THE CENTAUR COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY

IN THE POLICE COURT.

The court room was crowded to its capacity this morning when the curtain was rung up for the daily matinee. They had gathered from all over the county to hear the much discussed Hugh Pace case but they were disappointed as the case was continued until Saturday. The remainder of the bill of fare was uninteresting.

Ruffin Taylor, colored, was before his honor charged with making an assault upon C. L. Woodall with a deadly weapon. Mr. C. L. Woodall said Saturday a week ago. Ruffin claimed a half-an-hour more than was coming to him and he promised to give him the time to quiet him up. Last Saturday he called him into the office and paid him. He continued to mouth over it and he ordered him out of the office. He went outside and cursed a great deal, saying that he did not propose to be robbed by any G-d--man, as he was now, and when he went to him to slap him for cursing him he cut him in the left shoulder making a wound about 3 inches long. Ruffin Taylor claimed that he was working at $1.50 per day, but at the pay day of the second week he saw that he was only getting $1.25 per day. When he got to the office he had an argument over the money and he was ordered out of the office and as he got out he said something about Mr. Woodall owing him some money and he came out and beat him in the face several times, finally he pulled out his knife and cut him.

John... said he heard the argument over a half-an-hour's time and as Ruffin was going out, he said he did not propose to be robbed by any one. Did not see the scrap on the outside.

Albert Tilley said he was in the office and heard the argument and Ruffin went out of the office muttering and said he did not propose to be robbed. Did not see any fight, except that he saw them mix-up. Immediately Mr. Woodall came back in the office and said he was cut.

Jim Moore said he heard Ruffin and Mr. Woodall argue over the extra time. When Ruffin got on the outside he said that he was d-- tired of being robbed by anyone and Mr. Woodall started out to him. In a few minutes he came back in and he found him cut in the shoulder.

Was given three months on the roads.

Luce F. Crow, a colored felon, was charged with statutory vagrancy. Patrolman McGee, Wyatt, Barrow, and Capt. Jack Bousley all testified to the bad reputation of Luce's house. Sylvia Hinton and Annie Judd told of the bad reputation of the place and of her getting drunk.

She was found guilty. An appeal being taken her bond was fixed at $50.

The case against Hugh Pace charged with seduction was continued until Saturday morning at 10 o'clock.

Ready-Made Dresses for the Children for Spring and Summer

We did not overlook the little ones in buying our Spring stock, but, instead, we purchased and have on display one of the handsomest lines of Children's Dresses ever shown in Raleigh.

Dainty little White Dresses in Lawn and Batiste, some made plain while others are embroidered. Every one made by skilled workmen, who take pride in their work.

Often in buying Dresses for Children and Misses it is hard to find one that will have the appearance of the individual fit. Not so, however, with our line of dresses, for every one is made from size-models and closely fitted.

We have Children's Dresses from the half year old infant up to the five year, and from the 6th to the 14th year. From here it runs into the Junior and Misses sizes, all of which we have in stock.

Ask for our little Style Booklet, which we have just issued. A neat little book that will be of great service.

A Play Must Fit An Actress As Well as Does Her Gown.

Knowing that an actress, to be successful, must be given a play that fits her just as well as does her gown, Coban and Harris began looking around for a literary dress-maker to fit their new star as soon as Adelaide Thurston had affixed her signature to a contract that gave this enterprising firm of managers charge of all professional affairs for a term of years. Catherine Chisholm Cushing was the one selected, not because she was well known among American dramatists, but because George M. Coban, the gifted and far-seeing actor-author-manager, made up his mind after reading the manuscript of "Miss Ananias" that this end would be attained for the sited but unknown young writer when the merits of this, her first play, were judged across a row of footlights. Mr. Coban's opinion has proved to be so well founded and accurate that already another of Mrs. Cushing's plays, "The Peacock and the Goose" has been accepted by Maxine Elliott and will be produced before the end of the present season. Our theatregoers will have an opportunity to see Miss Thurston in her latest and best play when she appears as Nancy Lyle, the charming "libber", at the Grand tonight.

JOE BANNER PARDONED.

Convicted of Crime of Assault With Deadly Weapon in Surry County.

Governor William W. Kitchen today issued a pardon to Joe Banner, of Surry county, convicted at the November term 1910 superior court of the crime of assault with a deadly weapon. He was sentenced to serve six months on the roads. The reasons for the pardon are:

Prisoner had the difficulty about seven years ago. His general character was good, peaceable and industrious, and the other party was of notoriously bad character. His lungs are in serious condition, in the opinion of a reputable physician, who states that imprisonment, he thinks, very detrimental to his health. Many citizens request his pardon and there is no protest. Pardoned on condition that he remain law abiding and of good behavior and pay the costs.
