THE CRIPPEN CASE AGAIN UP IN COURT

Hearing of the Pair In Noted Case Resumed Again This Morning

GIRL AN ACCESSORY

The Charge Against the Girl For Murder Reduced to Accessory After the Fact—Crowds Surround the Bow Street Court All Night Long in the hope of Getting a Sight of the Prisoners When They Were Brought Into Court This Morning.

(By Cable to The Times) London, Sept. 6.—The charge against Ethel Clare LeNeve, co-defendant with Dr. H. H. Crippen, was today reduced to that of being an accessory after the fact.

Prosecutor Travers Humphreys, who made the announcement, also for the first time gave out the case of the prosecution, declaring that the examination of the remains of Belle Elmore (Mrs. Crippen) showed that there had been a criminal operation on the victim, while the chemical analysis revealed large quantities of hyoscin, one of the most powerful drugs known.

A few days before the death of Belle Elmore, her husband bought five grains of hyoscin, enough to kill 40 persons.

All night long crowds surrounded Bow street police court, to get a glimpse of the prisoners when they were taken in today for the continued hearing before Magistrate DeRutzen. At dawn the throng increased, and by the time the principals in the most enthralling mystery of a decade were hurried into the building, flanked and led by guards, fully 10,000 people were crowded about the court and on the adjacent streets.

More officers, banked about the entrance of the court house dashed to the rescue, and gradually, foot by foot, the crowd was forced back. By the time order was restored, after a hard bit of work on the part of the

WANTS TO KICK BALLINGER OUT

(By Leased Wire to The Times) St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 6.—If Governor Stubbs, of Kansas, had the power to do so, the first thing he would do would be to "kick Secretary Ballinger out of office."

At least that is what he told members of the national conservation congress. "The people of this country should erect a monument to Gifford Pinchot," he declared. "He deserves it for saving the coal lands of the country, if nothing else. I can't raise stock in the Ballinger way of razing things and if I were president, I would kick him out of office in a minute. I would like to see some of these Alaska coal thieves. I'd put them where they belong."

The militant Kansas governor, however, paid a slight tribute to Taft. His brief and vitriolic address was called forth by remarks of Governor Norris, of Montana, who advocated state control of natural resources. He hastily apologized and said what he intended to do, as he said, to introduce Governor Vessey, of South Dakota.

Later Governor Hay, of Washington, and Land Commissioner Ross, also of Washington, spoke to Governor Stubbs after the session, but the latter paid no heed to their remarks.

Miss Ethel Mae Davis, on the left, and Mrs. James S. Rodgers, who occupied the same cabin recently on board the ocean steamer Kaiser Wilhelm II, during which occupancy Miss Davis was robbed of money and jewels valued at over $4,000, although nothing at all belonging to her companion was touched.

THE RECORDERS COURT

Monthly Report Shows 127 Out of 159 Cases Convicted

Number Sent to the Roads—Amount of Fines Imposed—City Schools Open Today—Trinity College Opens Tomorrow—Negro Firemen Off For State Tournament.

(Special to The Times) Durham, Sept. 6.—The report of the recorder's court for the month of August has been completed and was turned over to the aldermen yesterday afternoon. It is an interesting summary of the doings of the city tribunal.

The report shows that during the month a total of 159 cases were tried, a number slightly above the average, which is about 140. Of this number 127 were convicted, 12 were dismissed, three bound over, four continued, and 13 appealed from the decision of the court.

It is evident from these figures that the recorder's court is working a great saving in the cost of administering justice in Durham county. The term of court that has just come to an end here, has had more cases than it could handle, many of them having to be continued over to the next term. If it had not been for the recorder's court which sifted the less-important cases from the docket before court convened, Judge Lyon, at this term of court, would hardly have had time to dispose of the jail cases alone.

City Schools Open. A large attendance marked the opening of the city schools today, although the large registration is not expected till tomorrow. A typographical error in the admission blank which stated that the day of opening would be September 6, instead of September 5, as it should have been stated, undoubtedly kept many away. However, considering the fact that the school census this year showed but a slight increase in number over that of last year the school authorities are entirely satisfied with the enrollment for the first day.

VERMONT HOLDING STATE ELECTION

(By Leased Wire to The Times) Montpelier, Vt., Sept. 6.—The election today of Lieutenant-governor John A. Mead, of Rutland, to the governorship, over Charles D. Watson, of Still Albans, his democratic opponent, together with all the other republican candidates with the exception of a few senators and representatives, was claimed and conceded by republican and democratic managers. They differed only on the size of the republican victory. The average republican majority on off-years is 19,200, while the average plurality is 20,660. The republicans feared party apathy more than democratic antagonism. National issues had scarcely been mentioned on the stump.

No Change in Keene's Condition. (By Leased Wire to The Times.) Lexington, Ky., Sept. 6.—News from the bedside of James R. Keene, the noted turfman, this morning was that there had been little change in his condition. Physicians say there is no immediate danger of his death. Foxhall Keene, his son, who arrived yesterday, kept in close communication with the hospital throughout the night.

ROOSEVELT IN ST. PAUL

Enthusiastically Greeted By Conservationists

His Entrance to the Hall a Signal for Prolonged Cheering—Colonel Immensely Gratified Over Governor Stubbs' Position.

(By Leased Wire to The Times.) Convention Hall, St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 6.—The crowd in the hall when ex-President Roosevelt arrived was fully as large as that which greeted President Taft. The entrance of Mr. Roosevelt was the signal for prolonged cheering. The entire audience stood up, waving flags and the demonstration lasted several minutes.

E. G. Condra, president of the Minnesota conservation organization, read the proposed constitution approved in a meeting of the state delegates Monday.

The constitution was adopted with a roar of ayes.

John Barrett, head of the Bureau of American Republics, addressed the congress briefly in advance of Mr. Roosevelt's arrival.

Suddenly, without the slightest warning, the vast multitude broke into wild yells for Governor Stubbs, of Kansas. The popular Kansan talked briefly and declared himself strongly in favor of federal conservation.

A similar outbreak occurred when James J. Hill mounted the platform. While the audience was still standing and cheering vociferously, the ex-president stepped forward and clasped the hand of Mr. Hill, greeting him effusively.

Rev. Dr. J. S. Montgomery, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, pronounced the invocation.

Colonel Roosevelt reached the twin cities from Fargo at 7 o'clock this morning. He breakfasted and took a few moments rest at a Minneapolis hotel, where he was met by business men of the city.

At 9:30 o'clock he took an automobile for St. Paul.

At the new Minnesota state capitol Colonel Roosevelt was met by the original Roosevelt club of St. Paul and escorted to the St. Paul Hotel, where he greeted the individual members of the club.

At 11 o'clock he proceeded to the municipal auditorium nearby, to address the conservation congress. He will depart at 10:35 o'clock tonight for Milwaukee.

Colonel Roosevelt was immensely gratified over one episode of the conservation fight. That was the attitude of Governor Stubbs, the Insurgent of Kansas, who yesterday bitterly expressed himself against Secretary Ballinger, who caused the removal of Pinchot, his chief in the forestry service. The western governors were aligning themselves on the proposition of control of the natural resources and Governor Stubbs, Governor Noel, of Mississippi, and Governor Deneen, of Illinois, had stood

THE GREATEST EVER

This Year's State Fair Will Surpass All Others

The Handsome New Building Will be Completed in Plenty of Time—Contracts for Free Attractions Being Signed—Reservations for Exhibits Being Made.

The indications are that this year's state fair will greatly eclipse the efforts of former years. Not only will it surpass anything ever held in this state, but will take an equal rank with the leading fairs of the country.

Besides being the annual state fair, it will be a semi-centennial celebration of the state fair and Home Coming week for North Carolinians. The officials say that the demand for space by exhibitors is unprecedented. The great manufacturing concerns are taking advantage of the opportunity to present their goods to the thousands that will be attracted here by the extra events.

The committee having charge of the Home Coming feature are sending invitations all over the United States, and already responses are coming in from former Tar Heels, saying they will be here. The handsome new agricultural and horticultural building is being pushed to completion, and the contractors, York and Cobb, say that it will be finished in plenty of time for the fair.

MURDER IN ORANGE

Ed Garret Waylaid and Killed by Rufe Suit

Murderer Says He Will Not Be Arrested—His Uncle, Though, Promises Sheriff That He Will Give Himself Up Peacefully.

(Special to The Times)

Chapel Hill, Sept. 6.—According to information received in Chapel Hill this morning from S. W. Andrews, sheriff of Orange county, Ed Garret, who was waylaid and shot with a double-barrel shotgun by Rufe Suit, in Chapel Hill township, about six miles northwest of here, one hour before sunset yesterday, died last night. Suit barricaded himself in his home near which the shooting occurred, swearing not to be taken alive and threatening to cremate himself by setting fire to the house if an attempt was made to capture him.

Sheriff Andrews was phoning around Orange county summoning a posse of deputy sheriffs together at a rendezvous one mile from Suit's place in order to make an attack. Before the posse could gather Sheriff Andrews received a phone message from Fletcher Cochran, a lawyer of Durham, the uncle of Suit, telling the sheriff to meet him alone at Suit's place and promising that Suit would surrender peacefully.

According to the latest information from Sheriff Andrews the murderer seemed to have been committed in cold blood. There had been blood between Suit and relatives of the dead man for some time. Both men were of fighting stock.

Rufe E. Suit, according to stories current around Chapel Hill, has a long line of fracasoes behind him. One time, when John Odaniel was chief of police of Chapel Hill, Surt, it is said, made an attempt to kill the officer while resisting arrest. His cutting affairs have been numerous, according to his reputation in this locality.

(By Leased Wire to The Times) Chicago, Sept. 6.—The Illinois coal strike situation is unsettled. The session yesterday was adjourned because of the Labor Day celebration.

THOUSANDS IN CITY

Montreal in Festival Dress for the Eucharistic Congress—Every Train and Steamer Swelled the Throngs That Have Almost Doubled the City's Population of 300,000—Congress to be Formally Started Tonight With a Magnificent Reception to the Papal Legate—Cardinal Received Cordially in England While on His Way Here.

(By Leased Wire to The Times.)

Montreal, Sept. 6.—Montreal, filled with priests and Catholic laymen here for the Eucharistic Congress, is agitated today over an attack on Protestantism delivered by the Rev. Bernard Vaughan, S. J.—Father Vaughan, of London, probably the best known priest in the English-speaking world.

In a lecture to which the public had been invited and which was attended by many of the delegates to the congress, the attack was delivered.

"Protestantism is dying out," said the priest, "and it will not be long before the last vestige of it has disappeared. If Protestants wish to conserve their religion, they must work diligently to abolish race suicide among their own people."

Archbishop Bruchessi, of Montreal, has also created a sensation with a lecture on "Montreal, the Rome of the New World," which has revived discussion on Montreal as the home of the Holy See should Rome eventually become untenable.

The rainy weather of the last few days has marred the decorations for the congress and hindered the delegates sight-seeing plans.

MONTREAL IN FESTIVAL DRESS

Montreal, Sept. 6.—Montreal, in festival dress for the Eucharistic congress—the first to be held in the new world—which opens tonight, today welcomed a host of distinguished priests and Catholic laymen. Every train and steamer swelled the throngs that have almost doubled the city's population of 300,000.

The congress will be formally started with the magnificent reception at Cardinal Vincenzo Vanutelli, the papal legate, tonight in historic St. James Cathedral, where there

FARMERS UNION MET IN CHARLOTTE

(Special to The Times) Charlotte, Sept. 6.—President C. S. Barrett called the annual convention of the national farmers' educational and co-operative union of America to order this morning at 10:30, there being about 300 accredited delegates present from all sections of the United States. The address of welcome for the city was delivered by E. R. Preston and Dr. J. M. Templeton, of Cary, represented the state, while Hon. T. J. Brooks, of Tennessee, responded. The farmers spent an hour in these formal exercises adjoining until two this afternoon, when regular work will begin.

President Barrett delivered his annual address at this session, which, with all remaining sessions, will be behind closed doors.

Dr. D. H. Hill, president of the A. & M. College, at Raleigh, spoke on scientific farming this morning.

Dr. Templeton emphasized the value of educational work among the farmers, declaring that an educated people can't be fooled any of the time.

Mr. Brooks said that the farmers' union should do like all other successful organizations and secure the best brains that money can find to watch legislation. He declares that only in this way can the farmers' union accomplish its aims.
