The Evening Times prints no unclean or objectionable advertising. Neither does it print whiskey or any liquor ads.

If you have any trouble in getting The Evening Times, telephone or write to the Circulation Department and have it promptly remedied. In ordering a change of address, give both old and new addresses.

It is imperative that all communications be signed by the writer, otherwise they will not be published.

Entered at the postoffice at Raleigh, N. C., as second class matter.

One more week of it and then we will be troubled with Marion Butler no more forever.

Mr. Butler may rant and charge all he pleases, but he can't get around the plain, blunt facts.

Have you registered? If not maybe there is time enough yet, but you will have to drop everything else and hurry to the polling place. Go if you haven't been. Make sure your name is on the book.

The colored fair has been a success from every standpoint. The exhibits were good, showing the splendid progress the race is making, the crowds large and the interest genuine and enthusiastic.

Can anybody explain just why Cooley wanted to make that exhibit of himself? In no manner of way could it gain him any votes except through sympathy, and people usually do not vote for the man whose position is such that he needs sympathy.

Jack Johnson, the champion prize fighter, is making speeches in the negro district of New York for John A. Dix for governor. A joint debate between Colonel Roosevelt and the champion would be more interesting than was the little mill between Johnson and Jeffries.

Butler still has the gall to show his face among decent people. However that was expected, as he is beyond shame or humiliation and his brazeny keeps him before the people. He had gone all over the state not only declaring that his action in serving as counsel for the Schaffer Brothers against the state while representing the state in the United States senate was defensible and not moral treason, but he had repeatedly declared that he had no connection with any other bonds. He declared, vehemently, that he had been solicited to take other bonds for collection and had refused to do so. Now, over his own signature, it is proven that he at least solicited other bonds for collection, whether any were placed in his hand or not. He can brazen it out no longer. It is now shown beyond doubt that he did do, of try to do, the very thing he said he did not do. He was claiming virtue for himself because he had nothing to do with any repudiated bonds. Now it is shown that he was claiming a virtue he did not possess, doubling his crime. Still he rants and moans and abuses honest men and an honest party. But there is only one week more of it and then he will go back to the vultures for whom he is working and the state will be rid of his disgusting presence.

BOYS' CORN CLUBS.

South Carolina has the corn-growing fever, as well as North Carolina. We note from the Columbia State:

"That 20 boys planting one acre each in Dillon county, South Carolina, have produced this year 1,700 bushels of corn, that each of them produced as much as 70 bushels on his acre and that the crop of one of them, Hovey Edwards, was 132 1/2 bushels, while that of Frank McDonald was 113 bushels, are statements of facts that ought to arouse the attention of people everywhere who are disturbed about the high cost of living and the inadequate supply of food-stuffs.

"When one man in a generation succeeds in raising an extraordinary crop on a single acre, it is of no final significance, but when 20 lads, all under 18 years old, with their respective acres distributed throughout a county, produce an average crop of 80 or 85 bushels of corn to an acre, no doubt lingers that the region where these lads live is notably a corn region and that only the application of intelligent methods and industry are required to get great wealth out of the soil. Meantime, the success of the Dillon county boys is not exceptional in South Carolina; similar results are being obtained in a score of South Carolina counties and the proof of corn productiveness is equally clear in other sections of South Carolina."

The boys' corn clubs are doing good work in showing what can be done in growing corn. When South Carolina, North Carolina, and the south can produce corn yields like the above the wonder grows that any is ever shipped into this section from the west. But with demonstrations like that and the infection spreading the south ought, in a few years, to produce its own corn and remove both its corn cribs and its smokehouses from the west to its own territory. The boys are learning a valuable lesson for themselves and teaching it to the whole south. If all will but prove apt pupils it will be so much the better for them:

THE NEW YORK ELECTION.

Up in New York state it looks like a democratic year. Indeed it looks this way everywhere and New York is not going to be left behind. The democratic leaders in that state are cheerful, even jubilant, while the republicans are gloomy and downcast. They admit that appearances are against them. The issues, mainly, are Roosevelt and high prices. The colonel has been trying to sidetrack these issues by making personal attacks on John A. Dix, the democratic candidate, but the people there, as elsewhere, refuse to be led away from the main issues. Roosevelt himself is one of the issues. He ran rough-shod over the minority of his party in everything except the tariff plank of his platform and that is being used against him. The leaders of this large majority don't like Roosevelt a little bit and they don't care if he is defeated. That is one Roosevelt issue. Another issue injected by the dominant personality of Roosevelt is that conservative republicans fear him. They regard him as a man of no settled convictions about anything and fear the effect of his triumph on business. Others fear that if successful now he will force himself on the party as the candidate for president in 1912, and for that reason they want to see him defeated. This shows the personal issue and the dissatisfaction of men of affairs and of the party leaders over it. The high cost of living is the issue that appeals to the masses and Roosevelt's endorsement of the tariff law in his Saratoga platform has intensified the issue. The high prices of everything that one has to buy is an argument that cannot be met by the Roosevelt crowd. In fact they have quit trying and are conducting a personal campaign against the democratic candidate. But, as noted above, the people refuse to be diverted. They know they have not received a square deal and they believe the republican party is to blame and intend to express their resentment at the polls.

It takes brains not to show off because of them.

Press Comment.

Butler's Scheme Unearthed. If a man desires to deny his misdeeds committed in the past it behooves him not to put the evidence of his misdeeds in writing. The memory of man is short, but the written or printed word abideth. In no way has the truth of the above remarks been better illustrated than in the career of Marion Butler, the man who is at present directing the republican campaign in this state.

Mr. Butler has never attempted to deny that in conjunction with ex-Senator R. F. Pettigrew, of South Dakota, he engineered the scheme by which the state of North Carolina owes to pay the bonds given to South Dakota by Schefer Bros. The reason for this admission on his part was that he was forced to tell of his connection with that suit under oath. This employment to appear against his state was accepted by Marion Butler while he was senator from North Carolina. This surely is enough to damn him in the eyes of all loyal citizens of our state.

At all times during his campaign, Butler has strenuously denied any connection, past, present or future, with any scheme to bring about the collection and payment of fraudulent reconstruction bonds. He has gone so far as to claim that he had refused employment for this purpose. Upon this claim on his part, he has based his most vicious denunciations of the democratic party, for warning the people of our good state as to the effects of a republican victory under his leadership.

In this connection we desire to call the attention to our readers to the following advertisement which appeared in the New York Evening Post early in 1905:

The Collection of State Bonds Repudiated in Whole or in Part.

The recent decision of the supreme court of the United States entitled, "South Dakota vs. North Carolina," wherein the former state secured judgment against the latter on ten bonds, par value, $10,000, amounting with interest to $27,000 (which has just been paid) has greatly enhanced the value of all other repudiated state bonds, because it has established the law and the procedure by which they can be enforced.

The undersigned committee, in 1901 pooled all of one issue of North Carolina bonds and originated the plan by which the above successful results were brought about, and obtained a settlement for the individual bondholders, at a little less than par, or their entire holdings of these bonds.

This committee is now ready to proceed with the collection of all other repudiated bonds of every class, of each state.

This committee has no connection with any other committee, and it knows that it alone is now in a position to avail itself of the benefits of the above mentioned decision.

Those who desire to enforce the collection of their bonds will deposit the same with the North American Trust Co., 195 Broadway, New York City, and receive receipts therefor and a contract agreement under which the undersigned committee will undertake to collect the same.

W. N. COLER & CO., R. F. PETTIGREW, D. L. RUSSEL, MARION BUTLER. Depository: North American Trust Co., 195 Broadway, New York City. W. H. Peckham, Counsel.

By this advertisement he stands utterly condemned. You will notice that the South Dakota bonds had all been repudiated. Nothing remained as far as North Carolina was concerned except the fraudulent reconstruction bonds. Yet the advertisement says that "The committee is now ready to proceed with the collection of all other bonds of every class of each state."

To this advertisement are signed the names of the conspirators against our state in the South Dakota suit, yet the arch conspirator, Marion Butler, in the face of what he has written in the past, now comes before the people of our state and disclaims any connection with the repudiated bonds. The evidence over his own signature utterly refutes Butler's statements now. Not only does it expose his treachery in the past but in addition it proves the contention of the democratic party as to his future purposes.

The present chairman of the republican party in North Carolina owes his election to Marion Butler. Who can doubt that if the republican party should be victorious that to Butler would be given all power. He proved false to his state in the past, he is interested in the collection of the repudiated bonds, and nothing can be expected from him in the future which is in anywise different from his past. No good citizen can afford at this rate or otherwise to lend encouragement to this man to betray his state into the hands of the holders of the fraudulent bonds.

In the hands of the democratic party alone is the honor and credit of our state safe.—Statesville Sentinel.

BIG DAY AT TAYLOR SCHOOL.

Flag Presentation and Pledge—County Candidates Canvass.

(Special to The Times.) Nashville, N. C., Oct. 29.—Yesterday was a big day at the Taylor school house, some five miles from Nashville, in Griffin township. The occasion was the presentation of a flag and Bible to the Taylor school by the Nashville Council of the Jr. O. U. A. M. In the forenoon Mr. Charles E. Brewer, of Wake Forest, and a prominent member of the order, delivered a splendid address. He was introduced by Editor Lincke, of the Nashville Graphic. Mr. Brewer made a splendid address, outlining some of the principles for which the order stand.

In the afternoon the flag and Bible were presented by the Juniors, Mr. S. F. Austin making the presentation speech. The Bible and flag were accepted on behalf of the school by Mr. Oscar Creech, principal of the Castalia school. Both these gentlemen made appropriate addresses. Mr. Fred Cooper, of Nashville, had charge of the ceremonies in the afternoon. The Rocky Mount Cornet Band was present and furnished most excellent music. An immense crowd of people were present and these were furnished dinner by the people of the community.

The Taylor school is located in one of the seven districts which voted the local tax last year. The school opened several weeks ago with Miss Undine Jenkins as teacher in charge. There is a splendid new house, equipped with patent desks. The school already has a library.

At night a box party was given and a goodly sum realized. This will be used in providing a teacher's chair and desk and in securing other needed things for the school.

The county candidates are out on a canvass now. In these last days of the campaign folks are beginning to discuss political questions. Where any two or three may be seen together, it is certain the subject under discussion is politics. It looks now like the democrats will win in a walk. The strong fight is being made on the democratic county commissioners. The leaders in the fight are J. D. Winstead, who long associated with the commissioners as county treasurer, being defeated in the recent primary, and R. H. Brooks, who is a merchant here and the father of B. A. Brooks, a young lawyer, who recently joined the republican party. Mr. Winstead is sore over his defeat and because he says the commissioners didn't give him a square deal in the recent primary, it is said that Mr. Brooks wants his son to be county attorney, and also wants a board of commissioners to whom he can sell all county supplies. The republican candidates for commissioners are men of five usiness ailly, and men who have made no great success in life for themselves. On the other hand the present commissioners are men known all over the county as business men of the best ability. The chairman, Mr. W. E. Jeffreys, is one of the most prominent business men in the entire state. No one has even suggested that there is a man on the opposition who would know the first A. B. C's of being chairman of the county commissioners.

UNIVERSITY NEWS.

Football Team Goes to Washington to Play With Georgetown.

(Special to The Times.) Chapel Hill, Oct. 29.—The football team left yesterday morning, driving through the country to Durham for Washington, D. C., where this afternoon they will meet the husky eleven of Georgetown University. The coach has been doing some hard work this week, which is telling rapidly in the improvements of the men and the Georgetown boys will meet a team which they will have to work hard against. The following men made the trip: M. Venable, Young, Calmes, Tillett W., Winston, Abernathy, Williams, Porter, Belk, Thompson, Parker, Spahnour, Crutchfield, Applewhite, McLean, Pimber, Garret, Stevens, Ruffin, Brown.

The track meet starts this afternoon with the following events: 449 yard dash, 100 yard dash, high hurdles, broad jump, and mile run. The pole vault was to come off this afternoon but on account of Captain Parsley having a sprained hand it has been postponed until tomorrow. A good number of men have entered for these events and an interesting meet is expected.

A few nights ago the boys from Davidson county met to reorganize and after initiating the new members the following men were elected as officers: President, S. C. Leonard; Vice President, H. C. Craven; Secretary and Treasurer, H. R. Totten. On Tuesday night the Johnston county boys met to reorganize and after taking in the new men the following officers were elected: President, J. H. Rand; Vice President, J. R. Cordon; Secretary and Treasurer, H. A. Parker.
