

14 p.c. Investment

Here you are, Mr. Investment-seeker! We have a piece of property for sale in Zebulon that will bring you in 14% on the investment. Sounds good, doesn't it? Well, it is just as good as it sounds.

A two-story store and office building, good as new, located on "Arendell Avenue", 50 foot frontage with a depth of 135 feet; 15-foot alley side and end of lot. Two store-rooms on first floor, 20x60 and 27x60. Second story in offices. Building is of concrete.

The two store-rooms rent for $60 per month. Tax rate only 25 cents. Now who wants this investment?

Zebulon

This thriving little town is located in Wake county, only a few miles from Raleigh, on the Norfolk-Southern Railroad. Both stores are occupied by the leading merchants of this little City. There will be no trouble in renting these stores, for they have been in demand since they were completed.

This is one of the greatest bargains we have ever offered since we commenced selling "the earth". It is well worth an investigation, and we will be glad to tell you more about it or take you out to see.

TO AWARD CONTRACTS FOR TWO BUILDINGS

At the A. & M. College contracts will be awarded for the construction of two new buildings, one of these being that for the department of animal husbandry, the other a mess-hall. The former will stand due south of the agricultural building, which the department built eight years ago for the college, and it will be near the railways and not far from the new barns, silos, stables, etc. The other building will be in the rear of the main dormitory known as Watauga Hall, and will seat 800 cadets. It will be one-story and basement. The material used in both buildings will be concrete and brick.

MYSTERY OF STONEHENGE.

Prof. Norton, Harvard Explorer, Said to Have Found Key to Problem in Greek Ruins.

Cambridge, Mass., June 27.—The mystery of Stonehenge, the earliest vestige of English civilization, the hitherto unread riddle which has for hundreds of years perplexed the most learned servants, is believed to have been unveiled by Prof. Richard Norton of Harvard, according to reports which have reached this country from Cyrenaica.

Prof. Norton is the son of the late Prof. Charles Elliot Norton, and has already won renown by a series of brilliant archaeological discoveries, especially in Asia.

He has just reached the American school of classical studies at Rome, arriving on the Armour yacht Utopia, and will soon announce the most valuable discoveries made by the American archaeological expedition in the excavation of the Greek city of Cyrene, which was founded 631 B. C.

The connection between discoveries at Cyrene and the hitherto impenetrable mystery of Stonehenge is said to lie in the similarity of the megalithic or great stoned columns common to each.

GIRL FIGHTS HIGHWAYMAN.

Then Pursues Him, and He Is Caught and Her Purse Recovered.

New York, June 27.—Miss Lillian Anderson, of Atlantic City, was walking through Valentine street, Mount Vernon, late Saturday night. In her hand was her purse, containing $18.

George H. Brewer, 20, of No. 135 North Railroad avenue, Mount Vernon, jumped from behind a tree and seized her hand.

"Give me your money," Brewer ordered. Miss Anderson landed two heavy blows on his nose and jaw with her left fist. Then she clutched his throat, but he wriggled loose. Next she tripped him, but he clung to her and with a violent twist which nearly broke her wrist, got possession of her purse. He dashed down the street, Miss Anderson in pursuit, calling for help.

Policeman James Reilly caught Brewer hiding in a stable. Miss Anderson's purse was in his pocket. The prisoner pleaded guilty in the court yesterday.

"Geef that woman did put up a real fight," he said to the policeman in Mount Vernon station house.

FIGHT FIRE AT SEA THREE DAYS

Crew of Steamer Almoro Finally Save Vessel and Their Lives.

New York, June 27.—Valued at between $500,000 and $1,000,000, the cargo of the steamship Almoro is being unloaded in South Brooklyn, the vessel having arrived in port on Saturday, after a trip around the world since she left here on January 19, last.

On the return voyage, between Calcutta and Ceylon, the officers and crew of the vessel practically had to fight for their lives and the life of their craft, overcoming a fierce fire, which started in the coal bunkers of the vessel.

The Almoro was three days out of Calcutta when the fire was discovered. The heat became so intense that the sailors could only fight the fire below decks for a few minutes at a time, having to work in relays. The fire-fighting was kept up for three days, when the blaze was overcome.

For five days northward from Gibraltar on the return the vessel encountered wintry weather, despite the season of the year.

SUICIDE ON WIFE'S GRAVE.

Newark Husband Goes to Cemetery and Drinks Chloroform.

New York, June 27.—William Dalrymple, a former resident of Irvington, N. J., went to Clinton cemetery in that town yesterday and placed some flowers on the grave of his wife, who was buried there a year and a half ago.

Dalrymple then swallowed chloroform. His dead body was found later on the grave.

The death of Dalrymple's wife broke up the home. He sent his 9-year-old boy to live with his grandparents in West Orange. The father, a plumber, had been living precariously in cheap lodging houses in Newark.

HOLD-UP IN CHURCH.

Masked Man "Covers" Official As He Counts Offerings.

Wheeling, W. Va., June 27.—Hardly 20 feet from the pulpit from which the Rev. W. H. Fields, of the First Christian Science church, was exhorting a congregation of 400 persons to lead better lives, the church treasurer, Brook E. Adams, was robbed at the point of a big revolver by a masked man, who escaped in safety. The robbery was committed in a small room which opens out into the main auditorium, and the door between was open.

The collection had just been taken, the communion dispensed, and Mr. Fields had just started to preach on "The Duty of God and Man", when Adams retired to the ante-room with the collection plates.

As he completed counting the money and was about to take his pew in the church, he looked up, to find himself confronted by a masked man with a big gun.

"Give me that money," the fellow said.

"Well, take it," Adams replied, but the desperado evidently suspecting treachery, made Adams pick up the money and hand it over. Then, with the gun still pointed at Adams, he backed slowly toward the door and dashed down an alley.

Adams notified Dr. J. A. Monroe, a church official, and between them they decided not to inform the pastor of what had happened until after the sermon. When, however, just before the benediction was pronounced, Mr. Fields announced what had happened, a panic ensued.

The collection was small, amounting only to about $20.

STOPS TRAIN TO RESCUE BOY.

Pittsburg, Pa., June 27.—Shoving his head through the cab window to get a breath of cool air, Fred Schilling, an engineer on the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne, and Chicago Railway, saw a 12-year-old boy floundering helplessly in the Allegheny River below him.

Closing down the throttle Schilling stopped his freight train on a trestle, sprang to the runboard of his engine, and made a dive into the water. The engineer struck out toward mid-stream and finally had the drowning lad by the hair. Schilling brought him safely ashore.

Too Much Cob.

A man who was taking his first long trip on a railroad train found himself getting hungry. The train boy came through and, after some effort, sold the passenger three bananas for 10 cents.

The fellow peeled the bananas, threw away the fruit and ate the skins.

Presently the boy came back. "Want some more bananas?" he asked.

"No, I guess not."

"Why wasn't they good?"

"Oh, goods common, I suppose; but they's too durned much cob about them.—Saturday Evening Post.

WONDERFUL RECORD AT ORPHANAGE HERE

The trustees of the Methodist Orphanage are in session and the reports made to them are very gratifying. There has not been during the past 12 months a single case of serious illness among the 150 children. Work is soon to begin upon a new dormitory for boys.

MADERO FOR TAX REFORM.

Desires Heavier Burden Put on the Rich Landholders.

Mexico City, June 27.—Francisco Madero has issued another manifesto to the Mexican people, in which he says the taxes are to be distributed equally among the rich and the poor, but that while waiting to inaugurate the new laws he will call upon the governors and other officials of the states to see that small landholders and merchants are taxed lightly, while the heavier burdens are put on the larger owners.

Capitalists of foreign nativity are to receive absolute protection, but Madero hopes that they will not attempt, as formerly, to try to influence the government authorities in any way to secure special privileges.

He promised to investigate the doings of the Diaz administration and that which is being done contrary to the law will be remedied, and the guilty, as far as possible, will be punished. He recommends to the revolutionary soldiers that they treat the defeated federals as brothers, as in the course of the whole war the federals sympathized with the insurrection movement and believed that the triumph of the Diaz government would be a calamity.

Zapata is expected from Cuernavaca tomorrow with 200 picked men who have been incorporated into the national rural guard. The rest of his 6,000 men have disbanded. It is said that Zapata intends to run for governor for Morelos.

A dispatch from Chihuahua says that Orozco, Madero's principal agent at the battle of Juarez, is being urged as governor of Chihuahua, but that great opposition has already developed. Friends of Gonzalez, the present governor appointed by Madero, insist that he is the logical candidate.

The German government has demanded that Mexico investigate carefully and fix the responsibility for the death of a German of the name of Reitter, who was killed in the State of Hidalgo.

Madero made his second appearance before the populace of the city today, when he reviewed the flower parade arranged by the Aquiles Zedeno Club. He was greeted with applause, but there was not manifested the wild enthusiasm which characterized his arrival in the city three weeks ago.

doors. He wrote a note to Mr. Shields, which was timed at ten p. m. A young man who is employed at the commissary was passing early yesterday morning, and noticing the horse hitched in the yard, went to the house and attempted to get in, but found the doors all locked. He went to a window in Mr. Barnhill's room, and saw him lying across the bed dressed. He cut away the wire screen from the window and went in and tried to arouse the unfortunate young man, seeing there was something wrong. Being unable to arouse him he called for assistance, and summoned a physician. He was undressed by his friends and placed upon the bed, by the arrival of the doctor, but there was nothing to be done to check the poison, as it had presumably, been in him several hours.

It is said that the young man was desperately in love with a young lady in another section, and having visited her on Sunday, it is supposed that they had a misunderstanding, and Mr. Barnhill became despondent with the results as stated.

Your correspondent tried to secure the contents of the note left Mr. Shields, but he declined to give them to us saying he would rather not reveal it.

Mr. Barnhill was a young man, about 21 years old, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Barnhill, who live in the Damsen section, between here and Enfield. Those who know him say he was an exceptionally good man, always careful of the interests of his employer.

PAPER READ BY DR. JORDAN.

Before State Medical Society at Charlotte Arouses Unusual Interest. Friends of Dr. T. M. Jordan, of this city, will be interested to know of the interest which was aroused by his paper, read before the state medical society at Charlotte last week.

The paper was a timely one and rings clear on the obligation of the medical profession in taking an active part in combating tuberculosis.

The Charlotte Observer of Monday printed the paper in full, with the following introduction:

"No paper read at the convention of the medical society of North Carolina contained more facts of general interest to the public than that by Dr. Thomas M. Jordan, superintendent of health of Raleigh. It was a study of mortality statistics in this state and concerned the relation of the doctor to tuberculosis, showing the need for the medical profession to give more serious attention to fighting this greatest of evils and pointing out the necessity for better provision by the state."

If a man has nothing to do, he is always equal to the task.
