MONTICELLO, OCT. 12, 1823.

DEAR SIR : I do not write with the case which your letter of September 18, suppo-Crippled wrists and fingers make writing slow and laborious ; but, while writing to you, I lose the sense of these things, in the recollection of ancient times, when youth and by a year and a half; and that he possessed tives of Congress & the State Legislahealth made happiness out of every thing .-I forget for a while the hoary winter of age, with whom he was associated as a member fure, and to the Democratic Republiwhen we can think of nothing but how to f the Faculty. keep ourselves warm, and how to get rid of He is recommended without reserve to al our heavy hours until the friendly hand of with whom he may have business or social death shall rid us of all at once. Against intercourse. this tedium vitz, however, I am fortunately mounted on a hobby, which indeed I could have better managed some 30 or 40 years ago, but whose easy amble is still sufficient to give exercise and amusement to an Octogenary nder. This is the establishment of an University, on a scale more comprehensive, and in a country more healthy and central, than our old William and Mary, which these obstacles have long kept in a state of langour & inefficiency. But the tardiness with which such works proceed, may render it doubtful, whether I shall live to see it go into action. Putting aside these things, however, for the resent, I write this letter as due to a friendhip coeval with our government, an snow at tempted to be poisoned, when too late in life to be replaced by new affections. I had for some time past observed in the public papers dark hints and mysterious inuendos of a correspondence of yours with a friend to whom you ad opened your bosom without reserve, and which was to be made public by that friend or his representative ; and now is said to be actually published. It has not yet reached us but extracts have been given, and such a seemed most likely to draw a curtain of separation between you and myself. Were there no other motive than that of indignation aainst the author of this outrage on private onfidence, whose shaft seems to have been med at yourself morelparticularly; this would make it the duty of every honorable mind to disappoint that aim, by opposing to its im-pression a seven-fold shield of apathy and inensibility. With me, however, no such armor is needed. The circumstances of the imes in which we have happened to live, and the partiality of our friends at a particular pe-riod, placed us in a state of apparent opposition, which some might suppose to be person-al : and there might not be wanting those who wished to make it so, by filling our ears with malignant falsehoods ; by dressing up 1 ideous phantoms of their own creation, presenting them to you under my name, to me under your's, and endeavoring to instil into our minds, things concerning each other the most destitute of truth, And if there had been at any time a moment when we were off our guard, and in a temper to let the whispers of these people make us forget what we had known of each other for so many year,-and years of so much trial-yet all men who have attended to the workings of the human mind, who have seen the false colors under which passion sometimes dresses the actions and mo- JACOB, between 25 and 30 years old, stout ves of others, have seen also, these passions built, dark complected ; says he belongs to subsiding with time and reflection, dissipating John Foster of the High Hills of Santee, S. like mists before the rising sun, and restoring Carolina.
