Jurors, Trial Judge, Solicitor and Others Sign Petition For Pardon of Raleigh Man

SENSATIONAL CASE

Tim Holderfield, Earl Cotten, and Red Hopkins, Convicted of Murder in Second Degree, For Killing Dr. E. W. Smith, Richmond Traveling Man-Hopkins Has Completed Sentence of Two Years-Cotton Still in Penitentiary-Reasons Assigned by Governor For Releasing Holderfield.

Tim Holderfield, who, with Earl Cotton and Red Hopkins, was convicted April 4, 1909, of the murder of Dr. E. W. Smith, a traveling man of Richmond, Va., was today granted a conditional pardon by Governor Kitchin. All three of the men were convicted of murder in the second degree. Cotten was given 30 years, to her husband's recent victory with Holderfield 10 years, and Hopkins two years. The latter has completed his sentence and is out of the peni-

In his reasons for granting the pardon Governor Kitchin sets forth the fact that the police justice 12 and an attorney who aided in the prosecution signed the petition for the pardon. Holderfield was not regarded as a vicious man and was, the governor states, in the employ of the principal offender.

The killing of Dr. Smith was one of the most sensational that ever occurred in Raleigh. On November 15 1908, the body of the Richmond man was found in the rock quarry, where it had been placed after the man was drugged and robbed. At the March term of court Cotten, Holderfield, and Hopkins were convicted and sentenced for the crime. The trial was not concluded until April 5.

The principal offender was sentenced employ and acted under his direction. The murder was the result of drugging for robbery. Prisoner got none of the spoils and had nothing to nary investigation, the 12 jurymen who tried the case, the trial judge, the solicitor, the attorney who aided the solicitor, and many other reputable citizens recommend pardon. Prisoner was not regarded as a viclous man.

"I pardon prisoner on condition that he remain law-abiding and of good behavior."

It seems that Virginia has not the accommodations for such practice. Application was made to North Carolina and the request was willingly granted.
