Do you ever expect to own your home? Now is the time to start.

No institution in Raleigh is doing so much for its stockholders as the Raleigh Building & Loan Association. Every month we are handing over $50,000 to local home builders. We make no big loans and those we do make are on first mortgages on improved real estate, with clear title. Numbers of our subscribers do not build and do not intend to; they carry stock simply as an investment and it pays them more than 6 per cent, and taxes. It forces them to save so much per month and is absolutely safe. Under ordinary conditions they can borrow on this stock from any bank in town and always from the association to the extent of 90 per cent. of what they have paid in. Subscribers can withdraw on 30 days notice, and can pay up their loans in part or in full any time. We have hundreds of subscribers, some of whom pay in as high as $100 per month, many $25 to $50 per month, some $1 per month. They represent every business and profession in town. Ask their opinion of this Association. We are economically conducted on conservative lines by careful business men. We loan only on such property as we can see daily and only up to two-thirds valuation.

A good way to prepare for sending a boy or girl to college. We have a number of stockholders who have this in mind.

COUPON—If you wish to join out this out and mail to J. C. ALLISON, Secretary. I hereby agree to take _____ shares of stock in this series at 25c. per share per week. Name _____ Address _____ Dues payable either weekly or monthly at office of the Association, 107 Fayetteville Street

A NEW DEPARTMENT

Looking After All The Insular Possessions

Bureau of Insular Affairs Will be Elevated to An Office Corresponding to the Colonial Office of Great Britain—Says Taft Has Thrown Away Chance in the South.
(By George Williamson)
Washington, Oct. 7.—The present executive order of President Taft transferring insular affairs from the department of the interior to the bureau of insular affairs is a war declaration as the first step in a carefully considered plan to separate the insular department from the interior department.

insular affairs, the department of the interior has a long and varied history. It is a department of great importance, and its elevation to a position corresponding to the colonial office of Great Britain is a step of great significance. The president has thrown away a chance in the south, and has decided to transfer insular affairs to the bureau of insular affairs. This is a move that will have far-reaching consequences. The bureau of insular affairs will be elevated to an office corresponding to the colonial office of Great Britain, and this will be a step towards the better administration of the insular possessions. The president has thrown away a chance in the south, and has decided to transfer insular affairs to the bureau of insular affairs.

Washington intends making tremendous effort to secure the next international exhibition movement. A suggestion recently in one of the Washington newspapers recently that the capital is the logical place to hold the next aerial contest, has been eagerly taken up by insular residents, and other cities which intend to compete for the honor and glory to "open lively." It is understood that New York, Chicago and St. Louis will be the chief candidates for the contest. The question as to which city will capture the prize rests with the Aero Club of America, whose headquarters are in New York, and as the metropolis is the largest city in the country, where practically unlimited sums can be raised for prizes and other expenses, it is probable the aerial contest will be held there, although there will be keen competition on the part of other cities, including Washington. The Aero Club of America is the only national organization in America by the international board of visitors, and the decision as to where the next contest is to be held rests entirely with its officials. There is an interesting story of the alleged dislike of certain members of the Aero Club of America for the city of Washington, which has never been mentioned, and which members of both clubs have carefully kept silent about, except among themselves. When the Wright brothers came here to reside, they were given them by the Aero Club of America, members of that organization thought the Aero Club of Washington was taking too prominent a part in the ceremonies, and administered a distinct snub to the Washington club by refusing to allow the Wrights to occupy apartments that had been prepared for them by the Washington enthusiasts at the Cosmos club. The Wrights were "put up" at a hotel instead, though a committee of local aviators endeavored to take them to the club when they arrived. This caused a decided coolness between the organizations, which still exists. In allowing the appointment of democratic supervisors of the census in the southern states, President Taft has acceding to the political prophets in Washington thrown away an excellent chance to further strengthen the republican machine in the south. "The president, said one of the wise-actors recently, "evidently prefers excellent service in taking the census, rather than political advantage. These appointments could have been used to great advantage in securing Taft delegates to the next national convention, but the president preferred to throw away the advantage." The president has told Director of the census Durand that the best man in the south must be selected, "irrespective of politics." Of the 326 supervisors, the south gets one for every congressional district, except in cities containing more than one congressional district. In such cities only the supervisor is named.

In connection with the appointments of the census supervising in the south, it is instructive to note of the interest Postmaster General Hitchcock takes in the matter. Just before the last list of southern supervisors was announced, Mr. Hitchcock paid a flying visit to Beverly. There is little doubt he was there to take a hand in naming the supervisors. Mr. Hitchcock is a practical politician, and does not altogether agree with his chief in such laudable and disinterested motives as animates the president in the appointment of southern supervisors. When Hitchcock first took office under the Taft administration it was said his field of patronage would be small, and that the assumption that he was to hand out rewards to Taft workers was erroneous. There was nothing true in this, for the postmaster general is easily the most influential man in the cabinet. He is busily building up a machine of his own in the south, through appointments of fourth-class postmasters. As soon as president Taft returns from his western trip he will take further steps to reorganize and strengthen the consular service. The president realizes that for too long the consular service has been the refuge, in many instances, of politicians who were not fitted in any way to represent the United States abroad, and he determined some time ago to make the service the best in the world. In this endeavor he will be assisted by Secretary of State Knox, who is equally anxious that this branch of the public service has only capable men. For a long time nations wondered at the general character of consuls. The United States sent to represent it in

BINGHAM WINS, 6 TO 0.

The Raleigh High School Boys Defeated Yesterday at Burlington. The strong Bingham, of Mebane, football team defeated the Raleigh high school yesterday at Burlington by the score of 6 to 0, in 15 and 10 minute halves. The Raleigh boys showed up remarkably well, and for most of the first half the ball was in Bingham's territory, and one time the ball was advanced to their forty-yard line, but the Mebane boys held like a stone wall, and the ball went over. Bingham scored the only touchdown of the game near the close of the second half, and Privett kicked the goal. Though out-weighted the Raleigh boys played a remarkable game, and, while defeated, are not cast down, but on the other hand feel that they made a good showing. Line-up: Bingham—Ralph, W. E.; Gwyn, E. L.; Monroe, E. G.; Dowd, C.; Craig, L. G.; Moore, L. T.; Page, Gishelm, L. C.; Taylor, H. B.; Morrow, G. B.; Taylor, E. H.; Wessell, G. B. Raleigh High School—Brown, E. C.; Faucette, E. C.; Denton, E. G.; Bruner, E. C.; Denmark, L. G.; Whiting, L. T.; Uzelle, L. C.; Faison, H. B.; Harris, E. B.; Ivey, E. H.; Jeffreys, G. B. Good Meeting. The congregation at the Hillsboro Street Christian church had another good service last night. There was one profession of faith. There seemed to be a deep interest on the part of several for a better life. Since the meeting has been in progress there have been a number of applications for membership in the church. The doors of the church will be opened for the reception of members next Sunday morning. The meetings will run into next week, closing Wednesday or Thursday night. The song service will begin this evening at 7:15 and preaching at 8:00 o'clock. The public is invited to attend all the meetings and to take part in the worship.

One Case in a Mild Form Reported. Boy Killed by Unloaded Pistol.

(Special to The Times) Concord, Oct. 8.—Only one case of pellagra, so far, has been reported by the physicians of our town, Mrs. R. S. Wheeler, who has it in a mild form. The city car line in course of construction, has been stopped for the time being, but will be resumed Monday with an increased force of hands and will be pushed to completion. A very peculiar and sad death occurred in No. 4 township Monday: Lee Harlocket, aged 18. Several of the most prominent physicians were called to examine him and said they could find nothing wrong with the young man, but to their surprise he died. Willie Smith, son of Frank Smith, was returning from school Tuesday and stopping to play with a little friend they found in a room an old unloaded pistol. Willie was buried today.

A Hurry Up Call.

Quick! Dr. Druggist—Quick!—A box of Bucklen's Arnica Salve—Here's a quarter—For the love of Moses, hurry! Baby's burned himself, terribly! Johnnie cut his foot with the axe—Stamie's scalded—Pa can't walk from piles—Billie has got boils—and my corns ache. She got it and soon cured all the family. Its the greatest healer on earth. Sold by all druggists.
