"We have been engaged in this county in the trying of Negroes for poisoning the Whites, ever since Monday last. One suffered death at the stake (was burnt alive) on Saturday last, for poisoning her master, mistress, and two others; two more are under sentence of death, and are to be hanged on Wednesday next.
Thirteen are imprisoned under guard, a part of whom, from the evidence, I expect will suffer death, and we are daily making new discoveries. Some have been brought from Sampson, others from Johnston, so that the plot appears to have been a general one. It is said by some of the prisoners, that the head men are to be poisoned first, and the rest are to be subdued; and after detaining a sufficient number in slavery, the balance, if refractory, are to be put to death.
"We proceed this morning with the trials, and God only knows what the event will be. Six or eight Light Horsemen are continually on duty to bring up charged negroes, besides a strong guard of Infantry about the prisoners. What raised the first suspicions in this business, was the death of one or two of our respectable men." We understand that one of the persons poisoned was a Mr. Jernigan.

The British ship Margaret, Bowers, with slaves, from Nassau for Charleston, on her passage fell in with and engaged a large French privateer schooner of 14 guns. The action continued for three hours, in which time the privateer made three attempts to board, but was gallantly repulsed; and, after having her sails and rigging considerably injured, and a number of her men killed, she sheered off.
The Margaret, continuing her course, on Thursday night, off Tybee, fell in with another French privateer schooner, of smaller force to which she also gave battle, and after a smart action, beat off. In attempting to board the Margaret, the Captain of this last privateer was shot by Capt. Bowers, was observed to fall, and rising again, was carried below by the privateer-men. He was supposed to be mortally wounded. In the two actions the British had four men killed, and one mortally wounded, who is since dead. The ship is much shattered by the shot of the privateers, and her sails and rigging cut to pieces, she has put into Tybee for repairs.

A Liverpool paper of the 1st May, says, "Sir Francis Baring has retired from business, with a fortune, it is said, of upwards of 1,500,000l. leaving in the firm he had just quitted a most capital stock for continuing the business." Detroit in Ashes.
Canandaigua, June 25.
A letter from a gentleman of respectability at Buffalo Creek, dated the 20th instant, to his friend in this town, contains the following distressing intelligence:
"By the schooner Charlotte, Capt. Nihen, who arrived at Fort Erie yesterday, we are informed that the whole town of Detroit, is totally consumed by fire, not a single house in town left standing!"
"The fire, it is said, first made its appearance in a stable near the centre of the town, about 9 o'clock in the morning, and such was the rapidity of its ravages, that at 12 o'clock not one house remained.
The Citadel, which was rather detached, and in which were the Barracks, Officers' quarters and contractors' stores, was entirely consumed." Note. Detroit is the seat of Government of the Michigan Territory, and contained upwards of three hundred houses, but of wood, in a compact manner, and above 2000 inhabitants.

The Anniversary of American Independence, was celebrated at Edenton, with the usual solemnities. An oration adapted to the occasion, was delivered at the general applause and satisfaction by a large concourse of people, assembled to perpetuate the memory of that important day.—An elegant Dinner was provided at the Court-House, after which, the following toasts were drank:

1. The memorable 4th of July, 76—May its anniversary always find Americans pos-

occasion, was delivered at the Court-House—it was received with general applause and satisfaction
toasts were drank:

14. Education, the right of every human being, may communities feel their obligation to diffuse its blessings.—March.
15. Agriculture, Commerce, and Manufactures, the firm and indissoluble pillars of national prosperity.—How Sweet thro'out the world.
16. National honor, which consists in vindicting our own rights, and not in invading the rights of others.—General Wilkinson's March.
17. Freedom of conscience, of speech, and of the press. May it pierce the darkest regions with the radiance of truth, and truth only.—General Jackson's March.
18. The nations of the earth. Nature has made us her friend—time will make them ours.—Gen. Dearborn's March—Eas-trum and other drums.

After the above toasts were drank, the Heads of Departments retired, when the President gave the HEADS OF DEPARTMENTS.
After a rational enjoyment of the pleasures of the day, the company separated at an early hour, in perfect harmony and good will.
At sun set another grand salute from the Navy Yard closed the honors of the day.

The Anniversary of our national existence (says the National Intelligencer) was celebrated here with the usual demonstration of joy. At dawn the day was ushered in by a grand salute from the Artillery at the Arsenal. At eight o'clock the colors of the national vessels were raised amidst the firing at the Navy Yard. All the ships were dressed and presented a very handsome appearance. During the morning several detachments of militia in uniform paraded, and went thro' various evolutions. At noon another grand salute was fired from the Navy Yard. About this hour, company began to wait upon the President, and in the course of a short time his spacious rooms were filled with a numerous assemblage of ladies and gentlemen, including the officers of government, strangers of distinction and citizens, among whom refreshments were liberally distributed. The President received the congratulations of his fellow-citizens on the return of the anniversary of their liberties with the satisfaction which naturally flowed from a recollection of the interesting scenes through which his country had passed, from realizing in their full extent the blessings of self government, and a conscientiousness of his own agency in establishing and securing the national liberties. Every one present exhibited feelings of lively interest at the return of this great day amidst circumstances so honorable to the character, and so auspicious to the happiness of his country; feelings which were heightened by a powerful band of music, playing patriotic airs at short intervals. At one o'clock the militia passed in review before, and saluted the President. About two o'clock the company separated, and distributed themselves in parties arranged for the further celebration of the day.

After dinner the following toasts were drank, each followed by a discharge of artillery, & a patriotic air by the band, and the whole interspersed with songs.

Three PAPER MILLS have been established in Kentucky within the year past.
A Military School was opened in Canandaigua, New-York, on the 30th April, under the discipline of Gen. Athneal Taylor.
Books are opened in Lexington, (Ken.) for receiving subscriptions of shares, for opening a Canal at the Falls of Ohio.
A resolution has been come to at New-Orleans to establish a Protestant Church in that city.
A market has been lately opened at Stockholm, for the exchange of bone for solid meat, in proportion of four pounds of flesh, for twenty pounds of bone, which are afterwards dissolved into a digester, and converted into soap.

One of the religious society of Friends at St. Giles, in the South of France, sells annually twenty four hundred barrels of wine, the produce of his own ground. He has fifty yoke of oxen, sixty horses ten asses, and twenty-seven hundred sheep, eight hundred of which he milks twice a day; some of the milk he sells, and the remainder is made into butter and cheese, each ewe gives upon an average a half pint of milk a day, the care of those sheep employs about 20 shepherds and shepherdesses, whose business it is to milk them, to shear them in the season, to attend on the neighbouring mountain and house them at night, each shepherd has his dog which is so nicely trained as to take a great part of the care of managing the sheep off the master. This man employs one hundred people the whole year; and at the time of vintage about two hundred.

The Russians regard as their most interesting concerns, the conquest of that part of the Persian Empire which lies convenient for their trade. Ten years have given to the Russians a correct view of the trade to Persia from the able investigation of Pallas. The Persian trade had not been profitable. The tribute for the raw silk, especially in specie sent out of the country; the rents for the fisheries; the importation of raw and spun cotton & madder, and the galls which are not furnished from the few oak forests in their temperate southern climates. To these he adds that the manufactured goods, annually imported from Persia, may be reckoned at 100,000 rubles. Pallas then observes, that the Russians made slow advances in their exports. That Cochineal was the most considerable and most lucrative. From Astracan annually are exported a thousand pood, at 300 rubles a pood. Indigo was formerly a good article, but since some conquests in Mitan, it had been brought from Lehor to Persia and thence to Astracan. The exports in cloths may amount to 150,000 rubles, velvet from 15 to 20,000 and other articles to 20,000 rubles. Sugar is exported to the value of 20,000 rubles. He then observes, "As the balance thereof, to trade with Persia is against us, it is worthy of investigation in what manner our commercial intercourse could be rendered, if not profitable, at least less detrimental to the interests of the empire, and in my opinion we possess the means of effecting that desirable purpose."
