THURSDAY CROWDS SMASH RECORDS

MANY VISITORS

Scores of Special Trains Unload Thousands of People in Raleigh For Third Day

STREETS THROGGED AT AN EARLY HOUR

From Early Morning Until Late in Afternoon Visitors From Every Corner of State, Brought Here by the Thursday Special Trains, Took Possession of City and Later Moved to Fair Grounds--Buildings and Midway Living, Pulsing Mass of Humanity--Agricultural Association to Hold Meeting Tonight--Another Great Day Tomorrow.

In point of attendance the third day of the North Carolina State Fair far exceeded either of the two first days and from early morning until late in the afternoon a veritable stream of humanity poured into the grounds.

Thursday has always been the banner day of the fair and it was no exception this year. Scores of excursion trains, operated from every part of the state, brought thousands of visitors to Raleigh. At 6 o'clock this morning the streets were alive with the crowds and by 8 o'clock the street cars were carrying hundreds to the ground. Every building on the grounds was crowded with visitors, the midway was a living, throbbing stream of pedestrians.

The parade to the grounds was made shortly after 10 o'clock. Large crowds witnessed the flights yesterday of the Curtiss biplane. Professor Witmer ascending and making circles. Toward the latter part of his flight last evening the rudder wire of his aeroplane broke and the professor was compelled to make a hasty landing. Only coolness and nerve prevented a disaster. The damage was slight, however, and was easily repaired.

If yesterday was a good day, today was a better one. The chill October air made the blood leap; the sun warmed the hearts of the visitors, and the bright day gave joy to all. The rain of Tuesday night proved a real blessing.

To Meet Tonight. At 8 o'clock tonight the North Carolina Agricultural Society will hold its annual meeting in the capitol for the purpose of electing officers and hearing reports. Col. E. F. McRae, who has served the association so faithfully, will become one of the large army of ex-presidents and another verile man will be chosen in his stead. Tomorrow will be another great

RAIN CAUSES ANOTHER DELAY IN PLAYING OF WORLDS SERIES

Philadelphia, Oct. 19--Rain caused another postponement of the Athletic-Giants fourth game. The grounds are in soggy condition, with rain falling. The game will be played tomorrow, weather permitting.

Thoroughly rested after Tuesday's sensational battle, both teams are anxious to get into the fray again. Long rest periods do not help the average ball player and one day lay-off was about sufficient to keep the players on edge. The Athletics believe they will take next two games, and the series. The day at the grounds. All the attractions will be there and hundreds of visitors will take advantage of the opportunity to visit the grounds.

Business Suspended. Business was practically suspended in Raleigh today, while everybody went to the fair. Never before, it was said, had such crowds lined the streets, filled the cars and entered the grounds. The perfect day brought out thousands. At the corner of Hillsboro and Morgan streets as early as 10 o'clock, the visitors were massed for many square yards, all waiting to be carried out. Cars arrived, were filled and pulled out, but still the crowd was as large apparently as before.

Elect Officers and Directors for Ensuing Year--Asheville Mica Company Takes Over Great Southern Mica Company.

Asheville, Oct. 19--The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Blue Ridge Building and Loan Association was held yesterday and officers and directors were elected for the ensuing year. The reports of the condition of the association showed that it is doing well. During the year $145,000 has been paid out in loans and the cancelled matured stock amounted to $58,000, while the membership has increased 2 1/2 per cent. The net earnings amounted to $10,000.

After the election of directors by the stockholders, the following officers were chosen: J. E. Rankin, president; U. Taylor Rogers, vice-president; Edwin L. Ray, secretary and treasurer. The directors are: J. E. Rankin, H. Taylor Rogers, Dr. P. R. Meale, W. B. Valentine, S. O. Bradley, N. Buckner, F. W. Thomas, H. W. Plummer, B. G. Barber, A. H. Cobb, A. Nichols, E. L. Ray, O. L. Fitzgerald, Ed. White and C. H. Honess.

By a transfer announced yesterday the Asheville Mica Company of this city, took possession of the Great Southern Mica Company, the plant of which is located near the concrete bridge on the French Broad river. It is probable that the two plants will be combined at the site of the Great Southern's plant. This company has been in existence here for about three years, was owned by Cleveland capital and managed by H. F. Seymour. The Asheville Mica Company is owned by W. Vance Brown and S. Herbert Brown. B. C. Grindstaff, connected with the management of the Great Southern, will continue with the new Asheville Mica Company.

Southern Corn Show. Atlanta, Oct. 19--The Southern Corn Show will be held here December 5th to 9th, inclusive, instead of November 21st to 24th, as originally announced.

THE WEATHER

Forecast--For Raleigh and vicinity: Fair tonight and Friday. For North Carolina: Fair tonight and Friday; light to moderate north winds. Weather conditions--The weather continues over the central and southern states, but increasing cloudiness is taking place in the extreme southwest. Rain is reported in New York and the New England states. High pressure with a cool wave covers the northwest with freezing temperature in the Rocky Mountain region. Snow is falling in Denver.

PORT IMPROVEMENTS

Citizens Demand Better Shipping Facilities at Port

Demands Made of Clyde Line of Better Freight Service at Special Meeting of Chamber of Commerce--No Concessions at All Given--New Bank.

(Special to The Times.) Wilmington, Oct. 19--At a special meeting of the Wilmington chamber of commerce yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock the important matter of the Clyde steamship service and ship facilities was reported on by a special committee. President M. J. Corbett presided. In the absence of Secretary O. F. Cooper, who is attending the Atlantic Deepwaterways Convention in Richmond, Va., Assistant chairman H. B. Branch acted as clerk to the meeting. Mr. J. A. Taylor chairman of the reporting committee was present, as were about 50 business men, representative of the largest shippers of the port. Messrs. W. F. Raymond, special representative, and H. G. Smallbones, local manager of the Clyde Steamship Company, also attended the meeting. Mr. Taylor, as chairman, reported to the session that he had been in communication with the Clyde company, and according to the instructions of the chamber had made the three following requests of them. First, that they furnish Wilmington with a more frequent freight service, the present being entirely inadequate to the needs of the port, and has not been improved for years, regardless of the greatly increased shipping of the place; second, that better local facilities be provided in the place of the unsatisfactory arrangements for delivering and receiving freight now used by the Clyde line at this port, the constantly congested state of affairs at the local warehouse having been called to their attention and a strong argument made for adequate facilities; third, that claims for loss and damage receive the prompt attention of the proper authorities of the carrier company. The alleged delinquent manner in which this has been carried on in the past is said to have been very exasperating to the claimants here and a remedy was urgently requested.

Mr. Raymond, who came to Wilmington especially for the purpose of investigating the matter personally and conferring with the shippers, replied to Mr. Taylor for his company. He took up the matter at length and talked freely on the subjects under consideration. His speech, while right to the point, and was very instructive and entertaining to those interested in the subject, was far from satisfactory to the chamber. Of all the three requests, not the slightest immediate concession was made for the betterment of the local port so far as the Clyde Steamship was concerned, except possibly a better arrangement for the settlement of claims enjoyed more privileges in this way than any other port touched by the Clyde line. He said that Manager Smallbones was allowed more liberty in paying claims than any other agent of the company. The chamber appreciated this compliment to the judgment of Mr. Smallbones, but failed to see why they should wait months for their money, just because other places did. A permanent committee of the chamber was suggested through Mr. Raymond by the general claim agent of the line to work in conjunction with the claim department in the adjustment of claims. Speakers making short but pertinent talks were Messrs. L. B. Rogers, C. C. Covington, and M. W. Jacob. President Corbett stated to a reporter after the meeting that while the meeting had not accomplished the results desired it would be instrumental in their accomplishment later.

Bar Politics at Cornell. Senior Class Elects President Who Made No Pledges. Ithaca, Oct. 19--Clinton B. Ferguson, one of Coach Courtney's star oarsmen, has been elected president of Cornell senior class, the highest honor within the gift of the undergraduates.

There were four candidates, and by a written agreement all electioneering was eliminated. Each candidate pledged himself not to promise a single appointment for political support, the first time in years that political deals have been eliminated by the candidates. Ferguson got 270 votes to 150 for his nearest opponent. Ferguson entered from Middletown, N. Y., and is taking the course in mechanical engineering.

BUT LITTLE PROGRESS IN M'NAMARA CASE

Los Angeles, Oct. 19--The McNamara murder trial resumed with record, breakers for Dunn in the amount of cotton sold on the market; on those two days over seven hundred bales of cotton were sold by the farmers. The farmers had been holding their cotton hoping for better prices, but as their quotas notes came due on October 15, they were forced to sell enough to meet this demand. Business is practically at a standstill as the farmers are not selling a single bale unless forced to do so to meet some note or mortgage.

Another old Confederate veteran has answered the roll call in the great beyond. Mr. Tom Jones, aged about seventy years, one of the few Confederate soldiers left in this community, passed to his reward last Saturday. Mr. Jones served his full time and made a good record as a soldier.

The many friends of Mr. Eugene T. Lee, who was shot in Mexico some months ago, are very glad indeed to see him at home again. His uncle, Mr. Kemp Massengill, came in with him from Mexico City last Sunday. Mr. Lee is partially paralyzed in his lower limbs and will have to use a rolling chair for some time. As soon as he regains his strength sufficient he will go to the hospital to try and have the

HOLD COTTON, SAY FARMERS

Strong Meeting Held Here in Interest of South's Leading Product

TO ATTEND CONFERENCE

Delegates Named to Represent State Union at New Orleans Meeting. Several Strong Talks Made and Hog and Hominity Doctrine is Preached--Farmers Can Control Large Crop by Forming Storage Houses and Feeding Market as Cotton is Needed.

At an enthusiastic meeting, last evening of the State Farmers' Union, resolutions were adopted urging farmers throughout North Carolina to refuse to sell a pound of cotton at present prices and to use their influence to prevent other farmers from selling; to hold cotton in the seed, to form cooperative war warehouses to reduce the amount to sixty percent of the total available; delegates were appointed in the cotton conference in New Orleans as follows:

- Delegates to New Orleans. First District--E. B. Carter, Colleton; J. Bryan Grimes, Raleigh. Second--John F. Burton, Edgecombe county; E. L. Rainwater, Edgecombe. Third--J. E. Cameron, Kinston; J. A. Westbrook, Mount Olive. Fourth--J. M. Thompson, Cary; C. E. Johnson, Raleigh. Sixth--Joe A. Brown, of Columbus county, and A. T. McKinnon, of Robeson county. Seventh--H. C. Dockery, Rockingham; A. L. James, Laurinburg. Eighth--J. P. Allison, Concord; W. P. Gibson, Statesville. Ninth--H. Q. Alexander, Matthews; W. S. Pharr, Charlotte.

As to Government Report. It was resolved to request that all condition of the cotton crop should give the amount of cotton on hand and by whom held.

To Attend American Tobacco Hearing. It was agreed to send delegates to the hearing in New York in regard to the reorganization of the American Tobacco Company.

The meeting was called by Maj. W. A. Graham and President H. Q. Alexander and was attended by over 200 farmers from every part of the state. Warm debate was the order of the evening and all present were determined to stand together. The hog and hominuity doctrine was again preached, a number of strong speakers, including Col. H. C. Dockery, Mr. T. B. Parker, Mr. A. A. Thompson addressing the gathering. Mr. Clarence Poe, editor of the Progressive Farmer, read reports from various southern governors on the cotton situation. President Alexander in a vigorous speech declared that the farmers could control a 15,000,000 bale crop well as a 10,000,000 bale crop with the proper organization.

Army Worm in Kentucky. Hickman, Ky., Oct. 19--The army worm has swept down on the cotton fields of this section. Farmers are not disturbed, saying, it will cause bolls to open earlier.

NEW DIRECTORY OUT

Handsome Volume With Information About Raleigh

New Book Contains Nearly Five Hundred Pages of General Information of Interest to Business Men and Citizens--Some Facts About Work.

The new city directory for Raleigh is now being distributed by the publishers. It is a thing of beauty as well as usefulness. This year's book is bound in buff cloth, printed in black, making a very handsome appearance. It contains 497 pages, which is the largest directory that has ever been published for Raleigh. The preface, commencing on page 5, is compiled by the chamber of commerce of Raleigh, which contains information pertaining to the citizens and valuable to the visitors, and more than half of these valuable to the city, because of the fact that the Raleigh directory is put by the publishers in the directory. Blue of all the large cities in the United States and Canada, where it is in daily use by the traveling public.

The general index is to be found on page 11. By reference to this any one can find promptly any of the different classifications of the book. Commencing on page 12 is to be found the miscellaneous information, such as to the officers of the city, county, state and United States governments.

Following that comes the information giving the officers and resources of all the banks. Following that it is to be found list of churches, educational institutions, hospitals, fields of railroad companies, social societies, and such things as are sought after generally by all classes of citizens. This cover the subjects have marked the three principal sections of the book by tabs, so one can turn readily to the streets, general information, and business concerns.

From pages 41 to 112 is to be found the street department, in which the head of houses are shown. This department is invaluable to the real estate men and merchants. From pages 113 to 116 is to be found the names of the citizens, merchants, etc., classified alphabetically, giving the address of their business, as well as their residences.

From pages 117 to 196 is to be found all of the business and professional interests in Raleigh, classified under their respective headings. For the benefit of the people of Raleigh the Raleigh Directory can be found for reference by the traveling public at the chamber of commerce rooms in Greensboro and Wilmington, and at the Sun office in New Bra, and the Sun office in Durham.

It will also be interesting to the merchants and the people of Raleigh to know that the Hill Directory Company furnish to the chamber of commerce in Raleigh directories of a large number of cities in the United States, where they are kept for the general use of the citizens of Raleigh and the traveling public.

BIG COTTON MARKET

Over Seven Hundred Bales Sold in Two Days on Dunn Market--Mr. Eugene Lee of Home--National Highway Matters.

THE WAR SITUATION IS NOT IMPROVED

END OF MANCHUS

Communication With Hankow Interrupted But There Are Wild Rumors of Reverses

WHOLE VALLEY IN HANDS OF REBELS

Six Steamers, Packed With Refugees, Arrive at Shanghai--These Declare That the Whole Valley From Hankow to Shanghai is in the Rebels' Hands--Manchus Were Slaughtered Without Regard to Age or Sex--Admiral Evans Thinks Revolt Marks the Beginning of the End.

Beijing, Oct. 19--Communication with Hankow is interrupted. There are wild rumors of reverses to the imperial army. Among foreigners it is believed the Hankow situation has not improved by the past twenty-four hours' events.

Shanghai, Oct. 19--Six packed steamers arrived here today with refugees from Hankow. Most of the foreigners were Russians employed in tea factories and the Belgian iron workers. The refugees declare the whole Yang-Tse valley from Hankow to Shanghai is in the rebels' hands, with the possible exception of one or two cities. Accounts of revolutionary attack emphasize the massacre of Manchus in Wu-Chang. In the slaughter neither age nor sex was regarded. The refugees say it is doubtful if a single representative of the Manchu race was left alive.

Los Angeles, Oct. 19--Chinese revolution, whether successful or not, is liable to involve the world powers in conflict, proposed peace treaties notwithstanding, according to Rear Admiral Robley D. Evans. Admiral Evans thinks this revolt will fail. But that it marks the beginning of the end of China, just as Italy's taking Tripoli in all probability is the beginning of the end of the Ottoman Empire.

Shanghai a Hot Bed. Shanghai, Oct. 19--Run on the Shanghai Imperial bank continues. The officials appear to have ample resources. Shanghai is a hot bed of revolution.

Plots and counter-plots are numberless. Revolutionary agents have sent an appeal to their brethren throughout the world for financial help.

Women and Children Forced to Leave. Peking, Oct. 18--The British Consul General at Hankow telegraphs his legation that the women and children have been forced to leave Hankow.

Coffee Goes Up. New York, Oct. 19--A general advance of from two to three cents a pound on all cheaper grades of coffee will be declared by retailers here within next ten days, it was announced.

Glidden Tourists Delayed. Roanoke, Va., Oct. 19--The Glidden tourists left at 11:45 this morning, delayed by bad roads south of here. Winston-Salem is the official stop tonight, but they may not reach further than Martinsville, Va.
