The House Cancus.

The caucus of the democratic members of the house of representatives last night was one of the tamest held in many a year. The all-important position of speaker was filled by the unanimous selection of William Carey Dowd, of the county of Mecklenburg. The filling of this important position usually takes up several bours' time of the caucus, but this year the contest was decided within a few minutes, in fact, everything had been settled before the caucus assembled and there was nothing left but official action.

One move by the government is the abolition of Octroi taxes upon certain foodstuffs, directly affecting the poore classes. Taxes upon olive oil and meat have been rescinded, taking $525,000 an nual revenue away from the government but cheapening prices of those staples. At the same time it is reported that the republican office-holders are compiling a bill to increase taxes on the property of royalists.

That a royalist uprising is imminent and is feared by the government is shown by the large number of troops which are being moved into affected quarters, although the people are being kept in ignorance of the true conditions,
