ALL EUROPE IN REVOLT

Revolutionists and Police Forces are Clashing

Excitement Over Execution of Ferrer is Intense—France, Italy, and Germany in an Uproar—Catholic Churches Attacked.

Paris, Oct. 15.—A wave of rioting is surging over Europe. The excitement over Spain's execution of Francisco Ferrer at Barcelona is still rising, and today's demonstrations were more serious than any of the preceding. France is in a furor, and battles between crowds and the police are reported from half a dozen cities. In Italy the situation is even worse. Austria is aroused and feeling is running high in Germany. In Paris one of the most important centers of the disturbance is the Latin quarter.

Heavy forces of police are concentrated there and fighting between them and the students of the universities and art schools is almost incessant. Time and again the police have been forced to charge. In spite of the authorities, King Alfonso was burned in effigy.

The guard about the Spanish embassy here was strengthened today. Several times the protectors of the ambassador have been compelled to drive back crowds determined to sack the embassy. The Marquis de Muni, the ambassador, has scarcely once left the building since the disturbances began.

Catholic churches are also protected.

Mayor Mapieu of Cherbourg today returned to the Spanish embassy the Cross of the Order of Isabella recently bestowed on him by King Alfonso. The return of the cross was a protest against the execution of Ferrer. When news of Mayor Mapieu's action reached the streets he was cheered by the crowds.

Marseilles and Lyons have been the scenes of disorder, and in both cities there has been fighting between the police and military and the people.

At Lyons a parade of thousands of workmen and radicals marched on the churches, the Spanish consulates, and the offices of reactionary newspapers and did much damage with stones and brick bats before they were dispersed.

IN THE DRAG NET.

Light Docket This Morning—Mostly Drunks.

Ernest Adams, a colored boy, was this morning tried for stealing a pound of steak valued at fifteen cents. He admitted the theft but thought the fact that he got the toothsome morsel for his dog mitigated the offense. Judgment was suspended as there is another charge against him for purloining a quarter which will be tried tomorrow.

Willis Giles, a negro, left his horse unattended in an alley and when he returned a policeman was on his way to the station with this wonderful one-horse chaise. He was let off as he claimed to be a country negro and knew of no such thing as hitching a gentle mare.

James Arrington paid $2 and costs for mistaking his capacity.

J. T. Wilson, out on bond, forfeited same for non-appearance. He was charged with being drunk.

W. J. Beddingfield, an old offender, paid $10 and cost, his appearance being too frequent in the opinion of the court.

KETCHEL-JOHNSON FIGHT

Final Preparation for the Fight Tomorrow

Rumor Late Yesterday That There Would be No Fight But Turns Out to be Storm in a Teacup—Posing Before the Camera.

(By W. W. Naughton.)
San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 15.—What was probably a remark made by Jim Coffroth in a moment of excitement caused a rumor to run along the streets today that there was a hitch in the Johnson-Ketchel contest. Coffroth said to a couple of newspaper men:

"There may be no fight; I'll tell you more about it tomorrow."

Then the promoter whisked away in an automobile and it was stated he had gone for a conference with Johnson. It was immediately surmised that there was trouble over the side bet.

It was not until after midnight that it developed that the whole business was a storm in a tea cup. Willis Britt said over the telephone that he had not heard of any trouble, and that he hardly thought Johnson would raise any question as to the side bet.

"Our $5,000 is up, a final stakeholder has been selected, and we are willing to take a chance," said Britt.

George Lytle, manager of Johnson, when asked if there was any hitch, said:

"Certainly not. Johnson and Coffroth had a talk last night but nothing came up that promised to interfere with the fight."

Thursday was moving picture day at the training quarters of the champions and that meant harder, faster and neater work on the part of the men in training, for no self-respected fighter will perform in a slouchy manner when the camera is eating up his every movement.

Johnson's work in front of the camera had its amusing side. Jim Coffroth asked Johnson to get into his automobile and drive towards the machine. This particular view was to represent Johnson going to his training quarters or something of that kind, but Johnson evidently thought they wanted to see him breaking a motor record. Anyhow, he came down the Cliff House hill at a whirlwind clip and if the camera caught anything at all, it must have looked like a night picture of Halley's comet. After a while they induced the champion to bring his wagon along at a snail's pace and this time the operator nodded and murmured, "I've got him."

Johnson and Barney Furrey were snatched doing road work and then Johnson sparred with "Gun Boat" Smith and followed up with the dumb-bell exercises and shadow boxing.

When the automobiles conveying the camera crew headed for Ketchel's camp Johnson went into his gymnasium and put in his final hour of preparation for tomorrow's fight. The feature of the performance was a three round bout with "Gun Boat" Smith, who is about as willing a partner as any champion in training could possess. Johnson sparred a couple of rounds with Johnny O'Keefe of Denver and two more with Joe Lanum, a local heavyweight.

It is probable that Johnson is better trained at the present moment than he has been in many a long year. When he boxed Kaufman he weighed 212 pounds. Yesterday he stepped on the scales after a hasty rub, and showed 198 pounds.

"If I felt better I'd be suspicious," said Johnson. "Friday I will take a walk and will be careful about my food and drink."

Out at Millers, Ketchel did several stunts in the open air for the benefit of the camera. He punched the bag, shadow sparred and engaged in bending ones. Then he went a few rounds with big Charley Miller.

Those who saw Ketchel came away satisfied that he is trained to the minute. There was a surprise when manager Britt announced Ketchel's weight at 175 pounds. Britt does not believe that Ketchel will get much lighter even though he does no work to speak of before the fight but the chances are he will be close to the 170 pound mark when he gets into the ring. With Johnson at 195 pounds, this will make a difference of 25 pounds in the weight of the championship disputers.

RADIANT HAIR.

New York Society Women's Hair Matched Only by Parisians.

For many years the clever women of Paris have been famed for the magnificent beauty of their hair.

"Glorious hair," a Virginian calls it; so radiant and luxuriant that it not only attracts but fascinates, and compels unstinted admiration."

But now that the elite of New York ever anxious to improve their beauty, have learned that Parisian Sage, a remarkable and almost marvelous hair nourisher and beautifier, is almost entirely responsible for the charming hair of the ladies of France, the demand for it has become enormous.

A Philadelphia chemist who analyzed Parisian Sage said: "It is the ideal dressing for the hair. The ingredients are so scientifically combined that Parisian Sage is first of all a hair grower, because it surely destroys dandruff germs, and nourishes the hair roots."

"Second it puts life, substance and brilliancy into the hair, which improves the attractiveness of any one."

"Third, it is very delicately scented; is not a particle sticky or greasy, and does not contain one atom of anything that could possibly injure scalp or hair."

Parisian Sage is now sold all over America by progressive druggists, and in Raleigh by Bobbitt-Wynne Drug Co., who is glad to guarantee it to eradicate dandruff, stop falling hair and itching scalp in two weeks or money back.
