

CITY SCHOOL MEN MEET

North Carolina Association of City School Superintendents

Meeting Begins Tonight at High School Auditorium—Opening Discussion on "Uniformity in City Schools", by C. L. Coon—General Discussions Following—Meetings Will Continue Until Saturday.

The twenty-sixth annual meeting of the North Carolina Association of City School Superintendents will begin in this city tonight at 8 o'clock. The meetings will be held in the High School Auditorium and will continue through Saturday morning.

This organization has been a potent force in education in our state and this meeting is looked forward to with a great deal of interest. While the membership is not large, it is a strong, working force, and the up-building of the state's educational system lies heavily on their heart.

The meeting begins tonight with the following program:

Uniformity in the City Schools; (a) School Reports, Supt. Charles L. Coon; discussion; (b) Certification of Teachers, Supt. H. B. Smith; discussion; (c) Other Desirable Uniformity, Supt. N. C. Newbold.

The School and the Physical Welfare of the Child, Supt. A. T. Allen; discussion.

Continuing Friday morning at 9:30 o'clock the committee on the courses of study will make a report, which will be followed by a general discussion by the members of the association.

Friday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock the problems of the elementary school will be discussed. At this time the problems of the high school will be taken up with general discussion on the curriculum, daily schedule, the teachers, the school and the community.

The superintendent's problems will be discussed Saturday morning at 9:30 o'clock, with reference to the larger and the smaller schools. All discussions will be entered into by the members of the association.

The session will end with a business meeting, transacting the business affairs of the association, election of next year's officers, etc.

Officers of the association are as follows:

President, Charles L. Coon, superintendent city schools, Wilson; Vice President, E. C. Brooks, Professor of Education, Trinity College, Durham.

Secretary-Treasurer, R. D. W. Connor, Secretary of the State Historical Commission, Raleigh.

Executive Committee: Charles L. Coon, E. C. Brooks, R. D. W. Connor, ex officio; Miss Edith Royster, Assistant Superintendent Public Schools of Wake County, Raleigh; R. L. Moore, President Mars Hill College, Mars Hill; A. E. Woltz, Bursar University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill; H. B. Smith, Superintendent City Schools, Greenville; F. P. Hall, Superintendent Public Schools of Gaston County, Belmont; Miss Mary O. Graham, State Normal and Industrial College, Greensboro.

GOOD ROADS FOR CHATHAM.

Editor London, of Silver City, Opens Campaign For Good Roads.

(Special to The Times)

Silver City, Jan. 26.—With this issue of The Grail Editor Isaac S. London opens a campaign for good roads in this (Matthews) township.

Since Mr. London became editor he has in every way been diligent in advocating the needs of the commuty and encouraging development along every line, and in encouraging and assisting good roads for Matthews township he is again manifesting through the columns of his valuable paper his deep interest in the material development of Chatham county.

The position of Mr. London meets with general approval, and it is most sure that as a result we shall soon have good roads in western Chatham.

In the past two years, under the editorship of Mr. London, The Grail has been materially enlarged and has now grown into a paper of which not only Silver City, but the entire county is justly proud.

ity and encouraging development along every line, and in encouraging and assisting good roads for Matthews township he is again manifesting through the columns of his valuable paper his deep interest in the material development of Chatham county.

Victims in the great poison mystery of Cumberland, Md., Miss Grace Elosser, and her fiance, Charles Edward Twigg. The betrothed couple were found dead side by side on a sofa in the parlor of the girl's home, from a dose of cyanide of potassium, which was taken in a liquid form. The police have not as yet found any evidence showing whether the death of the two was accidental, suicidal, or the work of a murderer.

MORE EVIDENCE IN ELOSSER MYSTERY

(By Leased Wire to The Times.)

Cumberland, Md., Jan. 26.—It was learned today from a county official that District Attorney Robb believes that he has now in his possession the needed link in the evidence to prove beyond a doubt that Grace Elosser and her sweetheart, Charles T. Twigg, died at the hands of a third person.

He believes that a small brownish tinted vial which was picked up in the street about forty feet from the door of the Elosser home contained the cyanide of potassium that killed the Elosser girl and the man she was to have been married to. The bottle was not found until recently, but this is explained by the weather conditions on the night of the tragedy. A heavy deluge with rain and sleet was sweeping western Maryland and while a search of the street was made the next day, nothing but a careful scrutiny of the pavement was possible. The street is unpaved and was ankle deep in silt when the snow melted but the search was taken up again.

A detective employed by the prosecutor is said to have found the bottle which was nearly full of mud and water. The contents were turned over to a chemist. He is now conducting a series of tests in the attempt to discover a trace of cyanide.

A Reliable Medicine.

Is a valuable family friend. Foley's Honey and Tar relieves this condition exactly. Mrs. Charles Kline, N. 8th St., Houston, Pa., states: "Several members of my family have been cured of bad coughs and colds by the use of Foley's Honey and Tar and I am never without a bottle in the house. It soothes and relieves the irritation in the throat and loosens up the cold. I have always found it a reliable cough cure."—King-Crowell Drug Company.

SIR CHARLES DILKE DEAD.

Was One of the Foremost Liberal Statesmen in Britain.

(By Cable to The Times.)

London, Jan. 26.—Sir Charles Dilke, one of the foremost Liberal statesmen of England, died suddenly of heart disease this morning at the age of sixty-eight.

His death was a direct result of the strain of the recent British election. Following the election he went to the south of France to recuperate his failing health and seemed to gain in strength. He returned to England last Saturday, telling his friends that he had been greatly benefited by his stay on the continent. On Sunday he suffered an attack which necessitated the administration of a physician.

Sir Charles was one of the foremost advocates of world's peace and was the sponsor of an Anglo-American entente with the idea of preventing war between the powers. He was one of the leading friends of the suffragettes in England and in 1906 introduced a bill in parliament that every man and woman should be qualified to vote at parliamentary and other elections and that no person should be disqualified by sex or marriage from being a member of either house of parliament. He probably would have been made premier when Asquith was chosen had it not been for the scandal of the Crawford-Dilke divorce case in which he was involved.

Some of his parliamentary orations are masterpieces. He was born in 1842 and was educated at Cambridge, taking up the law. Some of the important offices he has held are under-secretary of state, president of the local government board, chairman of the Royal Commission for negotiations with France; chairman of the Royal Commission for housing working people; chairman of the select committee on income tax. He had written extensively on political topics, some of his works being "The Present Position of European Politics," "The British Army," "Imperial Defense" and many others.

Dupont Re-elected. (By Leased Wire to The Times.) Dover, Del., Jan. 26.—Henry A. Dupont, republican, has been re-elected to the United States senate by the legislature. He received thirty-one votes.

Grand Jury Fails to Return True Bill Against George Smith—Story of Crime. (Special to The Times.) Goldsboro, Jan. 26.—Young Gen. Smith, of Sautler township, who was arrested Christmas Eve last, charged with killing Burgess Smith, was given his liberty yesterday morning, the result of the grand jury not finding a true bill against him. The following is a sketch of the crime:

The two young men met at Mr. John Worrell's store, near Hood Swamp, and were drinking. They became involved in a dispute, and had some warm words and were about to fight when the father of George, who was at the store, endeavored to quiet them, but his interference failed to mend matters and finally they went together and in the mix-up Burgess received a jab wound in the left thigh, severing the large artery, from which wound he bled to death in a short while.

Coroner Stanley and Sheriff Edwards were notified by phone message and left immediately for the scene, and young George Smith, who made no attempt to escape, was taken in custody and brought to this city, where he later gave bond in the sum of $10,000 for his appearance at the coroner's inquest the Tuesday morning after.

Young George Smith was given a hearing before Coroner Stanley and upon the jury's verdict that "deceased came to his death as the result of a knife-wound inflicted by George S. Smith, was committed to jail without bail.

There was a large crowd present at the hearing, and a number of witnesses examined, and the case thoroughly investigated by the coroner's jury.

The evidence produced was not very damaging to George Smith. While it was proven and admitted that he was engaged in an altercation with Burgess Smith at the time he received the fatal wound, no one swore that George was seen with a knife at any time before or after the fight.

On the other hand witnesses swore that Burgess Smith had a knife and was trying to use it on George. This fact caused many to advance the idea that the wound which Burgess Smith received and which caused his death was self-inflicted, and was received in some way during the assault.

Thousands have been cured in this easy, painless and inexpensive way, in the privacy of the home. No knife and its torture. No doctor and his bills. All druggists, 50 cents.—Write today for a free package.
