THE WEATHER.

Forecast until 8 p. m. Friday: For Raleigh and vicinity: Partly cloudy tonight and Friday with rising temperature.

For North Carolina: Partly cloudy with local showers tonight or Fri, warmer tonight, warmer tonight in east portion.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

Pressure continues high over the eastern districts, attended by generally fair weather through with some cloudiness. It has checked the rapid movement of the western depression which has changed to a trough formation and now extends from the upper Lake region to western Texas. This disturbance is attended by light rain from Oklahoma to Iowa. The temperature continues considerably above normal in the Mississippi Valley.

Freezing conditions prevail over the Rocky mountains and light snow continues in portions of Montana and Nevada.

The indications are that the weather will continue partly cloudy in this vicinity tonight and Friday with rising temperature.

HUNTLEY-PEELER.

Beautiful Wedding Solemnized Last Night in First Baptist Church of Wadesboro.

Wadesboro, N. C., Nov. 11.—The auditorium of the First Baptist church was beautifully decorated last night for the Huntley-Peeler nuptials and before the hour set for the ceremony every seat was taken to witness the marriage of Miss Blanche Huntley to Mr. John Michael Peeler, of Albemarle.

Promptly at 6:30 o'clock Mrs. H. B. Allen rendered an instrumental prelude on the pipe organ and Mrs. H. W. Little tenderly sang "I Love You So." As the song ended the solemn strains of the wedding march began and the bridal party appeared.

The ushers were Messrs. W. C. Hivens, Harry Covington, F. E. Thomas and Adam Lockhart. The attendants: Misses Portia Huntley, maid of honor; Rebecca Williams, Fannie Bennett, Era Covington and Ola Huntley. Messrs. A. Claud

Heath, best man; Joe Liles, Theodore C. Rivers, W. Henry Liles and W. L. Mann. Flower girls: Kathleen Covington and Elizabeth Burns. Ribbon girls: Pauline Cox, Sara Horne, Beth Huntley and Effie Wall Cox.

Standing beneath a double arch, electric lighted, the bride and groom took the vows pronounced by the pastor of the church, Rev. T. W. Chambliss.

Immediately after the ceremony a reception was given at the home of the bride's parents where a three course luncheon was served and the happy couple left on the night train for an extended eastern trip. Upon their return they will make their home in Albemarle.

ITCHING ERUPTIONS QUICKLY COOLED.

A 25 Cent Bottle of Oil of Wintergreen Compound Gives Relief. Just a few drops of oil of wintergreen properly compounded and applied to the skin will take away instantly the worst kind of an itch. We positively know this.

The oil of wintergreen, a mild, soothing liquid, is combined with such healing substances as thymol and glycerine. The D. D. D. Prescription, made at the D. D. D. Laboratories of Chicago, seems to be just the right compound, and a good sized trial bottle can now be had at 25 cents a bottle.

D. D. D. Prescription sells regularly at one dollar a bottle, but we have secured a limited number of trial bottles at 25 cents on this special offer, and advise you to take advantage of this special low rate now, as we do not know how long the Laboratories in Chicago will continue the 25 cent offer. EASTERN CAROLINA

The Trip Yesterday Was a Revelation to the F.N.C. Delegates.

The delegates to the National Farmers' Congress Spend a Pleasant Day in Eastern North Carolina—One Hundred and Thirty in the Party—Great Corn Show at Washington Visited—The Wilkinson Farm Inspected—Two Hundred and Fifty Bushels of Oysters Roasted.

(By W. N. KEENER.)

The side trip of the Farmers' National Congress to Eastern Carolina yesterday was probably the greatest feature of the entire meeting, and the memory of it will live long with both the delegates and the citizens of Washington and Belhaven. To the visitors a new world was unfolded, and nature paraded herself in costumes that were a constant source of delight to the hundred or more representing a number of the states of the union. All had been led to expect much from this final act in the 29th session of the congress, but none dreamed of the treat that was awaiting them, and those who remained to take this trip were more than repaid for the time and expense they were put to.

Promptly at 7 o'clock the special train over the Norfolk and Southern pulled out of the union station, bearing 130 passengers, practically all of whom were those in attendance to the Farmers' Congress.

The railroad officials were diligent in their efforts to make a pleasant trip and the praises of the returning party tell of their success. The train was in charge of Conductor R. L. Snyder, and W. W. Croxton, assistant passenger agent; H. P. Dorch, soliciting agent, and R. P. Foster, superintendent, accompanied the party for the purpose of rendering assistance in any manner that would aid in the pleasure and comfort of the visitors.

There was an overcast sky as the train left Raleigh, and much apprehension was felt as the weather that would be provided, but about 8:30 the sky began to clear, and before Washington was reached the sun had burst from behind his vaporous veil and was spreading his glorious autumnal rays abroad, giving promise for a delightful day, which promise was faithfully kept.

The train arrived at Washington at 10:45, where it was met by a number of the citizens of that thriving city, several of whom accompanied the party on its trip to Belhaven. A stop of about ten minutes was made, and then the final lap of the journey was made to Belhaven, reaching there at 12:30.

Between Washington and Belhaven a stop was made for water. Near the railroad was a turnip patch, which was attacked by the delegates, and had the stay there been a little longer, that turnip crop would have been an "also ran" in a contest for production.

A herd of cattle was encountered soon after leaving Washington, calmly walking along the railroad. The repeated whistle screeches caused it to seek less dangerous ground, all except a large bull, who bravely faced the engine and assumed a belligerent attitude. As the one-eyed iron enemy approached him, he decided he would side-step, but was rather slow in this maneuver, and was right-about-faced by the engine, but owing to the slow speed of the train at that time, he escaped apparently unhurt and joined his companions in the nearby swamp.

At Belhaven a brief stop of about twenty minutes was made, to allow the visitors an opportunity to inspect the waters of Pungo River and gaze were crowded, many sitting on the great Atlantic.

Leaving Belhaven the party started on its return trip. About seven miles up the road the train was stopped and a two-mile trip was made into the famous Wilkinson farm. A small engine, a coach and a flat car were crowded, many setting on the cab roof and riding inside with the engineer. The road, which is owned and operated by the Wilkinsons, runs through their great 25,000-acre farm.

After a run of a few minutes the party alighted and inspected the canals, soil and other interesting features of this great project. This farm or rather tract, consists of 25,000 acres, 15,000 of which are being drained, and the other 10,000 will be drained at an early date.

Twenty-eight miles of canals and roads have already been constructed and two dredging machines are daily adding to this, working day and night. The soil is several feet in depth and is of the most fertile kind. Underneath this is a bed of marl, which is very valuable to the soil, and is bought in the New England States for about $20 per ton.

The thick growth of vegetation over this tract is cut down and burned. Owing to the number of stumps and other obstacles, the land cannot be worked the first year, but a crop is produced. By means of a stick, holes are put in the ground and corn planted, this producing, on an average, of eight barrels per acre, the only work being the planting, one cutting out of the bushes and the gathering. By the next year the obstructions have so rotted that cultivation may be carried on and by the third season complete cultivation may be made.

In draining this vast farm, canals have been cut across it one mile apart, with other canals crossing these at the same distance. The dirt was thrown out on one side and leveled, making a perfect system of excellent roads.

The Wilkinsons may inspect their farm from their railroad, travel over its roads in their automobile or traverse the canals in their naphtha launch.

At 2:30 o'clock the party left this most interesting place and proceeded on its way to Washington, and the oyster roast, arriving there shortly after 3 o'clock, where it was met by a delegation of Washingtonians and conducted to the scene of festivities. Many of the party had eaten nothing since supper the evening before, and none had since 7 o'clock that morning, so when the long tables were reached there was a general scramble for positions by the thoroughly hungry crowd. Great bucketsful of luscious oysters were piled upon the table, all steaming hot, and the way they were attacked was a caution.

It was a new experience to a majority of the party and the efforts of some to get into the shell were nothing short of ridiculous, but a keen appetite and close observation soon made all adepts at the art of extracting the meat, and in a short time the crowd was satisfied. Two hundred and fifty bushels of bivalves were sacrificed by the citizens of Washington yesterday for the benefit of the crowd.

After satisfying the hunger a visit was made to the corn show, which was most interesting, many of the prize exhibits being purchased by Western James to be carried to their own farms for planting. This corn-judging was the result of the enterprise of the Norfolk and Southern Railroad and the results were above the proudest expectations, there being about 300 exhibits of the corn products of Eastern Carolina. The prizes awarded totalled $500. It was estimated that Washington entertained 2,500 visitors yesterday.

At 6 o'clock the party of tired but happy people left the hospitable city of Washington for Raleigh, making the run without incident of note, arriving here about 10 o'clock. It was a great day and the delegates to the Farmers' Congress were loud in their praise for North Carolina in general and the citizens of Washington and Belhaven, and especially the Messrs. Wilkinson and the officials of the N. & S., for this the most pleasant trip.

UNIQUE PARTY.

Losers at Tennis Pay Penalty by Giving Chasing Dish Party. (Special to The Times)

Rocky Mount, N. C., Nov. 11.—A contest in tennis, at which Miss Ballard Ramsey and Mr. Mark Williams were losers, made them host and hostess at a chasing dish party, which was held last evening at Miss Ramsey's home, corner of Sunset and Franklin street. Only half a dozen couples were present but the entire congeniality of the party and the absence of hampering formality made it one of the most highly enjoyed occasions of those with which the social season has been crowded. Everybody tried their skill at a chasing dish party, and as there was no prize in view there were no nervous failures.

FEW DOSES END KIDNEY TROUBLE.

Usually sufferers from backache, bladder trouble or out-of-order kidneys, feel relieved after several doses of Pape's Diuretic.

Misery in the back, sides or loins, sick headache, inflamed or swollen eyelids, nervousness, rheumatism and darting pains, heart palpitation, dizziness, sleeplessness, listless, worn-out feeling and other symptoms of inactive, sluggish kidneys simply vanish. Uncontrollable urination (especially at night) smarting, discolored water and all bladder misery ends.

Feeling miserable and worried is needless because this unusual preparation goes at once to the out-of-order kidneys and bladder, distributing its cleansing, healing and vitalizing influence directly upon the organs and glands affected, and completes a cure before you realize it. The moment you suspect any kidney or urinary derangement, or for rheumatic pains, begin taking this harmless medicine, with the knowledge that there is no other remedy, at any price, made anywhere else in the world, which will effect so thorough and prompt a cure as a fifty-cent treatment of Pape's Diuretic, which any druggist can supply.

Your physician, pharmacist, banker or any mercantile agency will tell you that Pape, Thompson & Pape, of Cincinnati, is a large and responsible medicine concern, thoroughly worthy of your confidence.

Only curative results can come from taking Pape's Diuretic, and a few days' treat will make any one feel fine.

Accept only Pape's Diuretic—Fifty-cent treatment—from any drug store—anywhere in the world.

Each was perfect of its kind and the only way of judging which young lady would make the best housewife was to the individual male peat. Miss Ramsey, charming in every phase of life, is at her best as a hostess, while Mr. Williams added greatly to the enjoyment of the occasion. At 11 the guests bade adieu to Miss Ramsey with the concealed hope that she would not become an artist at the game of tennis. Those present were: Miss Nannie Walker with Mr. Hugh Willford; Miss Nannie Paris with Mr. Flournoy Norton; Miss Ballard Ramsey with Mr. Henry Cutchin; Miss Calena Newell with Mr. Jim Hines; Miss Nannie Daughtry with Mr. Mark Williams; Miss Mary Thorp with Mr. Lawrence Horne; and Mr. Henry Cutchin.

SECRETARY MEYER'S PLANS.

For Reorganization of the Navy Sanctioned by the President. (By Leased Wire to The Times)

Washington, Nov. 11.—Secretary Meyer's plans for the reorganization of the navy have received presidential sanction. The secretary went to Richmond yesterday morning. When the "Taft Day" was ended and the members of the presidential party were comfortably fixed in their cars, Secretary Meyer went to the president, according to a previous arrangement and outlined to him his scheme for improving the efficiency of the navy. The president approved all of Mr. Meyer's plans and this will form the basis for the report of the secretary of the navy to the coming session of congress.
