhaps there is something that is not clear to you in this great offer? If such is the case, you should write the contest manager at once and let us explain the whole matter thoroughly, so you can get out and have the same advantage as the other contestants.

A telephone message received at this office from one of the contestants Saturday afternoon advised the contest manager that the party talking was determined to have one of these great trips, that she had gone to work in earnest and had many of her friends out working for her. That is the way a contestant should enter this race. Don't lag behind and depend too much upon others, but get out and do some of the work yourself. It's a good thing to let your friends know that you want the trip, for they will help you, but don't depend entirely upon them.

On August 26th, at noon, this contest will close, three judges will be appointed and they will go over and count every vote. The ones having the largest number of votes will be declared the winner and they will get the two great trips.

TAWNEY OPPOSES BOND AMENDMENT

(By Leased Wire to The Times) Washington, August 2.—Representative Tawney is up in arms over the action of the senate in striking from the emergency appropriation bill the provision regulating the premium bonding and surety companies who are required to furnish bonds. Mr. Tawney made a hot fight for this provision when the bill was in the house, and he says he will resist the senate amendment to the last. He charges, in effect, that the bonding companies have increased their rate to 300 per cent, and that they have combined to hold up the government.

The bill will come over from the senate today and will be sent to conference at once. Mr. Tawney will head the house conferees and will be supported by his colleagues on the conference committee in his opposition to the senate amendment.

MILITIA MANEUVERS.

Aeronautics and Wireless Will Play An Important Part. Washington, August 2.—Aeronautics, wireless telegraphy, and wireless telephony are to play an important part in the forthcoming maneuvers of the militia and regulars on the coast of Massachusetts.

The signal corps of the army will give instruction in the use of aeroplanes and balloons for scouting purposes and in the manipulation of the wireless systems of communications. Theoretical instruction will be given in the use of the Wright aeroplane by signal corps officers, who are to be pupils of Wilbur Wright this week.

NO PAPERS ARE PRINTED IN THE CITY OF MADRID

Censorship Goes to Extreme Length and Suppresses All Publications

THE STRIKE GENERAL

Strike Centering in Barcelona Has Become General Throughout Spain. Advanced Political Parties Decree the Death of King Alfonso—Madrid the Storm Center and Spain on Verge of Anarchy—A Multitude of Arrests Being Made and Many People Are in Jail—People Demand the Abdication of Alfonso and He is Preparing to Flee From the Country.

(By Cable to The Times) Hendaya, France, Aug. 2.—The strike centering in the Barcelona district became general throughout Spain today and simultaneously the advanced political parties decreed death for King Alfonso and Prime Minister Maura.

Madrid is today the storm center and Spain verges on a state of anarchy. A multitude of arrests are being made, already 400 strikers and rioters are in jail in Madrid and the soldiery about the capital is being strengthened. The people are demanding the abdication of Alfonso. He is preparing to flee. He leaves today for San Sebastian, whence he can motor quickly to France.

For the first time in many decades the government struck down the freedom of the press with orders that no newspapers should publish in the capital today.

The radicals have determined to free Spain from monarchical sway. The leaders of the advanced parties have begun a campaign which may drench the nation in blood and cause even the Parisian commune to fade into insignificance. The insurgents in Barcelona have already proclaimed a republic. The same action has been taken at Palafrugell.

The Bilbao and Zie and La Rioja districts were effected in the general strike today, while the storm is centering over Madrid, ready to burst with a fury which will shatter Spain.

Barcelona is still isolated from the outside world. There is an atmosphere of dread and the wildest rumors are heard. The Pueblo Nuevo has been entirely destroyed.

The plot against the government, hatched in Catalonia, carries out the clever designs attributed to Don Jaime, the pretender.

In Aragon and Andalusia the government is still in sway. The call for reservists was grandly responded to. The followers of the pretender and the agents of the leaders in the revolt are already at work spreading the seed of dissensions in those districts. All persons subject to military duty are forbidden to leave Spain. Those who attempt to leave the border are classed as deserters and punishment fitting that offense will be meted out to them.

Spaniards are flocking to the republic flag which has been raised at Palafrugell which is twenty miles southeast of Gerona. The government fearing that a hostile army is being mobilized there, is taking steps to disperse the rebels.

END EXPECTED THIS WEEK.

Senate Leaders Confidently Expect the Special Session to End This Week.

(By Leased Wire to The Times) Washington, August 2.—While the senate leaders confidently believe the end of the special session will come this week, it is evident that the majority for the conference report will be far less than the majority by which the tariff bill was originally passed. The measure had an actual majority of eleven in the senate, although the margin should have been only ten, as Senator Guggenheim failed to keep his pair with Senator Paynter, who was ill, and voted for the bill. At least seven of the ten progressives who voted against the bill will also vote against the conference report, and to this number will be added several "range" senators who dislike the free hide provision. Three of the progressives, Brown and Burkett of Nebraska, and Crawford of South Dakota, are in doubt. The stalwarts, while professing confidence on a majority, are still much disturbed, and will be content with a majority of five. The range senators and progressives claim a majority of one against the report, but their figures are open to much question.