A PASSING HAIL.

Let us rest ourselves a bit! Worry?—wave your hand at it—Kiss your finger-tips and smile it farewell a little while.

Weary of the weary way, We have come from yesterday, Let us fret us not, instead, Of the weary way ahead.

Let us pause and catch our breath On the hither side of death— While we see the tender shoots Of the grasses—not the roots.

Voyage off, beneath the trees, O'er the fields enchanted seas, Where the lilies are our sails, And our sea-gulls, nightingales.

Where no wilder storm shall beat Than the wind that waves the wheat, And no tempest burst above The old laugh we used to love.

Lose all troubles—gain release, Langour, and exceeding peace, Cruising idly o'er the vast 'Calm mid-ocean of the Past.

Let us rest ourselves a bit! Worry?—wave your hand at it—Kiss your finger-tips and smile it farewell a little while.

WYATT-RENNIE.

Popular Young Business Man to Wed Norfolk Girl.

Invitations reading as follows have been issued: "Reverend and Mrs. Joseph Rennie request the honor of your presence at the marriage of their daughter Mary Christian to Mr. Robert J. Wyatt on the evening of Thursday, the twenty-fifth of January, one thousand nine hundred and twelve at six o'clock First Presbyterian Church Norfolk, Virginia.

The invitation will be read with much interest here, the groom-to-be being one of the city's most popular young business men, of the firm of Job P. Wyatt's Sons. He is the son of the late Mr. Job P. Wyatt, and a grandson of the late Col. W. H. Hicks. He is liked by a host of friends both in social and among the business men of the city.

The bride-elect is very pleasantly remembered here. She is a graduate of Peace Institute and while a student here made many friends in the city. She is an attractive young woman and an accomplished musician. She will be a welcome addition to the social life of the city. The young couple have the best wishes of many friends.

LITTLE-MARSH.

Prominent Raleigh Attorney Wins Bride From Union County.

Mr. J. Crawford Little, a prominent attorney of this city, who for the past week has been enjoying a honeymoon trip to northern cities, returned to Raleigh last night with his bride, who was Miss Alma Marsh, of Marshville, Union county. They are at home with Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Bivens on Fayetteville street. Mr. Little is one of the most popular members of the Raleigh bar who has made many friends here who will delight to welcome his bride. Among the men of the city, he is considered to be a "fine fellow." Mrs. Little is not unknown here for she is a graduate of Peace Institute, who made many friends here during her student days. She is a young woman of charm and culture. The wedding took place at Marshville, January the third, an account of which follows: The wedding of Miss Alma

Marsh and Mr. J. Crawford Little which occurred at Marshville Wednesday afternoon at the Presbyterian church at 5 o'clock was an event of unusual interest in this section of the state. Both the bride and groom are well known and prominently connected and their marriage marks an epoch in the social life of this community.

The neat little church was beautifully decorated in white and green, the pulpit being entirely hidden with banks of ferns and white carnations, and festoons of delicate smilax and Roman hyacinths were artistically hung above the altar, while the soft lights of candles and perfume of winter blossoms lent an exquisite beauty to the scene.

In spite of the cloudy weather the church was filled with friends and relatives of the young couple and as the appointed hour drew near the beautiful and appropriate song "Because" was sung by Miss E. E. Brown, after which the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march floated from the organ, rendered by the same lady, and the bridal procession entered, forming a semicircle around the altar, and making a promise of mutual grace and love. The party consisted of: Ushers: Messrs. W. H. Bivens, L. E. Higgins, W. E. McWhirer, and E. E. Marsh. Attendants: Miss Hattie McWhirer with Mr. Frank Ogden, of Raleigh, Miss Bessie Covington, of Laurinburg, with Mr. P. P. Springs, of Augusta, Ga., Miss Mary Ransom, of Georgia, with Mr. Jas. P. Marsh, and Miss Ruth Marsh with Mr. Ed. Crane. Honored maidens: Miss Rachel Pearsall, of Wilmington, and Miss Mary Marsh.

The bride entered with the dame of honor, Mrs. Rachel A. Sheppard, of Wilmington, and the groom with his best man, Dr. Burton J. Ray, of Raleigh. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Wm. D. Lee, of Charlotte, in his usual impressive manner, assisted by Rev. A. J. Lane, the bride's pastor. The appropriateness of Mr. Little's presence was understood by many, as his first work as minister of the gospel was with the church at this place, of which the bride's father was one of the ruling elders.

The bridesmaids wore dresses of light yellow messaline and carried bouquets of white carnations. The dame of honor wore a handsome gown of white eyelet lace with a bonnet of white ribbon.

The bride's costume was an exquisite creation of ivory white champagne and Duchess lace, pearls and the soft veil and orange blossoms made a fit setting for the fairness of her face. The only jewelry worn by the bride was the groom's gift, a handsome brooch of white pearls and diamonds.

Mrs. Little is the only daughter of Mrs. Irene Marsh and the late Jas. W. Marsh and is a rare type of noble southern womanhood. By her gentle disposition and girlish character she has made numerous friends, not only in her home vicinity, but in various places all over the south where she has visited.

A large number of beautiful presents were received, which express the good wishes of their many relatives and friends. Special mention may be made of the handsome chest of silver from the bride's mother and brother.

DIZEL-BAGWELL.

Pretty Home Wedding Last Night at 8:30.

A pretty home wedding took place at 8:30 last night at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Bagwell, on North Johnston street, when their beautiful and attractive daughter, Fannie Casper, and Mr. John Lester Dizel were united in marriage. Rev. C. J. Harrell performed the ceremony in the presence of a number of friends. The house was decorated in pinks and roses. The hall was filled with masses of flowers. In the next room was served an appetizing repast of green and white under which the bridal party stood.

Mrs. George Simpson rendered several selections appropriate to the occasion. The tender strains, uttered in words of love and consolation, were heard of course with special interest by the bride and groom, both wearing their respective robes of rose and light blue.

Edith's march was used. Mendelssohn's march was played softly during the recesses.

Mrs. Bagwell is a very popular society lady through her social set, and has a host of friends who wish her every joy and happiness. Mr. Dizel is a popular and energetic young business man, holding a responsible position with Johnson & Johnson Company.

Can Work Now

Even Her Washing

When a woman cannot do her house work, she is in a bad fix, and so is her family.

Many are unable, by reason of womanly ailments, weakness, etc., to do the work they would like to do, and some, like Mrs. Ocie Jett, of McMinnville, Tenn., are unable to do any work at all. In describing her condition, in a recent letter, Mrs. Jett says: "I had what the doctors called "inflammation," and was troubled with other womanly ailments.

I lay in bed 27 days, and although the doctor came every day, he did me no good. Finally, he advised a very serious operation, but I would not consent.

As I had often heard of Cardui, I decided to give it a trial. When I had taken two bottles, I was going about the house doing my work.

Now, I do it all, even my washing. I can truthfully say that I don't believe I would be living today, if it hadn't been for Cardui." How many women are there in this town,—who are in ill-health, as a result of womanly weakness?

They, all of them, You, if you are one, would be benefited by Cardui, the woman's tonic.

It will help the simple ailments, like headache, backache, irritability, nervousness, tired feeling, general weakness, etc., as well as the serious cases like the one which has just been described.

Won't you give Cardui a chance to help you?
