About the City.
DR. HOFF ATTENDS LYCEUM.
Raleigh Chiropractor Enthusiastic Over Big Gathering in Iowa.
"Every State in the Union and nearly every foreign country was represented at the fifth annual Chiropractic Lyceum and home-coming of the chiropractors of the world at Davenport, Iowa," said Dr. H. T. Hoff, chiropractor, of this city, who has just returned from this great gathering of scientific healers. Continuing, he said:
"Fully 5,000 of the 15,000 chiropractors in the field were there, which will give you an idea of how rapidly this science is gaining ground. The Lyceum was wonderfully successful. It was a gathering of red-blooded men, and there was 'pep' and 'punch' in the meeting. Speeches and exchange of ideas showed that chiropractic was making rapid strides in all sections of the United States and other countries. Its wonderful successes have convinced hundreds of thousands of its immense value in restoring health, among these being leading physicians."

"The central figure of the Lyceum was Dr. B. J. Palmer, son of D. D. Palmer, founder of the science and of the Chiropractic College at Davenport. Dr. Palmer has been, and still is, one of the biggest factors in the development of the chiropractic science. Lieut. Gov. Howard, of Nebraska, who is a living witness of the benefits of the science, was also one of the big figures at the Lyceum, which lasted a week.
"Davenport was in gayest holiday attire. Bunting and flags fluttered from the hundreds of business houses and the people gave the visitors the warmest kind of a welcome.
"Visiting delegates and those who had attended former lyceums were unanimous in their opinion that the Lyceum this year far surpassed any previous one in point of attendance, program, features and other attractions. From a spectacular standpoint, the great parade was the outstanding feature of the week. Almost every State in the Union was represented in the series of handsome floats, and it was apparent that no expense either in time or money had been spared in creating them.
"An informal ball was another feature of particular interest. This was held in the great Coliseum. More than 3,500 persons, including delegates and friends, were present. The decorations were particularly beautiful, the school colors being used to advantage in streamers and banners, while the purple and white were also noted in the unique shades for the lights. American flags were also conspicuous in the appointments.
"A class of 273 students who had completed their allotted time and finished their courses were given their diplomas at the Palmer School of Chiropractic, and bid farewell to their alma mater. The commencement exercises were most interesting. The class motto was 'Tell the World.'
"Dr. Hoff feels strengthened and refreshed by his visit to the Lyceum, but expresses pleasure at being "back home."

POPULAR SALESMAN LEAVES RALEIGH

Ill Health Forces Mr. Holden to Seek Treatment by Noted Specialist.
The many friends of Mr. Lucien M. Holden will learn with sincere regret that he has been forced by ill health to resign his position as salesman for C. R. Boone, and left the city Wednesday for Hendersonville, where, following advice of his physician, he will enter Edgemont Tuberculosis Sanatorium to take a course of treatment under the noted specialist in pulmonary affections, Dr. William R. Kirk.
While Mr. Holden has been a resident of Raleigh only a few months, his honest and straight-forward manner of dealing with his fellow-men, combined with a strict code of morality and high ideals, have won for him a host of genuine friends, who hope his absence from among us will be of short duration, and that he may be able to return completely restored to health.

RETURNS TO RALEIGH.

Mr. D. M. Peddy, a linotype operator of no mean ability, has come back to Raleigh, and accepted a "sit" with Mr. M. J. Carroll, book and job printer.
Mr. Peddy has for the past year been living at Smithfield, Johnston County, but says he got tired of the country. The truth is that he couldn't stay away from Raleigh, so he pulled up stakes and came back. There's always plenty of work here for men of Peddy's class.

Newedd—"Did you run short of flour, Helen? The pie crust doesn't half cover the pie."
Mrs. Newedd—"I know, dear; your mother told me that you like your pie crust very short."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Mrs. Youngwife—"I want to get some salad."
Dealer—"Yes, ma'am. How many heads?"
Mrs. Youngwife—"Oh, goodness! I thought you took the heads off! I just want plain chicken salad."

UNION HERALD BUYS PRINTING OUTFIT
Hopes to Issue the Paper From Its Own Plant in the Near Future.

The owners of the Union Herald have just purchased a job printing outfit as a foundation for the complete plant which we hope to install in the near future. We are now arranging for the purchase of a linotype machine and other material necessary in the printing of a newspaper, and as soon as this part of the outfit is installed we expect to increase the size of The Herald to twelve, or possibly sixteen, pages.
The business people of Raleigh have been very liberal in the use of our advertising columns, and the union people have given us the glad hand by placing their names on our subscription list and otherwise boosting the paper as Labor's official mouthpiece in this section.

We have done our best, under very adverse conditions, to issue a readable paper, standing always for the rights of the laboring man in his fight for a fair share of the wealth he produces, and the very flattering comments which have come our way are evidence that we have to some extent succeeded.

With the installation of our own plant we shall work even harder than in the past to make the paper a power for the uplift of those who earn their bread by the sweat of their brow, and if success is the reward of effort, we have no fear for the future.

THE UNION MOVEMENT AMONG THE TEACHERS.

More Than a Hundred Locals Now Hold Charters Issued by the American Federation of Labor.

By Charles B. Stillman, President American Federation of Teachers.

The rapid growth of the American Federation of Teachers during the past year is exceedingly encouraging to all who appreciate the critical situation faced by our public schools. This national organization of classroom teachers, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, has increased five-fold in both number of locals and membership, now having issued over a hundred charters to locals representing every section of the country and all classes of public school teachers. An interesting recent development is its extension into the university and normal school fields, where ten charters have been issued.

Though there are several instances of controversies with reactionary school authorities, it is indicative of a wholesome trend of public opinion that in the great majority of cases boards of education and superintendents of schools welcome the new possibilities of closer contact and co-operation with the community opened up by the affiliation of the teachers with the American Federation of Teachers.

There is no space for a detailed account of the substantial achievements of the organized teachers, but, in brief, our locals in various sections of the country have been able to secure salary increases; important reforms in school administration, such as reduction in size and number of classes, and simplification and improvement in the methods of rating teachers; the election or appointment of progressive boards of education; and the enactment of such legislation as provisions for continuation schools, for free text books, for increases in school revenue, and for tenure of position.

And everywhere the teachers have found their most steadfast ally in labor, that great, organized body of parents which is determined that the children of all the people shall have a square educational deal. For labor realizes that the primary factor in the efficiency of the schools is the teacher; that the best of buildings and equipment, without competent teachers, is so much junk.

Teachers in the past have held themselves aloof from the economic and civic interests of the community, and had had little opportunity to develop a living sense of the duties and privileges of citizenship.

Neither, as a rule, have they had any democratic opportunity to give the schools the benefit of the initiative and experience gained in daily contact with the children in the school room.

Misgoverned cities are a testimony to the inevitable result, the failure of teachers to prepare their pupils for life under economic, social and civic conditions of which the teachers themselves have no intimate knowledge. Removal of these handicaps through affiliation with labor is a hopeful sign for the future.

Organized labor is giving every assistance in our movement to raise teachers' salaries, and to gain for the teacher a democratic voice in the conduct of the schools.

Until teaching offers a self-respecting living and self-respecting conditions of work, young men and women of ability and independent spirit will continue to refuse to prepare themselves for that calling, which is so essential to public welfare, and it will be increasingly difficult to retain experienced teachers in the service which has received such niggardly recognition from the public.

Labor's aid has been effective, not only locally, but nationally, as shown by the support given by the American Federation of Labor to the Smith-Towner bill, revised, which now, owing to the amendments to the original Smith bill made at the request of the American Federation of Labor and the American Federation of Teachers, provides Federal aid in increasing teachers' salaries, and absolutely safeguards State and local autonomy in school administration.

The teachers in the American Federation of Teachers, with their specialized training and experience, affiliated with and backed by the labor movement, the most powerful and progressive democratic force in our national life, and the force most vitally interested in equality of educational opportunity, are conducting a vigorous campaign to make education mean what it should mean in a democracy, a campaign that should enlist every forward-looking teacher, and secure the support of every friend of the schools.

The governess was giving little Tommy a grammar lesson the other day.

"An abstract noun," she said, "is the name of something which you can think of but not touch. Can you give me an example?"
"A red-hot poker."

The Girl—"Why did you take off your hat to me? You don't know me."
The Man—"No, but I think my brother does, and this is his hat."—Exchange.
