CENSUS—APPORTIONMENT.

The Raleigh Register considers it certain that our State will lose two members of Congress under the Apportionment of Representation to be fixed at the next Session of Congress. Though this was regarded as probable whilst it was believed that the increase of our population would not be more than about 50,000 to 75,000, yet we are now inclined to believe, that with an increase of about 120,000, we shall lose but one member. The Register assumes that the entire population of the United States will be 23,000,000, and that, to constitute a House of 233 members, the apportionment of population for each member will be 100,000. But the Register overlooked the fact, that of the 23,000,000, (even supposing the entire population to reach that, which we doubt,) there will be more than 3,000,000 of slaves, &c., of whom only three fifths will be counted as federal or representative population. This would reduce the 23,000,000 to perhaps 21,800,000 of Federal population. An apportionment of 100,000 to each member would therefore make the House consist of only 218 members. To make 233 members out of that Representative population, the apportionment should be fixed at 93,562. This will give North Carolina eight members, if her representative population prove to be, as it doubtless will, 740,000 to 750,000. Eight members, at 93,562 each, would require a Federal population of 748,496, just about the number our State will evidently have. But suppose our federal population should fall short of that, by 20, or 30,000, still our surplus over the number necessary for seven members would be so large as to entitle us to the eighth.

We think, however, that the population of the U. S. will be materially less than 23,000,000. In 1840 it was 17,069,453, and the general estimate is of an increase of 30 per cent. equal to 5,120,835; or 22,190,288.

The increase in our population, in 48 counties out of 79, is 67,844. The population in these counties is 480,889. The remainder of the counties have probably nearly 400,000.

(Fayetteville Observer.)

When Dr. Johnson courted Mrs. Porter, whom he afterwards married, he told her that he was of mean extraction, had no money, and that he had an uncle hanged. The lady, by way of reducing herself to an equality with the doctor, replied that she had no more money than himself; and that, though she had not a relative hanged, she had fifty who deserved hanging.

A London paper states that "it has been determined by the French ministry, apparently in view of the apprehended depreciation of gold in relation to silver, to propose to the Assembly an immediate abolition of the law making gold, equally with silver, a legal tender.

CONVIVIALITIES IN PRISON.—The prisoners in jail in Cincinnati were treated on Christmas day to a substantial dinner in the jail.

Speeches were made by the prisoners, and after dinner a number of dances were given by a colored boy. In the evening, a young man, one of the invited guests, attempted to have some sport with the thieves, when his watch suddenly disappeared. After he had complained about his loss some time, one of the thieves handed him his watch, coolly remarking, that he must be careful what company he keeps.

A certain genuine Deutscher in this city has distinguished himself of late years by very remarkable actions, but nothing richer than the following: Resolving to be divorced from his wife, he put the case into the hands of an eminent lawyer, and departed for the South, where he was absent for a year. On returning, he walked into the "legal den," and, with head bolt upright, gravely inquired, "How does it co mit ter divorce between me and mine wife?" "Why, really, Mein-herr, I haven't been able to do much during your absence, but now you're back, we'll go ahead." "Yaw; den be so goot as to inform me vot te expenses might have been ven de diforce will be concluded?" The man of law, after calculating and summing up the items, informed him that the "damage" would probably amount to two hundred and fifty dollars when the divorce should be obtained. "Very well, den," replied Mein-herr, "I would ask you, if to save de expenses, and spare de droables, it would not be best to squosh de whole proceedings—for mine wife is dead!"—Knickerbocker.
