Giant to be An Oriole. The following from the Baltimore papers will be read with interest by North Carolinians:

"In speaking along the subject of pitchers, Dunn referred to Bob Gant, who, while pitching for Trinity College at Durham, N. C., last spring, held the Philadelphia Nationals down to a 0-to-0 game for eight innings and then allowed them but one hit in the ninth, which later gave them a run. Dunn's chances of bringing Gant here in June, when he finishes up at college, are stronger, as there is little doubt but what Doc Adkins could land him. It was Adkins' long experience in the box which developed Gant, for since Adkins has been coaching Trinity a marked improvement in the youngster's form has been noted. Gant's erratic form when he first entered school was almost a byword with his fellow-students, and it was never known when the lad entered the box whether he would pitch a shut-out game or go all to pieces on the get-out. Due to several years training under one old at the game, Gant now shows wonderful form and is also reliable."—American.

"Addie (meaning Doc Adkins) has his eye on a big six-foot-four 200-pound college pitcher—Big Bob Gant, at Trinity College, N. C. The big fellow has a fine record for shut-out and no-hit games. He held the Phillie Nationals, with Covaleski, the Pole, down to a one-hit, one-run game last spring. Bobby will finish school in June and he will toss a few for the Birds to show what speed and skill he has."—Sun.

Trinity to Play Phillies.

It is altogether likely that the Philadelphia games with Trinity will be played, one in Southern Pines and the other in Durham. If there is no hitch the first game will take place March 12, and the second at home on a later date. The other games Manager Crawford will announce the latter part of the week.

Last night two prominent Carolina college coaches were seen hobnobbing together on the streets of Raleigh, Frank Thompson, of A. & M., and Horner Benton, of Wake Forest. These two are close personal friends, but when it comes to athletics, particularly baseball, they had rather give each other defeat than most anything that could be suggested. Each will use every effort to make his team win from the other, and, in fact, each would rather his team won from the other than defeat every other team in the state. This is good, healthy rivalry which does not interfere with personal friendship. Both coaches expressed themselves as being well pleased with the outlook for their teams for the coming season. Coach Thompson said he had a big bunch of fine material, most of them being men of experience. The burden of the pitching will be on Sexton, Roberson, and Stafford, though two new pitchers will be developed. Coach Benton said while Wake Forest had almost an entirely new bunch they were showing up well. There are 35 men working for the team, and they are working hard.

Christy Mathewson, the star twirler of the Giants, who is now with his club in Texas showing off a few things that even Manager McGraw did not seem to know. McGraw had an idea that he had a new "hit" and "run" scheme that would be a winner. He had "Matty" pitch a few hard ones in and instructed the men at bat to hit "at" and run—under certain conditions. To get the ball and the conditions were what McGraw wanted, but the running was a failure. McGraw was about to give up in disgust, when Matty advised him to try it over again. The next time, by his quick comprehension of a new method, Matty brought to successful fruition the very trick McGraw was planning.

Trinity's Home Schedule.

The schedule for games on home grounds between Trinity College and visiting teams has been arranged by "Senator" Clyde Crawford, manager, and it shows 21 games for the year.

This is far and away the best home series of the entire athletic seasons past. It has been many a year since there were 20 games offered, in fact 18 is generally called high water. And these generally include about four prep. schools, while there is but one such game this year, and that with Trinity's young brother, the park school.

The biggest interest will center in the Wake Forest game. It is the one state college game in which the people here are interested. Not since

"Big" Williams was on the team that came here from Wake Forest last year. There has been certainty of a good match and for the past seven or eight years there have been few games. Since going into the S. I. A. A. Wake Forest has not come here at all.

Manager Crawford went to Raleigh two weeks ago and from there to Wake Forest to arrange the game. He wanted to get a series with the Baptists and he was rewarded. There will be two games, one in Wake Forest April 30, 12 days after the contest here.

In another week Manager Crawford can announce the schedule complete, which will have 30 or more games in it, not including the Philadelphia games which are more likely to be played. His schedule for the home series will be:

- March—15—Trinity Park School. 16—Atlantic Christian College. 24—LaFayette College. 25—LaFayette College. 26—Amherst College. 28—Amherst College.

- April—1—Trinity College (Connecticut). 2—Trinity College (Connecticut). 5—Richmond College. 6—Hampden-Sydney (Virginia). 18—Wake Forest College. 20—State University (Kentucky). 21—State University (Kentucky). 25—University of Georgia. 26—University of Georgia. 29—Eastern College. 30—Eastern College.

- May—4—Central University (Kentucky). 5—Central University (Kentucky). 10—Washington and Lee University. 11—Washington and Lee University.

INDUSTRIAL CONGRESS.

Anson County School Children to Meet at Wadesboro. (Special to The Times.)

Wadesboro, March 1—A large number of children will gather in the Wood and Iron Works building Saturday from every section of the county on the occasion of the first session of the Children's Industrial Congress to be held under the auspices of the Woman's Betterment Association of Anson county.

In this county there are 40 rural schools and each school will elect two delegates—one boy and one girl—to represent the school in the congress. At this meeting short addresses on Industrial education will be delivered by prominent citizens and the children will be taught to mount pictures which they will carry back home as models and at the next gathering prizes will be awarded to the schools whose scholars have done the best work. This gathering of children is under the auspices of the Betterment Association, of which Mrs. Eugene Little is the enthusiastic president and who has the support and assistance of Colonel John T. Patrick, the leader in the line of Industrial development.

LaGripp pains that pervade the entire system, LaGrippe coughs that rack and strain, are quickly cured by Foley's Honey and Tar. Is mildly laxative, safe and certain in results. —King-Crowell Drug Co., (Fayetteville and Hargett streets.)

AMUSEMENT

METROPOLITAN

The bad weather last night could not have kept very many away from the opening of the Metropolitan theatre, as the house was crowded from gallery to orchestra, and nothing but words of praise came from those who witnessed the performance.

As reviewed by a representative of this paper it can be easily said that the Metropolitan opened its doors with as clean and as neat a vaudeville show as has ever been seen in Raleigh. Three strong acts are given and each one is of the highest type. The manager of this house is to be congratulated on the booking of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gibbons, in a comedy sketch act. This act is out of the ordinary, not one of these "knock down acts", but an act that is refined and up to date. Gear and Gear, the aerial artists, won considerable favor among the patrons of the theatre last night. Their act is good. Miss Louise Hudson, ventriloquist, was also recognized as an artist of ability in her act.

The illustrated song with quartette came in for their share of applause, receiving encores which they responded to several times.

This theatre has been made entirely anew. The walls have been painted and each window is draped with heavy green curtains, which add much to the appearance of the interior. The old boxes have been torn away and an orchestra pit has been installed. Levin's orchestra furnished the music. The scenes are good and one especially, a drop-curtain, which is a good likeness of Fayetteville street. When this curtain was lowered last night it created quite a stir among those present.

Beginning this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock a matinee will be given every afternoon, at which time special attention will be given to children and their attendants. Night performances will begin at 8:30 and 9:30, with an entire change of bill every Monday and Thursday nights.

GRAND

Sig Reinfield's Refined Lady Minstrels opened their second week's engagement yesterday at the Grand to appreciative audiences, with an entirely new performance from the Grand overture to the finishing number of the olio, and is indeed a most decided hit all through. Among the new and popular song hits rendered during the minstrel is "You Can't Guess," by Miss Esther; "My Southern Rose," by Miss Beatrice; "Childhood," by Miss Flo; "Marry Carrie, Harry," by Miss Isabelle, and "The Only One," by Miss Nellie, all sung in a most up-to-date style, and are received with appreciative applause. The olio consists of new musical numbers, comedy sketches, songs, monologues, and good dancing. The new wardrobe worn in the change of program is very pretty, and adds a great deal to the clever performance offered by these pretty young ladies, entitled "The Little Prince," were more than well received, the act Bellows, Temple and Bellows, who present an exceptionally clever act being different from the regular run of vaudeville acts, and the piece is well acted by the three clever people who are presenting it, which makes tears and smiles appear on the patrons faces during this beautiful sketch. Little Prince is a most wonderful child performer, and no one should miss seeing him during their engagement at the Grand. New pictures are run and beautiful selections rendered by the Grand orchestra. It's a good show and everyone was pleased. Adv-11.
