(By Leased Wire to The Times.)

International Aviation Field, Belmont Park, N. Y., Oct. 29.—Disaster met the French and American teams in the international cup race today and England won the first honors. Claude Grahame-White, of the English cup team, completed the 62.14 miles course in one hour, one minute, 4.31 seconds. Alfred Leblanc, after establishing a new world's record for speed on a circular course, was dashed to earth and his machine wrecked. Shortly afterward Walter Brookins met with a similar accident while travelling sixty feet in the air and his new Wright "baby" racer was demolished.

Ralph Johnstone, seated in the Wright biplane, in which he recently made the new American altitude record. The race for altitude between the foreign and American-made machines has resulted in an almost daily change of figures. Brookins, a Wright man, first set the American height record at 6,175 feet. J. Armstrong Drexel, in a Bleriot machine, eclipsed Brookins' record by climbing 7,105 feet, and Johnstone, another Wright student, beat Drexel and his foreign-made machine, by ascending to the dizzy height of 8,471 feet.

pression in state department circles that he will formally resign before his leave of absence expires, and that it will be accepted.

"I can neither confirm nor deny the report."

BATTLE IN URUGUAY

Revolution in That Country Assumes Serious Proportions.

(By Leased Wire to The Times.)

Buenos Ayres, Argentina, Oct. 29.—A battle has been fought between government troops and revolutionists in Uruguay, near the frontier according to a report received in this city today. The revolution in Uruguay has assumed such alarming proportions that there is a likelihood that Brazil or Argentina may interfere.

The government of Uruguay has taken vigorous steps to suppress the outbreak but the revolutionists retreated into wilder districts of the country and soldiers found it difficult to pursue them. The revolt is said to have been started for political purposes, mainly to prevent the election of Batella a candidate for president.

(Special to The Times.)

Greenville, N. C., Oct. 29.—The raid on the blind tigers here has already resulted in three near beer places going out of business, these voluntarily, after charges had been brought against them, giving up their business. Forty-three other indictments were made and all were sent to court. The round-up was made by Roark Detective Agency of Raleigh. Last night a great mass meeting was held, addressed by Governor Jarvis and others, in which the citizens pledged themselves to continue the work and keep the town free hereafter from "tigers."

The law and order league, which secured the temporary injunction, will carry the case up to the court of appeals. The brewery interests are backing up the saloon men.

(By Leased Wire to The Times.)

Washington, Oct. 29.—Certain rates, effective on the St. Louis and Francisco Railroad and its tie line connections, which were suspended by the interstate commerce commission September 3 last were today ordered by the commission to be re-established. The territory affected extends from the Missouri River west to the Pacific coast and south to the gulf.

The questions, however, of tape line divisions of freight charges and whether or not those divisions are excessive as compared with the through charge, is now under investigation by the commission.

THE STUDENT'S INSTITUTE

A Large Number of Delegates and There Is Much Interest

The attendance at this morning's session was about 150—interesting program carried out—convention opened last night—reception to the delegates tonight.

The North Carolina Bible Students' Institute opened at A. & M. College last night with a large attendance, there being delegates from the various colleges and preparatory schools of the state.

This morning the meeting began at half-past nine o'clock with about 150 delegates present. After the song service devotional exercises were conducted by Mr. G. C. Huntington, interstate secretary. He said that he thanked God that in this day men were lifted up who did things. There should be no diminution in aggressiveness on the part of the workers, but at times it is important to pause and take bearings. Take time each morning to find before entering on the day's work that you are in friendly relation with God. The success of our life each day will depend largely upon the importance placed upon the morning watch.

Mr. Huntington's remarks were earnest and filled with the proper spirit.

There was a most interesting discussion on the "Purpose and Organization of Bible Study in Colleges," led by Mr. W. E. Willis, student secretary of the Charleston Y. M. C. A.

"Keeping Up Interest and Attendance" was the subject of an able talk by Mr. E. P. Hall, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A. of the University of North Carolina. He presented many valuable ideas along this line.

"Missions" was the subject of an address by Mr. G. C. Hornsby, of the Student Volunteer Movement, New York City. The speaker is thoroughly familiar with this important work and his address was well received.

An interesting address was made by Mr. A. S. Johnson, student secretary of the Interstate Committee of the Carolinas, who spoke on the subject "Normal classes: How Formed and Conducted."

At 4:20 the institute adjourned for dinner.

This Afternoon.

The afternoon session began shortly after 2 o'clock and the delegates enjoyed two interesting discussions, one led by Mr. W. E. Willis, student secretary of the Charleston Association, and the other by Mr. Bergholdt, secretary of the A. & M. Y. M. C. A.

The meeting adjourned at 4 o'clock to attend the football game between A. & M. and Eastern College.

Tonight the delegates will be tendered an informal reception in the college library.

Tomorrow's Program.

Tomorrow morning at 9:30 o'clock there will be a fellowship meeting.

NO PAROLE FOR MORSE IS PROBABLE

Must Serve Several Years Before He Is Legally Entitled to One

SERVE THIRD OF TIME

Was Said at the Department of Justice Today That There Was No Arrangement Possible Under the Law by Which Charles W. Morse Could Be Released on Parole—Might Be Given a "Conditional Parole," But This Has Been Done Only Once—Board of Parole Will Hold Special Meeting in Atlanta in January, But Not to Consider Morse Case.

(By Leased Wire to The Times.)

Washington, Oct. 29.—Referring to the report that Republican National Committeeman Bleber, of the District of Columbia, recently visited Charles W. Morse, who is serving a 15-year sentence in the Atlanta penitentiary, with the alleged intention of arranging for his release on parole after having completed 16 months of his term, it was said at the department of justice today that no such arrangement is possible as the law provides that a convict must serve one-third of his full sentence before a parole is obtainable. In the case of Morse, it was pointed out, he would not be eligible for application for parole before January 3, 1915, which would be the date of the expiration of one-third of his full term. Attention was directed to the fact that the president has power to grant what is known as a "conditional parole," but this power has only been exercised on one occasion.

The difference between a "conditional pardon" and the ordinary parole provided by law is that in the case of the former the president may pardon a convict for no particular reason, but on condition that he reports to the United States attorney in his district once each year during the time he would naturally have served as a convict. In the case of the ordinary parole it is granted upon the recommendation of the board of parole. The board must be satisfied, in granting it, that the convict is not likely to again become a criminal and that his release will not be a menace to society.

It was announced today at the department of justice that the board of parole will hold a special meeting at Atlanta within two or three weeks to dispose of an accumulation of work.

NO SIGN OF RELIEF IN EXPRESS STRIKE

(By Leased Wire to The Times.)

New York, Oct. 29.—There were no signs of relief in the express men's strike today. If anything the situation appears to be more aggravated than yesterday. In New York the strike leaders said this morning that they would carry their fight across the East River and tie up the delivery business on Long Island before nightfall and on the other side of the North River state troops were being held in twelve different armories in readiness to move upon the scene of the trouble at a moment's notice.

In addition the drivers of the big stoges throughout the city were being enjoined by the strikers, and it was said they might walk out within the next few days if relief is not forthcoming.

The express business in Manhattan, Jersey City and Hoboken may now be said to be at a complete standstill. Not a wagon was moved across the North River during the night and but very little effort was made in Manhattan to handle the small freight which is piled so high on every express station platform in the city. The Wells Fargo platform men employed at the Erie ferry walked out at 4 o'clock this morning, and it was said that the platform employees of the other four companies affected who have not already gone out would probably quit work before nightfall.

ROOSEVELT QUOTES FROM MAYOR GAYNOR

(By Leased Wire to The Times.)

Kingston, N. Y., Oct. 29.—Colonel Theodore Roosevelt in a speech before 800 people in the square before the Association Hall this morning quoted Mayor Gaynor, of New York to bolster up the ex-president's attitude of criticism against the supreme court in the bake shop case. The ex-president read a statement written by Gaynor when he was judge in the appellate division of the supreme court in which the judge criticised the court decision concerning the bake shop working bonus.

"Judge Gaynor criticised judges and I did the same," remarked the ex-president. "Why are the crooked interests of Wall street against me?" the colonel asked.

"Why am I denounced by them as being unconstitutional and a disturber?" I'll tell you why: Because I am fighting your battles. That's why Tammany is against me. That's why Wall street is against me.

"Well, do you know that Tammany Hall called Abraham Lincoln an 'enemy to prosperity,' and his administration as 'imbecile'? That was in 1864. Tammany Hall bitterly attacked Abraham Lincoln just as I am being attacked by Tammany Hall now.

"I can fight your battles for you, but I cannot do anything unless you help. You must defeat Tammany."

OSCAR STRAUS TO RELINQUISH POST

(By Leased Wire to The Times.)

New York, Oct. 29.—Oscar Straus, ambassador to Turkey, stated today that he had asked Secretary of State Knox to relieve him of his post. He, however, has sent no resignation to President Taft and if not relieved will return to Constantinople at the end of his sixty day leave of absence.

"When I was transferred to Turkey by the secretary of the state I was sent there for the purpose of accomplishing certain things," said Mr. Straus. "I succeeded and now wish to be relieved. I have tried to secure my release and I hope to get it. I want to remain in this country. I understand that President Taft and Secretary Knox desire to 'keep me in the diplomatic service.' Of course, if they wish me to I will, or should anything extraordinary occur I will be ready to return to Turkey at once.

"Things were in good condition in Turkey when I left, so far as American interests are concerned, and I have little doubt but they will continue in the same condition."

Has Not Formally Resigned.

Washington, Oct. 29.—Secretary of State Knox said today that Ambassador to Turkey Straus, who is now on leave in this country, had not formally resigned, but has indicated to President Taft that he prefers not to return to the Ottoman empire. Ambassador Straus is not due to return to Constantinople until the latter part of January. It is the general in-
