"HOW ABOUT ME?"

He comes in all weary from toil and from care
And throws himself down in the big rocking chair.
He takes up the paper and lights a cigar.
And says that he's glad he could catch the first car:
He's worn out, he says, with the strife and the strain
And he wishes he needn't go through it again.
She brings him his slippers, and soft as can be
To hear her low question of "How about me?"

He storms at the world with its shards and its blight,
But she leans to his heart with the peace of her light:
He comes from the battle of men among men
Worn out with the having to go back again:
He takes up his trouble and sits down at peace
In the home where her tenderness soothes like a fleece.
She hums a low tune, and her eyes burn with glee,
And we hear o'er his murmur her "How about me?"

He's been a brave captain or been a good clerk,
He has given of his best to his art and his work,
But he comes home depondent—all fine spirits do—
And cast down and wretched and gloomy and blue:
His feet on the fender, his pipe in his teeth,
While his thoughts through his brain in a wild whirlwind seethe.
She leans o'er the back of his chair, as you see,
With her soul's haunting question of "How about me?"

"How about me?" It's the woman's one right
When the toiler comes home for the rest of the night:
For she has her burden and she has her care,

But she has no coming to pipe and to chair,
To paper and picture and love's tender glow
Where a rose heals the hurt and a kiss heals the blow.
Brave soldier, plain toiler, forget not that she Has a right to her question of "How about me?"

late Nathaniel Lane Brown and the niece of Mr. Joseph G. Brown.

Of an unusually sweet and gentle disposition she has won for herself many friends and is one of the most popular girls among Raleigh's younger set.

Mr. Sadler, who is a native of Charlotte is a civil engineer in the service of the Louisville & Nashville Railway. He is a graduate of A. & M. College, one of the most popular members of his class. He is a splendid young man and made many friends here, while a student in the city. Both young people have the best wishes of their many friends.

BOOK CLUB.
Royally Entertained by Mrs. W. H. Cozart.
(Special to The Times.)
Wilson, Dec. 31—The Xmas meeting of the Book Club was royally entertained by Mrs. W. H. Cozart at her home on West Ninth street, Thursday p. m. The entertainment for the evening was a contest on "London Old and New." Mrs. A. A. Bassey winning the prize of the club members and Miss Frances Adams, of Washington, D. C. was the winner of the invited guests. The house was tastefully decorated in red and green, suggestive of the Xmas season.

Little calendars of 1911 with Xmas bells tied on them, were handed the guests as souvenirs of the occasion. A very elaborate four course luncheon was served by Hattie Doris Cozart, Marjorie Davis and Nannie Briggs. All the club members were present. The invited guests were: Miss Frances Adams, of Washington, D. C.; Mrs. James T. Wiggins, Mrs. Graham Woodard, Mrs. Palmer, of Red Springs; Mrs. James Edmondson, Mrs. Jessie B. Williams, Mrs. Samuel Worthington, Mrs. C. E. Blount, Mrs. E. T. Barnes, Mrs. T. M. Washington, Edward Turdington, Mrs. H. C. Dancer, Mrs. A. D. Hadley, Mrs. S. B. Ruison, Miss Loula Wells.

Special Services At Nazareth.
Tomorrow there will be special services at Nazareth. The Rev. George A. Woods, who has been recently ordained to the priesthood, will celebrate his first solemn mass and impart his first blessings at the Nazareth church. The sermon which will be on the priesthood, will be preached by the Rev. Father Price. There will be a solemn procession, as is customary for newly ordained priests celebrating their first mass, and the Royal Mass of Dumont will be celebrated by the orphan boys' choir. The Rev. Father Woods was recently ordained by Bishop Haid at Belmont, N. C., as the term of a long course of studies and training for the priesthood. He is a native of Glasgow, Scotland, but was for many years in Troy, New York, when a boy. His course of studies was made in the seminary at San Francisco and Belmont. For some years he has been attached to Nazareth. He is a young man of unusual talents and training and has earned the esteem and affection of all with whom he has come in contact and has numerous friends. He will be stationed at Nazareth and assist in the orphanage and mission work carried on there.

To the services tomorrow at Nazareth the public is cordially invited. They begin at 10:30 o'clock.

THE OLD FOLKS' DINNER.
Thirteenth Annual New Years Dinner Given to Old Folks Today.
The annual old folks' New Year dinner was served at the Fayetteville Street Baptist church today. For 13 years these dinners have been given by Mr. John T. Pullen and the young ladies missionary society of the First Baptist church.

Long tables were set out in the church auditorium and it was an interesting sight to witness. Dinner was served to about 100 people, among them being old men and women. Besides these dinner was sent out to a great many. The old ladies at St. Luke's Home were remembered by a bountiful dinner. There was no lack of good things to eat, vegetables, meats, deserts and coffee, in fact everything that goes to make up a good dinner. And it was thoroughly enjoyed.

Mrs. Alma Dorsett was chairman of the committee which was active in arranging for the dinner and soliciting contributions. She was assisted in serving the dinner by Miss Ruth Ivey, president of the young ladies missionary society; Mrs. Guy Robertson, Miss Margaret Faucette, Miss Foy Johnson, Miss Elizabeth Briggs, Miss Eleanor Vass, Miss Pearl Heck, and a number of others.

Among the invited guests were Rev. Hight C. Moore, editor of the Biblical Recorder; Dr. L. E. M. Freeman, pastor of the church, and his wife. Mr. John T. Pullen, of course, was an honored guest, as the dinner would have been incomplete without his presence.

During the dinner a musical program was rendered, adding to the pleasure of the occasion.

Mrs. Mary Brinson brought her singing class from the State School for the Blind. They sang a number of delightful selections and had a large share in the pleasure that was given to the old folks present. Instrumental music was furnished by Miss Margaret Faucette. There were delightful solos from Mrs. Ernest Martin, Miss Faucette, and Mr. Silgo.

The dinner was one of the most successful that has been given and the day was made brighter for many a one by the good, substantial dinner they enjoyed.

Death of An Infant.
The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Beasley, on Pace street, died last night and was buried this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

FREIGHT RATE CASES.
Brief of Attorney Lyon Presented to the Commission Today.
(By Leased Wire to The Times.)
Washington, Dec. 31—The brief of the interstate commerce commission, prepared by Attorney Frank Lyon in the case between the railroads and the shippers as to increased rates was filed with the commission today. It gives a general explanation of the evidence that has been given on the question of increased wages.

It is shown that during the last ten years increases of 30 percent were effected by the railroads. The net operating revenues for 1910 over 1909 are shown to be $23,000,000 in excess of the estimated increase in wages. At the same ratio of increase, it is pointed out that for 12 months of 1911 the railroads will collect more net operating revenue than they did in 1909, notwithstanding the payment of $15,000,000 additional, caused by increase in wages. It is also shown that in 1910 the railroads paid the largest dividends in their history. It is stated that if the increase in coal are allowed, the railroads will net from $50,000,000 to $45,000,000 additional annual revenue.

BATH TUB CASES.
Four of the Defendants Will Escape Prosecution.
(By Leased Wire to The Times.)
Washington, Dec. 31—Notwithstanding the announcement by attorney General Wickersham that all the defendants in the bath tub trust cases will have to go to jail, if convicted of charges of monopoly and restraint of trade, it became known today that four of the 37 defendants will escape prosecution.

An immunity bath is to be given these defendants because they aided the government in collecting evidence against the officials and because they repudiated agreements with the trust officials and because they repudiated agreements with the trust before it was known that the government intended to prosecute it.

A conference was held today between the four defendants and Assistant Attorney Generals Kenyon and Grosvenor, and United States District Attorney Watson. The names of the companies and the individuals were not made public.

Baby Stolen From Train.
(By Leased Wire to The Times.)
Baton Rouge, La., Dec. 31—The report of the theft of a four-months-old baby on a train between this city and Memphis was reported to the police today. A woman, whose name the police refused to reveal, told the authorities that the child was stolen from her arms while she was asleep in her seat. The passengers confirmed her story.

New Year's Day Clear and Cold.
(By Leased Wire to The Times.)
Washington, Dec. 31—New Year's Day will be clear and cold, according to the United States weather bureau. The cold snap which began last night will continue. Sunday will usher in the new year with chill but pleasant weather, in nearly all sections of the country.

Make this New Years Resolutions and Keep It.

Redfern Whalebone Corsets

Quite the nicest models of the season. Long, tapering waist with a deep skirt that envelops the hips. A portion of the skirt is unboned, so that with the aid of the supporter it can be drawn snugly, shaping the hip and abdomen to the right contour. The hose supporters have a shaping value as well as a restraining power, since they are attached to the skirt at vantage points, holding the garment in place.

The whalebone in Redfern models is of the very best grade, with the power to shape and not "set".
