WOMEN AND MEN ENGAGE IN RIOTING

Battle at Williamsburg Plant of the American Sugar Refining Company

ONE RIOTER KILLED

Plant Imported Strike Breakers and the Strikers and Their Friends Made an Attack on Them—Many Were Injured in the Fight—The Climax of a Month's Desultory Disorder, the Strikers Going Out a Month Ago Because One of Their Number Was Discharged.

(By Leased Wire to The Times)

(New York, July 28.—Five thousand men and women rioters today fought a pitched battle with police, strike-breakers and special guards about the Williamsburg plant of the American Sugar Refining Company. At least one man was killed, another was fatally stabbed and twenty-five were seriously hurt. The police fired point blank into the crowd as, led by screaming women, it attacked a band of non-union men being taken into the factory under guard. There were reports that several had been killed and their bodies carried away.

The police opened fire after the mob had showered brick bats from the roofs of the houses lining the route followed by the strike-breakers who were taken across the East River from Manhattan. An attempt to send out non-union drivers from the refinery aggravated the trouble.

When the situation was ominous the crack of a pistol in the hands of a rioter started the most serious trouble. Within a few moments the battle was on, the police shooting to kill.

Back and forth through the streets about the big plant the struggle waged, men on each side falling every minute.

"Send more reserves," was the call flashed to police headquarters again and again within a short time the entire Williamsburg district of Brooklyn, and contiguous sections, had been drained of all available police.

Rev. Father William B. Farrell, of St. Paul and Peter Roman Catholic Church, did more to stop the riot than any one else.

"My good people, go home!" he shouted. "I beg of you to stop. One of your number is dead and a number are injured. Go home and be peaceful. Cease interfering with these people."

Dozens of the rioters took off their hats. Women knelt in the streets and began praying. The priest's words had won out. The rioting suddenly came to an end. But half an hour later it was resumed when the police tried to drive the crowds out.

CHILD KILLED BY DOUBLEDAY AUTO

(By Leased Wire to The Times)

Oyster Bay, N. Y., July 28.—Knocked down by a fast speeding automobile whose owner was on the way to keep an appointment with Colonel Roosevelt at Sagamore Hill, little Anna Hempstead, three and one half years old, was killed instantly just before noon today. The car, one of the large touring kind, was occupied by F. M. Doubleday of the publishing firm of Doubleday, Page & Company, and his chauffeur. Mr. Doubleday was on his way from his summer home at Locust Valley to the Roosevelt residence. About one mile away from Sagamore Hill, the little Hempstead girl, playing among the bushes at the roadside, suddenly walked into the middle of the road as though to touch the swiftly moving car. She was struck and thrown twenty feet.

Mr. Doubleday immediately stopped, and although the girl was dead, speeded with her to the nearest physician, where she was pronounced beyond hope. So overwhelmed was Mr. Doubleday because of the accident that he abandoned his trip to Sagamore Hill, and returned to his own home, although it had been his intention to proceed to his place of business in

THE OHIO SITUATION

Liquor Interests Will Play a Part In Campaign

Harding the Nominee for Governor Owens' Brewery Stock and It is Said the Prohibition Interests Are Against Him.

(By Leased Wire to The Times)

Columbus, O., July 28.—With the republicans standing on a platform that gives unqualified support to President Taft, and Warren G. Harding, choice of the Taft-Forker forces, chosen gubernatorial candidate, leading politicians today declared that the liquor interest would play an important part in the coming campaign. Though he has supported local option in the paper he owns at Marion, Mr. Harding owns brewery stock, and for that reason the strong opposition of the powerful anti-saloon interests is declared possible by the wiseacres.

A clear-cut statement of his attitude toward liquor is demanded of Mr. Harding, according to the aftermath gossip of the convention.

Intrenched in office and cheered by two gubernatorial victories in five years, the democrats, headed by Governor Harmon, taking up the battle to beat the G. O. P. in Taft's home state, have already laid their plans. They say that Boss George B. Cox, of Cincinnati, who is opposed by the dregs, virtually gave Harding nomination by withdrawing his support from Judge Orren Britt Brown, of Dayton, on the third ballot.

The hottest struggle of a generation in Ohio is expected during the campaign.

In this saloon interests are declared to be an important factor also, for if Harding takes a stand against them, it is believed that they will throw their support in another direction, materially weakening the republican position.

"Boss Cox himself could not swing Hamilton county to Harding if the latter makes no statement of his liquor attitude," said one of the Cincinnati delegation today.

The real attitude of Cox is one of the enigmas of the situation. Many of the most influential of his opponents today did not hesitate to say that they fear the course he may pursue in the campaign. They point to the fact that Cox gave Harmon a big majority in his bailiwick in the last fight for the governorship. Those who dislike Cox profess to see a sufficient motive for the repetition of such a course in the Cincinnati Boss' known ill-feeling over the attack made on him by Mr. Taft when he was secretary of war. That has rankled ever since, admitted Cox's lieutenants. And Harding was backed first and last by the Taft-Forker forces, the support of Congressman Nicholas Longworth being to a great extent tentative, according to today's developments.

The attitude of Theodore Roosevelt, Longworth's father-in-law, is one of the chief topics of the groups that still gather about the political headquarters here.

The radical republicans profess to believe with good cause that Mr. Roosevelt would have taken the stump in Ohio had James R. Garfield, ex-secretary of the treasury and conservation leader, been named or if Longworth had decided to make a hot fight and had won. The failure of the platform adopted to speak strongly for a tariff commission and others of his measures precludes the possibility of Roosevelt's taking an active part in the campaign for the next few weeks according to the latest information handed out by the spokesman of Rooseveltism.

Another factor in the attitude of the ex-president is his long-standing animosity to Senator Foraker, whose supporters united with those of Taft to name Harding.

TRAFFIC ON GRAND TRUNK ROAD TIED UP

(By Leased Wire to The Times)

Buffalo, N. Y., July 28.—Traffic on the Grand Trunk Railway is completely tied up today as the result of the burning last night of two freight cars and a caboose by strikers and strike sympathizers at Bridgeburg, on the main line of the road. ## THE INSURGENTS MEET

Pennsylvania Independents are Holding Convention

Third Party Organized to Fight Both Old Parties in Pennsylvania—Four Candidates for Governor Before the Convention.

(By Leased Wire to The Times)

Philadelphia, Pa., July 28.—Insurgency in both major political parties and the effects of the great industrial struggle of last spring in which a general strike was called in Philadelphia and a similar move threatened for the whole state, came to a head today with the organization of a third party to contest the state at the polls in November. More than 200 of a possible 274 delegates were on hand today when the independent party was born at the convention in Witherspoon Hall.

In the fight for the gubernatorial nomination four men were in line, with Rudolph Blankenburg, of Philadelphia, veteran reformer, claiming the most support. The others were ex-State Treasurer William H. Berry, Blankenburg's chief opponent; ex-Mayor George W. Guthrie, of Pittsburg, and Clarence Gibboney, of Philadelphia.

Though informed by William T. Creasey, one of the powers in the third party, that they could not have the 20 Philadelphia seats they requested, labor leaders were anxious to join the movement. Huga Frayne, of Scranton, labor man, being slated for the nomination for secretary of internal affairs.

After the car strike and general strike here, the working men took steps to form a third party of their own.

Henry C. Miles, of York, former Lincoln party chairman, drew the platform, which though completed last night, was kept a secret till the convention should organize.

John O. Sheats, chairman of the executive committee, declared before the opening of the meeting, of which he had been chosen temporary chairman, that at least nine-tenths of the counties in Pennsylvania would be represented. Colonel George E. Mays, secretary of the committee, says he is dissatisfied with the attitude and nominees of both republicans and democrats were ready to make a concerted fight for the state offices.

BREAK WITH VATICAN

Diplomatic Relation Between Spain and Vatican

Outcome of Bitter Struggle That Has Been Going On For Some Time Between the Premier and the Clericals.

(Special Cable to The Times)

Madrid, July 28.—Diplomatic relations between Spain and the vatican were broken off today.

Today's break is the outcome of the bitter struggle that has been waged in the last few weeks between Premier Canalejas and the clerical forces. King Alfonso supported the premier. The crux of the matter lies in the desire of the government to have other churches than those belonging to the Catholic church permitted to display their religious insignia.

The situation is all the more remarkable because of the fact that the vatican's diplomatic affairs are in the hands of a Spaniard, Cardinal Merry Del Val.

No new agreement or legislation was demanded, the government simply announcing a new construction of one clause in the concordat, by which the rights of the Catholics to the sole use of insignia is now restricted to processions in the streets.

The present remarkable situation between Rome and the country that has for centuries been regarded as the most stalwart stronghold of the church is indirectly due to the civil warfare of a year ago, including the Ferrer case. The previous ministries failed because they did not satisfy the public radical demand for a stand against the clericals. This Canalejas, a radical, has taken, with the aid of Alfonso.

Religious processions are being held and special prayers for the restoration of the entente have been ordered for all churches.

Crowds began to gather at several points in Madrid as the news spread. Canalejas was denounced by speakers.

The radical papers this afternoon comment exultantly, condemning Cardinal Merry Del Val, and referring to the several recent disputes in which the vatican has been involved, including the Roosevelt incident and the withdrawal of the pope's recent cyclical which aroused a storm of protest in Germany, as well as the dispute with Portugal.

Long, were called out of their beds after midnight to attend a conference at the station house, where they met Mayor Marshall, Service Director Holton, Brigadier General McKen, of Toledo, in command of the first brigade.

Mr. Robinson and his son on the Montrose was swept away when Chief McCaskill of the provincial detectives received a message from London declaring the pair to be Crippen and his stenographer, Ethel Clara LeNeve.

From this, the local authorities drew the deduction that new information had been received by Scotland Yard.
