MAKE PEOPLE LAUGH.

The Wilmington Star, noting an editorial paragraph in this paper a few days ago, comes back with the assertion that the republican party does keep its promises.

The Raleigh Times observes: "The president expressed surprise in his Denver speech that the American people do not believe in the sincerity of republican promises."

The people do believe, as asserted by the Star, that the republicans keep their promises to the special interests, and that is the reason they doubt the sincerity of Mr. Taft and others when they are making promises to the people.

THE NEW AUDITORIUM.

Raleigh is, and of right ought to be proud of her new municipal building and auditorium. Indeed, every citizen of the state that has seen it claims a personal interest and pride in it because of its location at the state capital.

Outside and inside the building is architecturally complete. Viewed from the outside it is splendid in appearance. On the inside it is arranged in all its parts in the best possible way for advantage in the uses to which it is to be put.

Seriously and truly, the Great State Fair is a great enterprise. So is any other fair, large or small, but by reason of its commanding influence the state fair is the greatest of them all and has come to be recognized as one of the four great fairs of the south.

The management has done its best this year and is anxious for the public to see and the fruit of its labors. The bill of fare is a great one. The exhibits are fine, as befits the products of North Carolina soil and the output of North Carolina manufacturing.

doors, both to the lobby and the auditorium, are so plentiful as to make congestion impossible.

This splendid auditorium will be opened to the public next week. With the thousands of visitors in the city from all sections of the state who are anxious to see the building and judge of its capacity, the time selected for a formal opening is a most auspicious one.

Raleigh, in building this auditorium, has wrought well. It speaks both for her enterprise and for the fact that she is putting emphasis on the right things.

THE GREAT FAIR.

Next week is a great week for Raleigh, and for this section of the state in particular and for all the state in general. It is the occasion of the fifty-first gathering for the Great State Fair.

By Monday things will have assumed a lively attitude at the fair grounds and Tuesday morning the gates will be officially opened to the public and the great fair, the greatest of them all, will be in progress.

Let us all hope for a week of good weather and that every other circumstance will be propitious. And may no untoward event mar the occasion. It is, and should be, a week of good cheer.

Thousands of visitors in town, many just for a day at a time, hundreds stopping with friends in the city. Let all of us who live here treat everybody who do not live here as our own guests.

The management has done its best this year and is anxious for the public to see and the fruit of its labors. The bill of fare is a great one. The exhibits are fine, as befits the products of North Carolina soil and the output of North Carolina manufacturing.

The best of the poultry yard, the cattle and stock farm are there. The best possible amusements, both free and paid, have been selected. The exhibits from out of the state show the best that the brain and brawn of other sections can originate and execute.

There is something for the serious-minded. The wonderful products of a great state are shown. The great natural resources, and the mighty industrial work. These are all shown. Then there will be amusement for all, for in the barrel, it will be, and rightly ought to be, a season of good cheer, and of good fellowship.

The Henderson Gold Leaf is quite prosperous and is going to put in an entirely new outfit, press, and type, complete. The Gold Leaf is one of the best country papers and its newspaper friends throughout the state are glad of its prosperity.

Blinded by false hope of liberty, they madly strike alike at the source of the only true hope. As the blind and furious Sampson tore down, the pillars of the temple upon himself, so these poor frenzied people, wild with their new strength, seek to tear down the most sacred sanctuary of human justice.

Press Comment.

Franklin's Lost Party. Since the swallowing up of a large portion of the Franklin Arctic expedition that went out to discover the North Pole in the forties, followed by as many as thirty-six relief expeditions that obtained confirmation of the death of the leader and others, but that could not account for the fate of a very large number of the men who started under the lead of Captain Crozier from King Williamsland toward the Hudson Bay company scout posts, the shroud of mystery has covered the men lost in the frozen north.

There was many ghastly graves to close up, many gaping wounds to heal, many bitter woes to ameliorate in the wrecked nation, for God, who cannot be abolished, can punish and forgive. The people of the far Arctic village know little of history. The lesson must be written out for them in their own blood.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh That Contain Mercury.

As mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces, such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them.

EXECUTOR'S NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that I have qualified as Executor upon the estate of W. E. Faison, and all persons indebted to said state will make prompt payment to me and all persons having claims against said estate will present them to me on or before the 7th day of October, 1912, or this notice will be pleaded in bar of their recovery.

Every effort is being made to stamp out consumption, but the dreaded disease continues a menace to life and happiness. The physicians are doing all they can to check the disease, while there are sanitariums and fresh-air camps established in nearly all of the states.

Two-thirds of my patients are married women. Most of these come to me nursing a second or third child, when they knew with their first child that they had consumption. Not one of these women seemed to know that with tuberculosis motherhood is nearly the worst thing that can happen to her.

In a little Russian village of the Baltic the people have issued a manifesto abolishing the rule not only of the Czar, but also of the Deity. Poor, ignorant victims of a cruel destiny and a still more cruel delusion!

Blinded by false hope of liberty, they madly strike alike at the source of the only true hope. As the blind and furious Sampson tore down, the pillars of the temple upon himself, so these poor frenzied people, wild with their new strength, seek to tear down the most sacred sanctuary of human justice.

The French of the revolution tried the same thing. They, too, declared God abolished and for a long time it indeed seemed that His countenance was forever hidden in rivers from the guillotines, and by the flames that laughed devilishly from the torture pyres, and that His ear was closed against the curses, the wallings and the shrieks of anguish and despair that turned France into an inferno.

There was many ghastly graves to close up, many gaping wounds to heal, many bitter woes to ameliorate in the wrecked nation, for God, who cannot be abolished, can punish and forgive.

The people of the far Arctic village know little of history. The lesson must be written out for them in their own blood. Alas! Many far more learned, far wiser than they refuse to read from the open page of life that God can not be abolished.

Churches may be abolished or decay, priests may be abolished or disregarded, creeds and rituals may be abolished or forgotten, but God can not be abolished by manifests of men than can the steady march of time or the eternal circling of the stars be stopped by a puny cry in the dark.—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Out-of-Order Stomachs Feel Fine Five Minutes After Taking a Little Diapepsin.

The question as to how long you are going to continue a sufferer from indigestion, Dyspepsia or out-of-order Stomach is merely a matter of how soon you begin taking some Diapepsin.

If your stomach is lacking in digestive power, why not help the stomach to do its work, not with drastic drugs, but a re-enforcement of digestive agents, such as are naturally at work in the stomach.

People with weak Stomachs should take a little Diapepsin occasionally and there will be no more indigestion, no feeling like a lump of lead in the stomach, no heartburn, Sour Risings, Gas on Stomach or Belching of undigested food, Headaches, Dizziness or Sick Stomach, and, besides, what you eat will not ferment and poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Go to your druggist and get a 50-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin now, and you will always go to the table with a hearty appetite, and what you eat will taste good, because your stomach and intestines will be clean and fresh, and you will know there are not going to be any more bad nights and miserable days for you. They freshen you and make you feel like life is worth living.

REMAIN TEN YEARS IN BED AFTER QUARREL.

Alton, Ill., Oct. 14.—Miss Alice Mundy, disappointed because her mother forbade her communicating with her fiancé, took to her bed, vowing that she would never arise until all objections had become removed.

Ten years have elapsed since then and not once has Miss Mundy placed her foot to the floor, and only once has she been out doors, and that was when she was lifted, against her will, and carried out on her cot.

Now she is unable to arise. Total lack of exercise has weakened her physically so that she has practically lost the use of hand or foot.
