BODY OF ITO HONORED BY ROYAL RITES

Will be More Impressive Than Any Funeral Ever Held in Empire

CLOSE TO MIKADO

Messages of Condolence From the Nations of the World Received Today—Mikado Grief-stricken Over the Tragedy, For the Prince Had Been Closer to Him Than Any Other of the Country's Advisers.

(By Cable to The Times) Tokio, Oct. 27—The body of Prince Ito, "the Japanese Blamark," who fell before a Korean assassin at Harbin, will be honored in Japan with almost royal rites and mourning ceremonies more impressive than have ever marked the funeral of any man below the rank of mikado.

Messages of condolence from the nations of the world, including the United States, arrived today. In many of them was noted a tone of genuine mourning that was appreciable even through the staid diplomatic phraseology.

The mikado is grief-stricken over the Harbin tragedy. For years Prince Ito has been closer to Japan's ruler than any of the emperor's other advisers. Ito, indeed, was known as the "elder brother of the emperor," and between the two cordial personal relations, such as seldom mark the relations of rulers and their aids, were always apparent.

A report was received today that Ito's assassin had already been executed at Harbin, but that his companions were still held.

The three companions of the prince who were also injured when he was shot, M. Mori, the prince's private secretary; Japanese Consul-general Kawakan, and M. Tanaka, head of the South Manchurian Railroad, are today in a serious condition, having been more badly hurt than was at first believed. The physicians attending them, however, gave out hopes of their recovery.

The extraordinary council of the ministry, summoned by the emperor immediately upon receipt of the news of Prince Ito's assassination, was in session for several hours.

Although no statement of whatever decision was reached by the ministry was given out when the meeting disbanded, it is believed that Ito's conciliatory policy will continue and quick punishment will be inflicted by the Japanese authorities upon the Korean rebels who are fighting against the domination of Nippon in their country.

The train that bore Ito's body from Harbin toward the sea-front met with honors all along the line. At every station a military guard was drawn up, and Russians and Chinese joined with the patriots of the slain prince in paying tribute to him. At Mukden as well as less important places the Russian diplomatic agents met the train.

No Word at Japanese Embassy.

(By Leased Wire to The Times) Washington, Oct. 27—No word had been received at the Japanese embassy up to 10 o'clock this morning from the government at Tokio regarding the assassination of Prince Ito at Harbin, Manchuria. Mr. Keishiro Matsui, the charge d'affaires, said that the announcement would probably be received later in the day. He believes that the delay is due to the fact that the government is probably preparing some official statement which will be sent to Japanese embassies and consulates throughout the world.

The embassy here will take no steps towards going into mourning until advices have been received from Tokio, as whatever action is taken in that direction will depend upon what orders may be issued by the emperor of Japan.

Beyond saying that the death of Prince Ito is a loss to the Japanese nation the extent of which cannot be overestimated, the embassy officials declined to discuss the subject further at this time.

JEFFRIES HAPPY OVER OPERATION

(By Leased Wire to The Times) New York, Oct. 27—James J. Jeffries is happy today over the result of the operation on his nose late yesterday.

"This is the first good breath of air I have had in six years," he said, as he walked out of the Hotel Albany and drank in all the autumn ozone his mighty lungs could hold.

"Bob Fitzsimmons pounded me so hard on the bridge of my nose in our first fight at Coney Island," went on Jim, "that I have never been able to breathe properly since. I never knew what the matter was until yesterday. I thought all along that the bridge of the nose had been shattered and the bone grown off at a tangent some way. The doctor took a peek, and much to my surprise, told me that it was a fleshy growth in both of my nostrils that was keeping the good air out of my lungs."

And then Sam Berger dipped in an ear. "The doctor insisted on Jeff taking opiates, but the big fellow grunted and said he thought perhaps he might be able to stand a little thing like scratching his nose. The doctor told him that it wasn't merely a matter of cutting, but the obstruction would have to be removed by a burning process.

"It took the doctor and me a half hour of earnest conversation to get Jeff to rub a little cocaine on the inside of his nose. That's as close to a knock-out as he ever came, and he told the doctor so. He sat back in the chair while that medical chap fairly fried the inside of his nose, and Jeff didn't as much as unclasp his hands. I never saw such grit. It looked like the days of Pompeii, for his old nose was smoking like those good old fire hills. He will have the left side burned out today."

THAW MUST STAY AT MATTEAWAN

(By Leased Wire to The Times) Albany, N. Y., Oct. 27—The court of appeals decided yesterday afternoon, without a dissenting opinion, that Harry K. Thaw was legally committed to Matteawan state hospital and that he must stay there. The court affirms the decision of the appellate division on the opinion of Justice Jenks.

WOMEN TAKE PART IN NEW YORK FIGHT

Woman Supporters of Bannard Have Established Headquarters for Campaign

OTHERS ARE WORKING

Besides the Clubs Working for Bannard Other Clubs Are Working Independently for Hearst, the Civic Alliance Candidate—Women Will Make Personal Canvass in Different Parts of the City—Their Work Has No Relation to the Suffragette Movement—Labor Leader Makes Charges Against Judge Gaynor—Gaynor Promises Complete Clean-up if Elected.

(By Leased Wire to The Times.) New York, Oct. 27—The last manifestation of the spread of political interest among women has added an interesting phase to the mayoralty campaign. Today, at their new headquarters, 501 Fifth Avenue, three women clubs are hard at work in behalf of Otto T. Bannard, the republican nominee for mayor. Other clubs are working independently for W. R. Hearst, civic alliance candidate.

A personal canvass in different parts of the city is the principal part of the women campaigners program. There will be meetings a plenty conducted by women, too, and at their handsomely furnished headquarters the ballot will share the honors with tea. The three clubs at the head of the movement, which is declared to have no direct relations with the work of the suffragists or suffragettes, are the city, the West End, the State, and Womens Republican Clubs.

Other developments today were the reported control of Tammany in Brooklyn and the attacks of the candidates and their supporters on one another.

The charges against Judge W. J. Gaynor, Tammany candidate, made by Michael A. Fitzgerald, a labor leader, to the effect that in 1895 Judge Gaynor issued a writ in favor of strike-breakers, was one of the main topics of the political gossips today. Fitzgerald declares that Gaynor drove the street car men to defeat in their Brooklyn strike fourteen years ago.

Fitzgerald is a democrat, and was formerly president of the Letter Carriers' Association of New York. In his speeches Judge Gaynor promises a complete clean-up in the city if he is elected. The attacks on him by various newspapers he denounces as libels, and declares that if he is victorious he will punish his detractors after November 2.

Hearst's supporters today declared that they are more confident than ever of defeating their opponents. Hearst is gaining votes rapidly and incessantly, is the view of the three cornered fight.

CHECKING SALE LOTTERY TICKETS

(By Leased Wire to The Times.) Washington, Oct. 27—With the aid of the Cuban director of posts, the postoffice department has succeeded in checking the sale of Cuban national lottery tickets in the United States to a minimum. About fifty communications from persons and concerns in this country, ordering the tickets or making inquiry to the Cuban national lottery have been made known to the postoffice department by the Cuban government.

When money is sent by persons in this country for Cuban lottery tickets, the money is returned to the sender by the Cuban officials with a statement that it is a violation of the postal laws of the U. S. to transmit matters relating to lotteries through the mails. When the postoffice department receives information that persons or concerns in Cuba are sending matter such as tickets, circulars, newspapers or advertisements to this country the Cuban authorities are notified, so action may be taken to prevent it.

Bertha Albrocht, Another Victim

Bertha Albrocht, one of the many alleged victims of the Long Island beachard now under arrest in connection with the killing of Anna Luther. The arrest of Mueller occurred just outside of the little home in Astoria, L. I., when he was in the act of leaving a bank book and a transfer of his property to the latest of his wives.

ANOTHER WOMAN CLAIMS SHE MARRIED MUELLER

Recognized Him at the Inquest—Says They Were Married in Germany Fourteen Years Ago—Mueller Got Her Money and Then Deserted Her

(By Leased Wire to The Times) New York, Oct. 27—Frederick Gebhardt, alias Otto Mueller, alias Fritz Scharserlin, the man now in jail at Islip, accused of the murder of Anna Luther, this afternoon admitted that he had four wives and in a second confession to Coroner William B. Savage declared that he had a long criminal record and served 10 years in Sing Sing prison. The authorities now hope to lay three murders up to his account.

Coroner Savage visited the man in his cell and related to him the record of Fritz Scharserlin, at Sing Sing. He listened as the coroner told him that Scharserlin's photograph was that of himself. After the coroner finished he admitted that he was Scharserlin and that he had married not only Anna Luther but also Lena Wessnes, the woman now known as Mrs. Gebhardts of Astoria, Anna Link and Minnie Rosenau.

The records show that Gebhardt married Anna Link on December 15, 1895. He went with her to Germany, just as he did with the Luther girl, but left her there, so far as has been learned, to return to the United States. It is believed here that he killed her.

THE SUGAR TRUST CONSPIRACY CASES

(By Leased Wire to The Times.) Washington, Oct. 27—At the department of justice this morning it was said that in view of the fact that Attorney General Wickham has not yet had opportunity to read the decision of Justice Holt, of the U. S. circuit court at New York, delivered yesterday, dismissing the indictments against Gustav E. Kiesel and Thomas B. Harned, of the American Sugar Refining Company for criminal conspiracy under the federation anti-trust laws, the attorney general is not prepared to discuss the subject of what further steps the government may take. It is probable however that he may make a statement in the matter shortly.

GREAT FLOODS DESTROY TOWNS

(By Leased Wire to The Times.) Mexico City, Oct. 27—It is feared that the case of people here for their property is in the Texas to their homes. The reports received tell of immense property loss from the cloud-burst, the inundation of towns, and the destruction of thousands of homes. First estimates of the damage, were too low, according to today's news. A large stretch of country from the Colorado river to the Gulf of Mexico is now a sea of mud. The Mexican government has ordered that the army and navy be sent to the scene to assist in the relief work.

THE HUNTING SEASON IN WAKE COUNTY

Some Confusion Among Fraternity as to Opening Date of Season

NOVEMBER 1 OR 15?

Two Chapters Relative to the Hunting Season of Wake County as Passed by the Legislature of 1909 Causing Some Confusion—Game Warden Upchurch Makes the Distinction Between "Hunting" and "Killing" or "Capturing"—The "Hunting" Season Opens Nov. 1, but Killing or Capturing Season Opens November 15.

Some little confusion has arisen over the apparent conflict in chapters 688 and 723 of the public laws of 1909 relative to the game law in Wake county, and many of the hunters are in doubt whether the open season begins November 1 or 15.

Two acts read as follows: Chapter 688, public laws of 1909. Section 1. That sections one thousand eight hundred and eighty-four, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-five, and one thousand eight hundred and eighty-six of the revision of one thousand nine hundred and five be amended by adding at the end of each of said sections the following: "Wake, from the first day of March to the fifteenth day of November."

Section 2. That this act shall apply only to Wake county. Section 3. That this act shall be in force from and after its ratification.

Ratified this 6th day of March, A. D., 1909. The other act which was ratified, two days later, is as follows: Chapter 723.

Section 1. That it shall be unlawful to hunt in Wake county, with gun or with dog, or in any other manner, between the first day of March and the first day of November of each and every year; and that any person violating this section of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction, shall be punished by a fine of not less than five dollars and not more than ten dollars, or imprisoned not more than thirty days.

Section 2. That any person found in possession, between the dates mentioned in section one hereof, of any dead game, shall be presumed prima facie to have killed the same in violation of this act.

Section 3. That this act shall be in force from and after its ratification.

Ratified this the 8th day of March, A. D., 1909. The sections of the revision amended by chapter 688 of the public laws are as follows:

"1884. Quail or partridges. The close season, or time in each year during which quail and partridges shall not be shot, killed, wounded, or in any manner hunted, taken or captured, shall be from," etc.

Sections 1885 and 1886 have the same provisions relative to the hunting of wild turkeys, doves, robin and lark. As amended by chapter 688 of laws of 1909, the closed season for all three of these sections is from March 1st to 15th of November.

The question that is now troubling the sportsmen is which of these acts of 1909 is the one to follow. Many contend that chapter 723, which provides for the closed season from March 1st to November 1st, is in conflict with chapter 688, which makes the closed season from March 1st to November 15th, and as the act in chapter 723 was ratified two days later than that in chapter 688, it prevails.

Warden Upchurch was appealed to for light on the subject. He makes the distinction on the words "hunt" and "kill" or "capture." He says that one may not hunt between March 1st and November 1st, but may hunt but not kill or capture between November 1st and November 15th. He says that the last act was passed to prevent hunting as the first (688) provides for killing or capturing, but says nothing about hunting, except as to partridges, turkey, doves, robin or lark, and a man may not hunt before November 1st, and must not kill between November 1st and 15th.

It is quite a fine line that is drawn, and is causing a great deal of discussion. The fact of the matter, the (Continued on Page Two.)

WOMAN TAKES HER FIRST TRIP IN AEROPLANE

Wife of Army Officer Makes Flight Within Wright Machine

FIRST WOMAN TO FLY

Mrs. Van Deeman, Wife of an Army Officer and Friend of Miss Katherine Wright, Made a Flight of Four Minutes—First Woman in America to Go Up in Heavier Than Air Machine—Said Flight Was Simply Grand, But Did Not Talk Further With Reporters—Flight Lasted Four Minutes and Two Circles of the Field Were Made.

College Park, Md., Oct. 27—For the first time in this county a woman ascended in a heavier than air flying machine at this place this morning.

Mrs. R. H. Van Deeman, wife of an army officer and a friend of Miss Katherine Wright, was taken up for a four-minute trip by Wilbur Wright in person. The flight came as a complete surprise to everyone except Mr. Wright and the officers who had been told of the affair.

The flight began at 8:13 o'clock, after one false start had been made. Mrs. Van Deeman, accompanied by her husband, reached the field early. She wore a long gray cloak, a black silk dress and a black hat. After she had taken her seat in the machine Lieutenant Lahm and Mr. Wright tied her dress with a piece of cord.

"You ought to have a married man to do this," she said.

Mr. Wright made two circles of the field with his aeroplane and his passenger was initiated into the mysteries of the machine's operation. When the machine came to the ground Mrs. Van Deeman's husband walked up to Mr. Wright and said: "I certainly wish to thank you, Mr. Wright, because now I will have a peaceful home."

"Oh dear," said Mrs. Van Deeman, "the flight was simply grand." Then the officers and Mr. Wright, all smiling, took her away from the (Continued on Page Two.)
