STOCKS COTTON GRAIN PROVISIONS

New York Cotton Letter. New York, Nov. 29.—It has been a quiet day in cotton market. During the first hour there was considerable buying here by houses with foreign connection supposedly against sales in Liverpool, but the foreign business contracted as soon as Liverpool closed and the market later showed very little feature with prices holding within a point or two either way at last night's closing. Liverpool open tomorrow as usual and trading today has undoubtedly reflected a reduction in scattering speculative interest for over the holiday. Rumors have been circulating of bearish figures from the national ginners association on Friday, probably referring to preliminary returns on amount of cotton ginned to December 1 but nothing definite has developed in this connection and beyond the foreign buying here during the early trading the market has shown practically no feature. Very low temperatures were reported in south after the rain or snows of the previous day and our advances indicate that ginning is being retarded in consequence.

Hubbard's Cotton Letter. New York, Nov. 29.—Today's market was the usual pre-holiday affair, with business much restricted and prices generally steady. The widest differences of the season between New York and Liverpool led to considerable buying here against sales abroad which held the market very steady through the morning, absorbing the hedge selling which still comes out of the south. The southern markets are somewhat easier, but there is sufficient trade demand on the scale down to prevent as yet any general weakness.

New York Stock Letter. New York, Nov. 29.—The opening was dull and lower but before long prices shot up sharply to about the high point of yesterday. There was selling however on this advance and the market at noon turned quite weak. Northern Pacific was conspicuous in this decline reacting to a lower point than any touched by it for some time. Traders contended that there had been good selling of this stock for a considerable period.

Chicago Grain. Chicago, Nov. 29.—Wheat after an easy start, has ruled strong and higher. Longs have sold out or reduced their lines and a great deal of short wheat has been put out on decline of past two days. Market acts oversold. Argentine news bullish. Corn opened steady, unchanged, but has firmed up on commission house buying. While the market does not show strength of other cereals it has good undertone. Oats, relatively strong, some selling on opening but demand at 49 for May is large, every commission broker in pit had buying orders. There is very little pressure at advance.

Provisions higher with hogs and grain markets. Principle demand from shorts and some covering by packers.

Constitution Was Subject

(Continued From Page One.) derstand one measure to be voted on. Direct legislation was familiar to Greece and Rome and led to disorder and disruption. The speaker did not want to see a bludgeon held over the heads of judges, and the recall would make jurists servile to the popular will. A judge must know neither friend nor foe, but must declare the law and do justice man to man. The recall would cause the election of unscrupulous judges.

The Reception. After the speaking, Judge and Mrs. R. W. Winston held a reception at the Yarrowborough in honor of Senator Lodge and the members of the State Literary and Historical Association. Senator Lodge, who was the guest of Judge and Mrs. Winston in their home, left at 12:30 this afternoon for Washington. Rev. Howard E. Rondthaler, president of Salem Female College, was on the program for an address last night, but his train was delayed and he was unable to reach Raleigh in time. He entered the hall after Senator Lodge had begun speaking and occupied a seat in the audience. Mr. Rondthaler is one of the most enthusiastic and able of the young college presidents in the south.

New Officers. Officers were elected as follows: President—R. D. W. Connor. Vice-presidents—Dr. W. P. Few and Miss Lida Rodman. Secretary—Treasurer—Clarence Poe.

Lecture Extension Courses. At the business meeting yesterday afternoon, Dr. Mims reported that lecture extension courses would be given this winter at Winston-Salem, Goldsboro, Raleigh, Wilson, Washington and probably New Bern and Greensboro. The association has promised of lecture courses by President W. L. Potat and Dr. E. W. Sikes, Wake Forest College; President W. P. Few and Prof. E. C. Brooks, Trinity College; President H. L. Smith and Prof. M. G. Fulton, Davidson College; President D. H. Hill, A. & M. College, and Professors E. K. Graham and Edwin Mims of the State University. Dr. D. H. Hill, president of A. & M. College reported on new books for the year, saying that there had been an increased production and that their quality had improved.

Take Horses to Russia. New York, Nov. 29.—C. K. G. Billings, millionaire horseman, expects to leave for Russia next year for an extended residence, taking with him the pick of his stream of horses, including the champion of the world trotter, Uhal.

Ad Wolfsgast III. Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 29.—Ac Wolfsgast, the prize fighter, who was to fight Freddie Welsh, the Englishman tomorrow, is seriously ill with appendicitis and he has been taken to the hospital. He is not expected to live.

DIRECTORS MEET

Board of Directors of Granville Fair Hold Interesting Meeting—Court Dragging Along.

(Special to The Times.) Oxford, N. C., Nov. 29.—The new board of directors of the Granville County Agricultural Association, elected at the recent meeting in the court house. The following members were present: E. T. White, B. S. Royster, Will Landis, J. T. Cozart, A. W. Graham, R. T. Gregory, A. H. Powell, E. C. Harris, L. T. Willford, John Bullock, J. H. Perry, S. V. Morton, J. M. Phipps, S. W. Parker, and J. Robt. Wood. The following officers were elected: President, B. M. Caldwell; vice-presidents, E. T. White and E. C. Harris; treasurer, W. T. Yancey; secretary, J. E. Webb; executive committee S. W. Parker, B. S. Royster, J. T. Cozart, R. T. Gregory, and W. B. Ballou. It was decided to leave the selection of assistant secretary to the executive committee.

The presence of practically all of the members of the new board of directors and the interest shown at the meeting goes a long way towards showing the place this association has gained in the affection and business judgment of the people of the county. Nothing has ever been undertaken in the county that has met with such universal approbation or in such a short time carried widespread conviction as to its value in building up the whole county.

It was the opinion of those present at the meeting that preparations should be made at once to get out a good premium list and have it in the hands of the farmers as soon as possible. After all is said the thing on which the success of the fair will depend more than anything else will be the kind and value of premiums offered. There will be in all probability be over $1,500 worth of premiums given at the next fair. The second week of court is dragging along with nothing of very great interest. All the blind tiger cases were decided in favor of the wets and neither the road force nor the school fund will reap much benefit from this term of court.

NO SALE OF PLANT

Public Awaits Outcome of Failure to Purchase Sewerage System.

(Special to The Times.) Wilmington, Nov. 29.—Following the announcement of several days ago contained in a formal letter to the bondholders of the Wilmington Sewerage Company to the effect that the city had declared at an end all negotiations for the contemplated purchase of the sewerage system, the public will await with curious expectancy the result of a meeting of the bondholders which was set for today at Philadelphia, Pa. What action the bondholders will now take remains to be seen. Iredell Meares, Esq., their local attorney, was notified yesterday of the proposed session.

The course to be pursued by the bondholders will be watched with considerable interest as it is now squarely "up to them" to do something. Under the notification submitted by council several days ago, reference is made to a condition precedent to the granting of a charter in 1907. It was specified before the charter was granted by the aldermen, that the sewerage company, within thirty days after extensions of water pipes should extend its sewerage pipes along the same streets. Notice was also served that the city would enter suit for damages under alleged contract to purchase the plant, which it is declared the bondholders severed after practically closing the deal.

Washington, Nov. 29.—On the ground that the administration has substantially changed its announced Alaskan policy, Attorney Brandeis, counsel for the house interior department expenditures committee has advised Chairman Graham that no further action by that committee in investigating Controller Bay affairs is necessary. Chairman Graham said the committee might recommend the government retaining title to all the mineral, gas and oil lands in Alaska.

which vines of smilax and bamboo made a delicate green tracery. The lights were yellow shaded and there were numerous ferns and palms to carry out the effect.

Passing into the reception room the same scheme of decoration was continued, gorgeous yellow chrysanthemums mingling with the ferns and palms.

The receiving line was formed by Dr. and Mrs. Ernest Broughton, Mrs. Broughton's dress of gold messaline with a drapery of braded net, harmonizing beautifully with the decorations of the room; Mr. C. W. Ellis, of Clayton, father of Mrs. Broughton; Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Broughton; Mrs. Broughton in gray silk voile with duchess lace; Mr. Walter Upchurch and Mrs. Upchurch in yellow messaline; Mr. N. B. Broughton and Mrs. Broughton in gray messaline; Mr. Chas. Park and Mrs. Park, in blue messaline with pearl trimmings.

From the gift room the guests were ushered into the dining room by Miss Vivian Betts and Miss Nina Cooper.

In the receiving line were: Mrs. was the beautifully decorated table, the centerpiece being a basket of ferns and vines filled with beautiful yellow chrysanthemums. Ropes of smilax from the chandelier above extended to the corners of the table. The mints and bonbons were of yellow and white.

The following young ladies served the refreshments: Misses Lizzie Harris, Lillian Betts, Mildred Broughton, Mary Bradley, Maybelle Jordan, Laurie Weathers and Minnie Broughton.

Washington Surprised.

Washington, Nov. 29.—Regarding the Detessan interview in the Paris Matin, Secretary Hilles said: "Much surprise had been felt at the white house is finding that the gentleman, a cousin of the French military attaché, coming introduced by the French ambassador, should have thought, without any authorization, to circulate as an interview his recollections of the casual remarks, made by the President in the course of hurried conversations. and the hall of the benediction. Every inch of space was utilized and when the Pontiff entered he was met by a sea of faces that stretched from his gold and white throne to the top of most tribunes near the stained cathedral windows.

The costumes of the court representatives and servants of the Vatican enhanced the old world effect of the dully lighted, ancient hall. The lay chamberlain of the Vatican were habited in a costume the time of Valaques, made of black velvet, with tunic and black silk hose. He carried a sword and wore a white ruff and the triple gold chain of office. Their officers were scarlet collars embroidered with gold.

The guard of the nobles was dressed in black coats, gold spaullets steel helmets and black crests. And though the more sombre dresses of the monks nuns, the Vatican servants and officials, flamed the bizarre black and gold uniform of the Swiss guard, whose waving plumes and long halberds guarded the entrances. After returning thanks in the Sistine Chapel, the new cardinals with the other cardinals, retired to the hall of the consistory to hold a supplement secret consistory, during which the pope granted them the privilege of speaking at meetings of the congregations, placed the cardinal's ring on their fingers and made each of them a titular bishop of church in Rome.

to absorb their attention, particularly those relics of Andrew Johnson, about whom the senator knows a great deal. Calling at the supreme court a few minutes, Senator Lodge met Judges Clark, Brown and Walker, as well as a number of attorneys which were present. A few minutes were spent with Governor Kitchen at the capitol, Col. Grimes was also visited as well as Major Graham of the department of agriculture.

The plaster cast of Canova's statue of Washington in the capitol, was viewed and admired considerably by Senator Lodge.

The senator expressed his sincere pleasure in coming to Raleigh, and was most enthusiastic in his appreciation of the generous hospitality accorded him. He is coming back some day, he says, to make more friends in Raleigh.
