GERMANY.

HAMBURG, AUGUST 12.

Accounts from Berlin, of the 9th nil. Rate, that the King of Pruffia gave a private audience of near tour hours, on the fame day, to his Envoy to Bonaparte, at Bruffels the Privy Councellor Lombard. who had retired to Berlin on the 8th. M. Lombard's million related not only to the terms on which Pruffia wilhed to prevail on Bonaparte 10 remove all obflacles to the free navigation of the Elbe and Weler, but alfo to other more momentous proposals. As to the latter, which chiefly relates to the future fate of the Electorate of Hanover, the Conful is faid to have rejected them, while to the evacuation of Lower Saxony by his troops, he gave his his affent, on condition of Malta's being first given up by the English, and a general armiftice by land and fea. Pruffia has promifed to make an overture on this subject to the Bruish Court, but very flight hopes are entertained of its being attended with fuccefs.

The Petersburgh letters of the 26th ult. flill give hopes of the ultimate fuccels of the Ruffian mediation; meanwhile the naval armaments in the ports of that empire are carried on with redoubled activity. What the object can be, remains a profound fecret; but the French government are certainly very buly in making reprelentations to the Ruffian Cabinet, to induce it to occupy the Sound with a confiderable fleet, to prevent a blockade on the part of Great-Britain. "Should fuch ablockade really take place,' fays a letter from Riga, of a very recent date, " it is certain that Ruffia would be compelled, with the other powers of the North, to make the French refpect neutrality of the Northern Continent, particularly that of Germany: this the more do, as Ruffia could not bear the confequences of fuch a blockade longer than three months, owing to its being fo overflocked with its own produce, and money in that country being extremely fcarce at prelent.

Lave the effet of prevent ng any fur her interruption of its internal tranquillity, and of convincing my loyal lutjects, in that part of the United Kingdom, that they may confidently rely on that protection to which they are fo justly entitled. In the midit of the deliberations, which were occasioned by the immediate exigency of the times, you have not been unmindful of other obj As, to which I had directed your attention ; and I have great fatisfaction in observing, that you have completed a lystem for confor lidating the duties; and regulating the collection and management of the leveral branches of the revenue; and that you have adopted measures which are calculated to afford mate rial accommodation to the mercan. tile part of the community, and extend the navigation and commerce of my dominions.

Gentlemen of the Houfe of Commons.

I return you my particular thanks for the liberality and readiness with which you have granted the fupplies for the public fervice.

It is painful to me to reflect, that the means of neceffary exertion can not be provided without a heavy preffure upon my faithful people; But I cannot Iufficiently applaud that wildom and fortitude which have led you to overlook confiderations of temporary convenier ce, for the purpole of preventing a large accumulation of debt during the continuation of the war. You may be affured that there shall be as Aria an attention to economy on my part as may be confiltent with those preparations and exertions which wift be beft calculated to fruftrate the defigns and weaken the power of the enemy, by whole arrogant pretenhons and reftlels ambition a lone thefe lacrifices have been ren. dered unavoidable.

My Lords, and Gentlemin.

I am fully perfuaded that, during the cellation of your Parliamentary Daties, you will continue to be actuated by the fame fpirit which has been uniformly difplayed in your councils. It will be your dury to affiit in carrying into effect those nealures which your witdom has matured for the defence ano fecurity of the realm; and particularly to give the most benchicial direction to that ardour and enthufialm in the caule of their country which animate all claifes of my peole. Juftly fenfible of the flate of preeminence, in which it has pleafed he Almighty to support us for f many ages, mong the nations of Eu rope, I rely with confidence, that, Hander the continuance of his Divine Protection, the exertions of my brave and loyal fubjects will prove to the enemy and to the world, that an attempt to fubvert the indeperdence, or impair the power of this United Kingdom, will termina e ir whom it may be made, and that my people will find an ample reward for all their facrifices, in an undifturbed enjoyment of that freedon. and lecurity, which by their patrio tilm and valour, they will have preterved and enfured to themfelves

11- and servers in Ireland, will, I truft, / feared a revolution at Paris, and the !! of Signal reltoration of Monarchy; and on the other, that his flay there as given out, was only a feint to deceive this country, whilft the preparations for invation were going on with increaled alacrity. A fhort per iod will decide to which of thele speculations most probability is to be attached.

Letters from the British squadron off Toulon, the 8th inft. politively affert that 80,000 additional French troops were marching into Italy and that the object of the French was afcertained to be to get pollef fion of the illand of Sandinia, and from thence to lend a force to E. gypt.

A Liverpool paper fays, " The interesting question will now fcarcely admit of a doubt, whether the Emperor of Ruffia takes the part of France or Great-Britain, fince we are affured, from undoubted authority, that letters have been received by our merchanes here, flating, tha the Trinity-House have given orders for pilots to proceed to the Sound to navigate the Ruffian fleei into a British harbour."

Marquis Cornwallis is to fet ou immediately for Ireland. He is to be invefted with a supreme and separate military command, independent of the lord lieutenant's and the ci. vil power. The featences of courts martial, and every thing connected with the military department, will be exclusively under his lordship's authority and control.

By a letter from Dover, it appears hat an attack has been made byfome four veilels on the enemy's armameatat Bolougne, and it sgenerally believed that a large proportion of their boats have been unfitted for fea.

Damourier is arrived in this country. We suppose Government have fuffered him to find an aiylum here. Hamburg and Altona Lot being very tecure praces of refidence for h m at prefent. Major-general Mooney has publifhed an addrefs to the deputy lieutenants and magistrates, and allo to the farmers &c. of the county of Norfolk. His great object is to imprefs them with a fenfe of our perilous fituation, and of the neceflity of immediately allociating, fubicribing and arming for the defence of this county, which he is of opinion is in more danger of being finvaded than any other part of England. He has not the least doubt of the intentions of the French, who, he observes, knows all the coalls as well as we do. To his knowledge, a plan of Yarmouth and all the environs, was fent to France by Semonville, who was leven or eight years there. His recommendations to the farmers. &c. are to put their fowling-pieces in order, to rin balls, to lay in a flock of por der, practice daily firing at ma ks, and to hold therafelves in readinefs to meet the foe.

A letter from Hamburg, dated July 29, fays, " A respectable merchant who arrived here this merning from Copenhagen, poliis sly flates, at his departure, a Rulfian fleet of 12 fail of the line, and eight frigates and fmaller vellels was then in light, fleering for Copenhagen Roads. This fleet it fuppofed is for the protection of the lound, which the French with to thus against the English, by occupying all the ports fituate on its fhores.
