LOCAL BRIEFS.

—Prof. N. W. Walker of Chapel Hill was in the city today.

—Mr. E. J. Watson, commissioner of agriculture of South Carolina, will speak at the courthouse tomorrow at noon on the "Reduction of Cotton Acreage."

—Dr. J. Y. Joyner, state superintendent of public instruction, has returned from New York, where he attended a meeting of the Rockefeller Sanitation Commission.

—Judge H. G. Connor, of Wilson, will be in his office in the federal building Monday for the purpose of hearing motions or any other matters that may come before him.

—The friends of little T. B. Moseley, Jr., will be glad to hear of his successful operation last week at Rex Hospital by a specialist and his return home in greatly improved condition.

—Some improvements are being made at the courthouse. A vestibule door is being placed at the front entrance and two glasses have been put in the door leading into the court room.

—Mr. C. B. Bell, an instructor in chemistry in the A. and M. College, has been appointed second assistant food chemist to succeed Mr. Rogers B. Hall who resigned to take a position with the Dupont Powder Company at Wilmington, Del.

—A part of the Robinson circus, now in winter quarters at Henderson, will give a performance in the auditorium Saturday, February 10, matinee and night. Col. Chas. E. Johnson is at the head of the movement to bring the performers here.

—George Brooks, alias Church Brooks, was discharged from custody yesterday afternoon by Police Justice Watson. He was held for the recovery of $375 from Mr. L. J. Thompson, a farmer, but the evidence was not strong enough to bind over.

—A slot machine that looked very much like a gambling device was licensed by Sheriff Sears only after he had obtained a ruling from the attorney general on the subject. Mr. Hicks thought the law did not cover this machine and therefore ruled that it be licensed.

MRS. SANDERLIN DEAD

Mother of Mrs. Willis G. Briggs Passes at Age of 68 Years.

The burial services over the remains of Mrs. Eliza Wooten Sanderlin, whose death occurred at 3:29 o'clock last night at the home of her daughter, Mrs. W. G. Briggs, 217 West Edenton street, will be held at Oakwood cemetery tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock.

Mrs. Sanderlin had been ill for several months at the home of her daughter, with whom she was visiting, and her death was not unexpected. She was 68 years of age and a daughter of the late Council and Eliza Wooten of Lenoir county. She was the widow of Dr. Geo. W. Sanderlin, who was state auditor from 1888 to 1892. Her husband was deputy auditor of the interior under President Cleveland and Mrs. Sanderlin had resided in Washington since 1893. A woman of fine sense and character, a Christian, Mrs. Sanderlin had many friends in Raleigh and North Carolina and these will be pained to learn of her death. She was for fifty years a member of the Missionary Baptist church.

She leaves four daughters, Mrs. Willis G. Briggs, of Raleigh; Mrs. Franklin Reed, Miss Georgia and Miss Rosalie Sanderlin, of Washington, D. C., and one brother, Mr. Council S. Wooten, of Mt. Olive, who is now the only survivor of a family of twelve children. She was the aunt of State Superintendent of Public Instruction J. Y. Joyner.

THERE ARE TWO.

Frank M. King and T. Frank King Are Not in the Same Business.

Mr. Frank M. King, a popular salesman of the Cross & Linehan Company, says that some of his friends are under the impression that Mr. Davis referred to him last Sunday in giving the name of "Frank King" as one of the alleged liquor sellers. T. F. King is the person whose name Mr. Davis mentioned. The other King—Frank M.—says he hasn't been near a bottle of booze in three weeks.

WILL EXPLAIN THE ROCK HILL PLAN TOMORROW.

The Rock Hill plan for the reduction of cotton acreage will be explained here tomorrow by Mr. J. G. Anderson of Rock Hill, originator of the idea, and Col. Ebbie J. Watson, commissioner of agriculture of South Carolina. Colonel Watson has started out on an itinerary explaining this plan and he will go from Raleigh to Atlanta.

Mr. W. W. Croxton, traveling passenger agent of the Norfolk Southern, with headquarters in Norfolk, was in the city today.

MR. MADDRY AT APEX

Interesting Article About New Pastor at the Tabernacle.

Rev. Charles E. Maddry, pastor of the Tabernacle Baptist church at Raleigh, who conducted the funeral services over the remains of Mrs. J. W. F. Rogers at the Baptist church at Apex last week in such an able and impressive manner is, we found in conversation with him, a near Apex man.

He found two of his old friends here, Miss Maude Wilson, who was a member of his church at Statesville and Mr. C. K. Wooten who was reared in the same community with him and was a schoolmate.

Mr. Maddry said he was raised near Mt. Zion church in Orange county, of which the late Rev. Patrick Dowd, Rev. Johnson Olive and Rev. John C. Wilson were at different times pastor, and that each of these men whom he on reflection denominated as great men and great preachers had a most wholesome influence on his life.

He said the reading of the life and struggles of Rev. Johnson Olive more than anything else decided him to enter the ministry, as it seemed so much that was there recorded fitted his own view.

Here is a concrete example of the fact that the good that men do while living does not die with them, but lives on forever and ever.

Mr. Maddry is regarded in Raleigh as one of the ablest ministers that city has ever had. Talks with prominent and influential citizens of that city, both of his own denomination and others, show that he occupies a high place in its religious life.

We are proud that our chief city has recognized the worth of one of our own people in the great field which it occupies. There is no reason why "prophet should be without honor in his own country" and the tendency on the part of our big churches to go to other states to get their ministers shows either that we have not in the ministry from North Carolina the right kind of men or that our churches demands are not in keeping with the profession which their members make.—Apex Journal.
