SOCIETY

By Miss Susan Iden

THE REAL JOY.

(Written for The Times.)

'Tis not such pleasures as others know
'Tis not such life smooth and worth while,
'Tis a face bright with Love's glow,
Always wreathed with a smile,
Who in all my trials of life,
Helps me overcome the strife!

Not the hand of great or noble men
That bridges o'er the weary ways—
'Tis a little hand faithful to the end
That makes sweet the toilsome days—
When all other friends are gone,
A bosom of sympathy to rest upon.
Apex, N. C. W. Frank Booker.

Girl in the Hammock.

When the girl is in the hammock
And the dew is on the grass;
When the tossing clover blossoms
Nod sedately as you pass.
Then you linger in the twilight
Till you settle by her side,
And you watch the stars appearing
On the flood of eventide.

When the girl is in the hammock
And the moon is in the sky;
When the summer breezes whisper
As they loiter idly by.
Then is life a joyous riot
Brimming full of sweetest bliss—
Then the stars are twinkling shy
At the echo of a kiss.

MURDERER CAUGHT HERE.

Joe Johnson, Wanted in Greenville for Murder.

Had not the colored excursion been run to-day from Greenville, Joe Johnson, a colored citizen of that town, would be a free man at this very hour, but instead, fate was against him and at this writing is resting quietly behind prison bars, awaiting the officers from Greenville, where he is wanted on a charge of murder.

Last Saturday night about 2 o'clock there was held in Greenville a general rough house by a crowd of drinking negroes. Into the crowd accidentally strolled one Luke Harris, who was sober and bore a good name around the place. In the general melee that followed the drinking and general rowdiness this Joe Johnson whipped out his pistol a 32 caliber, and fired into the face of Luke Harris, hitting him under the left eye, killing him almost instantly. Joe escaped and no one knew of his whereabouts until today, when a colored excursion came to this city from Greenville.

F. B. Barnhill, a negro passenger on the train, came out of the union depot and saw Joe Johnson standing there on the side walk. Barnhill at once recognized his man as the one who shot Luke Harris and phoned for the police. The patrol wagon was sent down and Joe was given a ride up to the station house where he was searched and a pistol found on his person.

It was learned that Johnson is a bad man around Greenville, being a drinking man and one who works just occasionally. It is said he has served a sentence on the county roads of that county. Luke Harris was a quiet, peaceable fellow and worked for Dr. Laughinghouse.

While sitting in the presence of Chief Stell the negro seemed very nervous, but was well dressed.

One thing a woman has a good business head for is all the presents she can get out of her husband when he has caught him doing something that makes him afraid of her.

Mr. Earl Knight left today for Rowland, N. C.

Everybody is going on the Southern Railway excursion to Norfolk on August 9th. See advertisement.

Has Not Confessed

Gentleness is the tack the police took from the beginning, and they have not changed their attitude in the least.

Crippen today, for the first time since his arrest on the Montrose, displayed peevishness at the morbid attentions of the public. The crowds of tourists and delegates to the Knights of Columbus Convention, who have paraded in an almost unbroken stream by the parliamentary jail, are beginning to wear on the nerves of the accused man.

He appears to have no objection to sightseers, however, when they are fair. Today, while taking his exercise in a corridor by his cell, he suddenly came face to face with a large party of women. He stopped, and then approached the barred window through which they were visible. Pulling his cap low on his forehead, he gazed at them steadily. Recognizing him, several called out his name, while others gasped. Crippen smiled and bowed. It was clear to the onlookers that flight, imprisonment and the other hardships of the last month had not changed his character; he still likes to be thought a favorite with the ladies.

With the departure from England today of Sergeant Mitchell and the two matrons who will conduct Ethel LeNeve back to England, the case is in abeyance in Canada. The hearing on August 8th will be most perfunctory, according to the present plans of the authorities. The presentation of Mitchell's documents on August 15th, and the elapse at that time of the fifteen days' delay allowed the prisoners by law, will render the winding up of Canada's share in the mystery an easy matter.

Papers on the Way.

Liverpool, Aug. 4.—Detective Sergeant Mitchell, of Scotland Yard, and Wardresses Foster and Stone sailed today on the liner Lake Manitoba for Quebec. Mitchell carried extradition papers for Dr. H. H. Crippen, and the wardresses will care for Ethel LeNeve when she and Crippen are brought back to England.

Sherman in the Deal.

(By Leased Wire to The Times)
Muskege, Okla., Aug. 4.—James Schoolcraft Sherman, vice-president of the United States, was named today by Senator T. P. Gore as the man "juggler up" in connection with a $25,000 bribe offer Gore said was made to him.

Gore testified that he was told by Jacob Hamon, a former national committeeman from Oklahoma, that he would be given the $25,000 if he would promote a $3,000,000 Indian land lead. When he frowned upon the bribery offer, he said, Hamon declared the amount might be raised to $50,000.

Hamon said that Senator Charles Curtis, of Kansas, and Representative B. C. McGuire, of Oklahoma, also, were interested in the deal. Senator Gore declared, "and while I am about it I might as well tell an official higher up in the government also was interested in the deal." Senator Gore then named Vice-President Sherman as the man referred to.

Kentucky Candidates.

Frankfort, Ky., Aug. 4.—Former Governor and Senator James F. McCreary of Richmond, has announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for governor. Other announced candidates are Congressman Ben Johnson of the Fourth District, Mayor F. O. Reid, of Louisville, William Adams, of Cynthiana.

Street Battle in Barcelona.

Barcelona, Aug. 4.—In a street battle between Republicans and adherents of Don Jaime, the Carlist pretender to the throne, to-day, one of the former was stabbed and several others injured in the police charge which finally dispersed the rioters.
