RALEIGH REGISTER.

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 5, 1824.

The Editors of the Star attribute the misstatement with which we charged them in a former paper, in relation to the number of votes improperly taken for the several Candidates for the Presidency at the late Review in this City, to the blunder of one of their compositors. This may have been the case, but it was a blunder which they ought to have corrected, and which had they done, would have saved our remarks upon it.

After noticing the correction made in our last Register, making it the 2d instead of the 1st Regiment in which no vote was taken, all the Editors of the Star have said respecting our statement will be without foundation. We protest, however, against the practice which has been resorted to on this and similar occasions, by officers of the Militia, to promote electioneering purposes. When the militia of the country are called out, it is for discipline, and not to subvert the views of their officers in advancing the interests of their favorite candidate for office. We hope, therefore, the practice will be discontinued as unseemly and improper.

We have no objection to the preference which the Editors of the Star (or their new auxiliary, in whom we recognize the style of a quondam friend) give to the National Journal, though we cannot join them in this preference—believing, as we do, that the paper was established by the Secretary of State for the purpose of promoting his own election to the Presidency; nor do we believe that the people of the U. States will ever countenance a paper thus established, or unite in the support of a candidate for the Presidency who will condescend to such means for effecting his object.

As to the abuse cast upon the senior Editor of the Register, and others, because they were not born on this side of the Atlantic, we shall only say, what we have heretofore said whenever this state objection has been urged: that the senior Editor of this paper came hither to enjoy the blessings of freedom; that for nearly thirty years past he has been engaged in publishing a paper which has uniformly supported Republican principles and liberal sentiments, against such as have favored a more expensive and aristocratic system, and that, as long as life and health are spared him, in conjunction with the junior Editor, who is NATIVE BORN, he means not to relax in the labours of his vocation.

BUSY-BODIES.—Some member of this tribe has written to the Editor of the Journal Paper at Washington, stating that the letter which has recently been published in the National Intelligencer, wherein the members elect of the Legislature of this State, are represented as being "almost to a man in favor of Mr. Crawford," was written by the Editors of the Register. Had it not been transferred from the columns of the Journal, we should have deemed any notice of it unnecessary; but as the intimation has been copied into nearly all the opposition papers, we think it right to state, we neither wrote nor know who did write the letter in question. We take this occasion to say, that though we cannot believe the members, "are to a man for Mr. Crawford," we entertain no doubt he will have a majority in the approaching Legislature over all the other candidates united.

CAUCUSES.—The friends of General Jackson and Mr. Adams condemn the Caucus nomination of Mr. Crawford; and yet each of these gentlemen have been recommended to the people of the United States, by Caucuses of their respective Legislatures. It would appear, therefore, that they do not object to a Caucus when it will serve them—Their great objection to the Caucus at Washington arose from their knowledge that neither of them could obtain a majority of its votes. The real object of a Caucus at Washington we have always believed, is to ascertain which is the most popular Presidential candidate, for the information of the people at large: and when they know this, they are left to act upon it as they judge proper. But for a course of this kind, the Republicans would, probably, never have elected Mr. Jefferson; and when they abandon it, it is feared they will lose the preponderance in the government of the union which they then obtained.

Nothing can be more unfair than that the friends of the People's Ticket (as it is miscalled) should charge the friends of Mr. Crawford with attempting to divide the friends of Gen. Jackson and Mr. Adams. They have taken no step to effect this end. Such a division was first proposed, as we believe, at a meeting of the friends of Mr. Adams in Cabarrus County. The supporters of the nomination at Washington have no desire to interfere with the proceedings of those who have thought proper to shape out to themselves a different course; they are willing they should follow it unmolested. They are still of opinion, however, that when these gentlemen shall have exerted themselves to the utmost (whether they run their Candidates together or separately) the ticket for Mr. Crawford will obtain a majority of the votes of this state, for, notwithstanding all that Gen. Jackson's friends may say to the contrary, they cannot help believing that many of Mr. Adams's friends, seeing that they cannot elect him, will prefer Mr. Crawford to Gen. Jackson for President.

DESPONDENCY.—We are concerned to state that Col. W. L. Hays of Chatham county, a few days ago, in a fit of despondency, terminated his existence. He had lately lost his wife, and it would seem was not possessed of sufficient christian fortitude to bear the bereavement.

A friend of the Editors, in the Western part of the State, writes to them as follows:

"The western section of this State and the contiguous parts of South-Carolina and Tennessee have suffered immense losses from the late fresh. The rain was accompanied by a violent gale of wind, which prostrated every thing in the fields that the water did not inundate. The fine stone bridge over the Saluda, on the South-Carolina State Road, the noblest work of the kind in the Southern States, was entirely swept away. I am told that the Catawba in this State, and Chucky in Tennessee, rose to the height of twenty-five feet above their ordinary level, being a greater height than the great fresh of 1795. The waters too, subsided much more slowly than at that time, and are consequently followed with much more ruinous consequences."

The old favorite iron-side frigate, Constitution, Com. Macdonough, is to sail in a few days for the Mediterranean. Her appearance, says a New-York paper, is not exceeded by any frigate of the Navy; and although she is twenty-seven years old, is perfectly sound.

MISSOURI.—It is at length ascertained that John Scott is re-elected the Representative in Congress from this State, by a majority of four or five hundred votes over Mr. Strother. The election of Mr. Bates as Governor has been already mentioned. His majority was about 1500 votes.

SPLENDID CATHEDRAL.—A Catholic Church is erecting in Montreal, to be of the length of 255 feet, by 134 broad. It is to have six towers, 300 feet in height, twelve entrances, and seven altars. The corner stone was recently laid under a discharge of artillery. This is a new mode of consecration; and probably may be intended to indicate the execution which the canons of the Church cannot fail to effect from so powerful a battery.

AMERICAN MANUFACTURES.—The calicoes manufactured in the State of Maryland, through every process from the raw material to the finished article, are acknowledged to be vastly superior to those imported, not only in the brilliancy and durability of the colors, but in the quality of the cloth. The Baltimore American says, it requires no uncommon share of foresight to see, that a short time only will elapse before these calicoes will form a new and valuable article of export from our city, and that, wherever they are known, they must be preferred over all imported goods of like description.

It is stated, that the inhabitants of Baltimore have determined to erect a marble monument in honor of General Lafayette, which is to contain, among other things, an account of the battle of Brandywine, in which he was wounded in our cause. There are already two elegant monuments erected in that city; one for Washington, and the other commemorative of the battle of Baltimore, during the late war, in which Gen. Ross was killed; this will add a third, and will be equal in all respects, to the other two.

National Advocate.—We learn that the General Committee has passed Resolutions expressive of their confidence in the fidelity and capacity of Mr. Noah and recommending him to resume the editorial concerns of the old Advocate, all obstructions to the free and independent exercise of his rights being removed. In compliance with their wishes, Mr. Noah has recommenced his editorial functions, on which event we may truly congratulate his readers.

Emigrants to Hayti.—We learn by the Freeman's Journal, that the ship James M. sailed from Philadelphia on Sunday last for Cape Haytien, with about 200 coloured people. This is the second vessel that citizen Granville has despatched from that port; it is probable a third will sail the last of this week.

The New-York Evening Post gives the following account of a ludicrous circumstance, which happened at New-Jersey, on Lafayette's jaunt up the North-River. The patience of the assembled multitude was worn out by the protracted delay of the General's appearance, and on the boat's touching the wharf, they rushed in mass to take possession of him bodily. Unluckily they happened to come in contact first with Col. Platt, a veteran officer of the revolution, who accompanied him, dressed for the occasion in an old regimental coat, which hung about him like a shirt, reaching to his shoes, and with buttons as big as saucers; him they immediately laid hold of, pulling and hauling by the sleeves, arms and elbows; in vain he exclaimed and bawled aloud "I am not the Marquis." They could not hear, they could only see his dress, & they took it for the dress of the old French court, nor was it till Fayette himself was able to make his way to them, after much difficulty, that they were convinced of their error.

Messrs. Gales & Son: The period for electing electors to vote for President and Vice-President of the United States is rapidly approaching. I have the pleasure to inform you that the Crawford Ticket will do well.

Many of the warm friends of Gen. Jackson have alienated from him, and have pledged themselves to support Mr. Crawford. As for Adams little is said of him in Orange. It is hoped that when the people come to the polls to vote, they will remember Gen. Jackson's vote on the Tariff. They should farther recollect, that Mr. Crawford is the Southern candidate, and that he has risen to great eminence by his own exertions.
