THE DREAMS AHEAD.

What would we do in this world of ours.

Were it not for the dreams ahead? For thorns are mixed with the blooming flowers, No matter which path we tread.

And each of us has his golden goal, Stretching far into the years; And ever he climbs with a hopeful soul, With alternate smiles and tears.

That dream ahead is what holds him up, Through the storms of a ceaseless fight;

When his lips are pressed to the wormwood's cup, And clouds shut out the light,

To some it's a dream of high estate, To some it's a dream of wealth;

To some it's a dream of a truce with Fate, In a constant search for health.

To some it's a dream of home and wife, To some it's a dream of a crown above;

The dreams ahead are what make each life—

The dreams—and faith—and love!

—Edwin Carlisle Litsey, in the Houston Post.

WILL BASHFORD NOT "WHITE HOPE"—THE REASON WHY.

Patrolman Will Buck received a call Sunday night to the Primitive Baptist church. Upon response Mr. Buck found Will Bashford, who had imbibed too freely in alcohol. Evansville, Ind., March 18.—After wrangling for three hours the first district convention selected former United States Senator Hemenway and Charles F. Hellman, mayor of this city, as delegates to the Chicago convention. Both men are warm supporters of President Taft. The Taft men had carried every county in the district and after conceding all that the Roosevelt faction claimed, the delegates stood 63 1/2 for Taft and 31 1/2 for Roosevelt.

The Taft men offered several compromises to prevent a bolt, but they were all rejected. The Roosevelt leaders were then told that if they had orders to bolt regardless of fair treatment and wished to disrupt the party, there was nothing else to do but to go on with the convention.

The Roosevelt delegates left the hall in a body and held a rump convention at which Charles Finley Smith, a banker, of Evansville, and W. F. Adam, of Rockport, were selected as contesting delegates to Chicago.

FIRST INDIANA FOR TAFT.

Roosevelt Minority Bolts and Elects Contesting Delegates.

Evansville, Ind., March 18.—The creditors of Derrick Julius Wernher, son of Sir Julius Wernher, the South African magnate, had their first meeting before the official receiver today. The debtor said that he had been three years at Oxford until June, 1910, and that his college debts amounted to £25,000 ($125,000), which had been paid by his father, with the exception of about $60,000. Since June, 1910, he had amassed liabilities amounting to $400,000. In respect to money borrowed in Paris, extravagant living, racing and gambling, his losses totaled $125,000.

While he was at Oxford his father allowed him in 1908, $2,650; in 1909, $2,000 and the same amount in 1910. Since July last he had been in receipt of a voluntary allowance from his father of $413 a month. His father, about October, 1910, had published a notice in the English and French newspapers that he would no longer be responsible for his debts. He had owned six race-horses, which ran in the name of R. Desmond, but in August last he had sold them for $15,000.

His assets were said to comprise $40 in cash, jewelry worth $60, some oil shares, $25 in book debts, and $875 in doubtful debts. His creditors passed a resolution of bankruptcy and appointed trustees.

The case against Mr. J. H. Martin was tried and dismissed this morning by Justice S. L. Rotter. The trial was the outcome of a partnership formed between Mr. Martin and Mr. J. N. Stronach. Mr. Stronach claimed that Mr. Martin had collected some bills without reporting the money to him or giving him any share of it. The two were partners in the Raleigh Floral Co. The relationship was dissolved on February 19.

A message has been received in Raleigh from Leo Vernakes, stating that he reached Athens safe and sound and was then en route to Sparta. Leo's old home is near Thermopylae, the famous pass that Leonidas and his brave Spartan soldiers defended against the Persians. It was in honor of the great Spartan general that the jovial Leo Vernakes was named.
