SPEECH OF

MR. LEACH, OF DAVIDSON.

On the resolutions introduced by Mr. Bridgers, of Franklin, concerning the North Carolina Rail Road.

MR. SPEAKER:—I must express my surprise at the motion of the gentleman from Orange, (Mr. Jones,) to lay these resolutions on the table; to be, I suppose, taken up again hereafter, at a later period of the Session. I hope the gentleman is prepared to vote for the motion of my friend from Surry, (Mr. McLean,) that they be indefinitely postponed. When I obtained the floor a few minutes ago, and moved their indefinite postponement, the motion at that time was, properly, ruled out of order. It is now made by my friend from Surry, (Mr. McLean,) and I am prepared to vote for it, after submitting to the House some of the reasons that influence me in doing so.

I know, Mr. Speaker, that there are many members on this floor, who desire that the resolutions should be laid on the table, that discussion may not spring up; while, I, as a humble member of this body, entertaining a different opinion, am unwilling, thus to give them the go by; am unwilling either to stifle discussion, or, to permit them to be longer postponed.

Sir, I regard the great scheme which it is the object of these resolutions to defeat, as one of the most important and absorbing questions that has ever come before the Legislature of North Carolina; and as such, it ought, in my opinion, to be met and discussed with all the fairness, calmness and consideration, that its importance demands.— Sir, when the other day the gentleman from Wayne, (Mr. Sherard,) introduced a Bill, to repeal the Charter of the North Carolina Rail Road Company; and when after an interesting discussion, in which I did not participate, that Bill was rejected, by so large a majority, I did sincerely hope that no farther hostility would be shown against this great measure, and in the pride and fulness of my heart, as a North Carolinian, and in the bright anticipation of the grand results of its completion, I wrote a number of letters to the anxious friends of the Road, that it had passed its fiery ordeal unscathed, that all was safe, that the Road would be built. But alas! sir, scarcely had the ink dried upon the paper, before the hydra head, that had been cut off the day before, again sprung up into new life, and another attack was made (by the introduction of the resolutions now under discussion,) more insidious, less fair, less open, less direct, and therefore, to me, more objectionable than the Bill for the repeal; and equally unfaithful to the past pledges of the State, and equally repudiative in their character.

In my opinion, these resolutions ought to have been rejected, immediately on their first reading. I think it was improper to allow them to lie on the table, with an order to print, and a day set apart for their discussion, thus giving character, and perhaps, some moral force, to resolutions that merit no countenance, no consideration at the hands of the General Assembly. But since they have assumed this imposing form, it seems to me, they should be met and exposed.

Although there would be no legal force in these resolutions, should they pass, nothing obligatory on the Stockholders, nothing to entitle them to the respectful consideration of the people of North Carolina; still, I am for one, for I do not assume to speak for others, prepared as a Stockholder to surrender the Charter; am ready to gratify the very modest request of the introducer of the resolutions and their friends on this floor.

For, Sir, if vested rights are to be thus trifled with and disregarded, if this road is to be thus crippled in the outset, by exciting prejudice against it, and lessening the value of the Stock, if corporate bodies, and chartered rights, in North Carolina, are to be no longer adhered to, and respected; if there be Members on this floor, who for party purposes, or sectional feeling, or for political capital, to be retailed out at home, are willing to record their names for these resolutions, I submit, sir, that the sooner the free-men of North Carolina know it the better; however deeply painful may be to them the reflection, that other States have grown great and prosperous by the adoption and successful completion, of just such schemes of Internal Improvement, as it is the object of these resolutions to stifle and destroy.

Sir, I would ask the gentleman from Franklin, (Mr. Bridgers,) if the passage of these resolutions will not be in effect, repudiation? Do not the resolutions ask the
