Knees Became Stiff Five Years of Severe Rheumatism The cure of Henry J. Goldstein, 14 Barton Street, Boston, Mass., is another victory by Hood's Sarsaparilla. This great medicine has succeeded in many cases where others have utterly failed. Mr. Goldstein says: "I suffered from rheumatism five years, it kept me from business and caused excruciating pain. My knees would become as stiff as steel. I tried many medicines without relief. Then took Hood's Sarsaparilla, soon felt much better, and now consider myself entirely cured. I recommend Hood's." Get it today in usual liquid form or chocolate tablets called Sarsatabs.

Mr. August Belmont, the New York banker, has sent Mr. W. H. Bishop, engineer on Seaboard train, a check for $500, the being a recognition of the courage displayed by Mr. Bishop when that train and a wrecked street car, at a point in the city, were in his private car. Mr. Bishop was badly injured and is now in a hospital at Petersburg, but will soon be able to return to Raleigh. The letter of Mr. Belmont follows: 111 Broadway, New York, January 23, 1912. My Dear Mr. Bishop:—I learn from Vice President Hix that you are convalescing, and I am therefore writing to you to tell you how much I admire your courage at the time of the wreck of the Seaboard Air Line train No. 69 on which my private car "Methuen" was being hauled. We owe it to your courage in sticking to your post that there was not a great loss of life, and I am thankful that in doing so your own was not sacrificed. That you were not killed is a piece of good luck which I hope will follow you throughout your career. I sympathize deeply with you in your suffering, which must have been intense, but it will be a satisfaction for you to know that many of our people on the Seaboard express remember that I care. I am very glad for your health that you may have been spared to them, for this must be very desirable to you. I am sure you will be glad to see me when you return to Raleigh. Yours very truly, August Belmont.

LAST SERVICE OF MEETING

Great Meeting At the First Church Closed Last Night

The meetings Dr. McDaniel, pastor of the First Baptist church of this city, has been holding in the First Baptist church here came to a close with the service last night. These meetings have been unusual in many respects. Dr. O'Kelly, in a few words after the sermon, expressing the appreciation of the people of the church, said that there had been grace received beyond all expectation. The whole church has felt the impulse of the power that makes Dr. McDaniel the man and preacher that he is. We thank God for the plain gospel messages of such a spirit as he has proven himself to be. In counting the visible results of the series there have been a great number of professions of faith and requests for prayer, but best of all there have been fifty-seven who have sought admission to the church and have become candidates for baptism. In the words of Dr. O'Kelly it is for the members of the church to increase this number by continuing the personal work and thus coming over those who have come almost to the point of surrender during the meetings. After the sermon Dr. McDaniel said that these were happy and easy days that he had spent in Raleigh and that he had a high appreciation of the First Baptist church here. He extended an invitation for all to come to Richmond, where they would almost be at home there were so many North Carolinians in that city, and visit the First Baptist church there. It is truly with a sense of loss that we bid Dr. McDaniel good-bye. Even in the short span of ten days there has grown up for him a high regard both in his work in the church and personally. Those who had the pleasure of hearing his sermons, rich in what is purely religious, yet with that appeal that religion and the christian life are not things apart from us, but make up the very backbone of happy living, those who had this pleasure know something of the man he is. Those who had the pleasure of personal acquaintance and saw the man who lived as he suggested, who made all around him feel that here is the social man and christian gentleman, know in a richer and fuller sense what a blessing it is to have such a man among us. The text for the evening service was chosen from the thirteenth chapter of Proverbs, fifteenth verse. "But the way of the transgressor is hard." The subject was, "It is Hard to Go to Hell." The view commonly held by people in the world is that the christian has a hard time and that the non-christian has a good time. The opposite is true in the home, in the school and in the state. The christian has an easy time. "A day in thy court is worth a thousand." Those who keep the laws and abide by the rules are the ones who have the good times, and those who do not are the ones who receive the punishment. God does not send anybody to hell. Whoever goes there goes to a place and made for him but made for the devil and his angels. He goes there in spite of every promise up to the limit of preserving man's free moral agency. Man is a free moral agent and every one who goes to hell goes there in spite of the warnings of the Bible. All through the Bible are assurances that God does not will the destruction of man. Whoever goes to hell in this country goes there notwithstanding the teachings of the church. The Sabbath schools and the churches give instruction at all times that will save those who will listen. If you go down to destruction you will be lost despite the invitations of friends. There is not one in this audience who has not some friend who has manifested an interest in his salvation. If you are lost you are lost despite the pleading of the ministers. You have listened to the gospel as some ambassador of Christ pleads with you to give yourself to Jesus and have hardened your heart. If you go down in death and sin you will do so in spite of conscience. God has given us this faculty which distinguishes between right and wrong, which comforts us when we do right and smites us when we do wrong. Do you remember the first sin you ever committed? How something stung you? It was conscience. Something we call conscience will give us trouble as long as we do wrong. The way of the transgressor is hard. If you are lost it may be that you are lost notwithstanding the example of a christian father. If there is a father who is not a christian, how can he live one day with the responsibilities that are his and dare not to live a christian life before his children. If you go to hell you will

COL. HAMILTON His Experience in the Army as Well as in His Home.

COL. HAMILTON. GALLANT SPANISH-AMERICAN SOLDIER GIVES PRAISE TO PERUNA

Col. Arthur L. Hamilton, of the Seventh Ohio Volunteers, writes as follows: "I have used Peruna myself and in my family for the last seven years. I have already written you about the good results I experienced with your remedy during the Spanish-American War. My command used your Peruna during our service in the Spanish-American War, and I will say this, that if the War Department records are consulted, it will be found that the casualties in my regiment were less than in any other regiment of the Army Corps while at Camps Alger, Meade and Bushnell. The total deaths in my regiment during the seven months' service, were seven out of a total number of 1,100. I, of course, cannot help but think that Peruna certainly was a great benefit to my command."

Cold Settled on Lungs. Head and Nose. Mr. Samuel McKinley, 1215 Grand Ave., Kansas City, Mo., writes: "I do not know how to express my thanks to you for the good you have done me in treating me for catarrh. I was a great sufferer from the effects of chronic catarrh of the head and nose. I was continually hawking and spitting, and I had entirely lost my sense of smell. I had tried various remedies, but nothing did me any good. Last December I contracted a severe case, which, through neglect on my part, settled on my lungs. When almost on the verge of giving up, but without avail, until I heard of Peruna. It cured me, so I cannot praise it too highly."

LIVELY RUNAWAY IS ENDED SUDDENLY

Taken advantage of the morning fog, a runaway horse, while crossing a bridge, jumping over the railing and plunging into the water. The horse, jumping over the railing, landed in the water, and after several feet in the water, the spirited animal was apparently killed.
