

FOREIGN NEWS.

LATE FROM ENGLAND.

The packet ship New York, arrived at New York from Liverpool, has brought English papers to the 1st ult. They furnish no positive information of importance. The French Journals of the 27th Sept. contain accounts of an attack made by the Turks on the Isle of Samos, which proved eminently disastrous to the Turkish force. Letters of the same purport had been received in London from Leghorn, but doubts of the authenticity of the intelligence were suggested. A conspiracy is said to have been discovered in the Morea, organized by foreigners, the object of which was to co-operate with the Pacha of Egypt in his threatened descent. We annex some of the Parisian articles.

OFFICIAL NEWS FROM GREECE.

Navarin, (in the Morea) Aug. 31. The Ottoman fleet has effected a landing at Samos. The Greek fleet, commanded by Mihalios Vocos, arrived at the same time—a furious battle followed—the Greeks were victorious. The Turks lost one line of battleship, 3 frigates and 30 gun boats, which were either wrecked or destroyed by the Greek fire ships. All the Turks who were landed were put to the sword. A conspiracy has been discovered here, organized by certain foreigners who are at Calamata, waiting the Egyptian squadron. The garrison of Navarin has in consequence been reinforced, and posts are established to set fire to all the villages at the first signal of danger from the Turks. Before long, also, we shall know what we have to hope or fear from the Egyptians.

A Turkish corps had advanced to Athens, but found the Acropolis strongly garrisoned by the Greeks.

The Spassker Derwisch Pacha had not been more fortunate than his predecessors, he has lost almost all his army in attempting to force the passage of the Thermopylae.

Letters from Alexandria communicate the important intelligence, that the far famed Egyptian expedition had sailed against Greece from that port on the 17th of July. It is stated to consist of 15,000 infantry, and 2,000 cavalry. It had not appeared, however, on the shores of any part of the Continent of Greece previous to the 31st of August, and it is, therefore, not impossible that it is stationary at Rhodes or Candia, until the season for active operations shall have passed away.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 26.

The Captain Pacha has at length directed his course for Samos. The Greek fleet, which kept him in view all the time, has taken it, it is said, twenty of his transports, and two thousand troops. It is said that he has effected a landing at Samos, but as yet there is no official news. The Samians, who desire to unite the Ionians, have destroyed every thing on the coast, and have now retreated to the mountains, so that it will require great sacrifices to conquer the islands. News of great importance is expected every hour. From Negropont, it is said 6,000 Turks advanced to Athens, but they found the Acropolis occupied by the Greeks. The Schacker appears as unfortunate as his predecessors, for almost all his army has perished in the straits of Thermopylae. The efforts made by the Ottoman Porte this year will not produce the expected result—that of reducing the insurgents to entire submission. The internal state of the empire is as much a subject of uneasiness to the Porte as the continuation of the contest with the Greeks. The Sultan seems threatened with the greatest danger. The Janissaries murdered, were discontented, and demanded the removal of their Aga. It was necessary to comply instantly with their demand. On the 20th placards were fixed up, threatening the Sultan with death, and demanding his eldest son should be shown to the people, and should accompany him to the Mosque. The youth is eleven years of age.

The Janissaries say that the young Prince is in a good state of health, but the Sultan says he is troubled with epilepsy, and as they appeared convinced after having seen him, they were the authors of these placards. As the Sultan acquiesced in the Janissaries demands, this proves that he does not believe himself in safety. At the same time the artificers of the dock-yard revolted, and also required that their Aga should be dismissed, which was granted them. When to these facts is added a prediction spread abroad by design, to announce that this year is to decide the fate of the Ottoman Government, you will easily judge of the state of uneasiness in this capital. Fortunately the relations of the Divan with foreign powers are in the best state. Lord Stratford has received from St. Petersburg an assurance that his conduct has been quite satisfactory. M. Ottenfels continues to exert himself to obtain the evacuation of the principal cities, and apparently he has succeeded, though the result is not in accordance with the Russian Ultimatum.

The accession of the new French King Charles Xth, has been hailed in France with the usual acclamations. He has made appointments which argue the confidence of the ministry left in power by Louis XVIIIth. The Duke d'Angoulême, presumptive heir to the crown, has been taken into the council of state.

NORTH-CAROLINA.

FRANKLIN COUNTY.

October Term, 1824.

The Grand Jurors for the county aforesaid, viewing themselves as bound by their oaths, to take notice of all things tending to public injury, feel themselves bound to present, as a general and public nuisance and serious grievance, the custom, now too generally prevalent, especially in their county, of the meeting together of slaves on Sabbath and at other times, and places, called Stands, under pretence of holding public worship. Evidence, irrefragable and conclusive, has convinced the Grand Jury, that while pure motives have influenced some few of our slaves to attend these meetings, by far the greater part meet for purposes demoralising to themselves, injurious to their owners and detrimental to the public. That at these places our negroes get drunk, indulge in gambling, make a mart of articles stolen, and in the course of this selling, stealing, gambling and drinking, resort is frequently made to fighting, where butcher knives, blades and other unlawful weapons are so dextrously used, that thereby many receive serious injury. We, therefore, consider these stands as a public nuisance; nor can we refrain from an expression of disapprobation towards those who permit these stands and public conventions of blacks on their lands. We would not be understood, in the least possible degree, as opposing vital religion among our slaves, convinced as we are, that where true religion is, whether in the bond or free, there, there is a better man. But we do note, that where these stands are erected we rarely find persons of colour at the neighboring places of divine worship, while at these stands, negroes attend from twenty and thirty miles. From these views of the subject, we unhesitatingly say, that if a man of public duty be not sufficient to restrain individuals from permitting these stands, and public resorts of our slaves on their lands, Legislative interference ought to suppress them.

TAKEN UP.

AND committed to the Jail of Stokes County on the 10th ult. a Mulatto man; who sometimes says his name is Daniel and belongs to John Billips in Lenoir County, Virginia, and at other times he says his name is Daniel Stion, and is a free man. But on his examination before the Justice of the Peace who committed him, he said he was a slave, and belonged to John Smith of New York. It appears to be impossible to make him tell the truth as he tells different tales every time he is examined. He says it has been five years since he ran away. He is about 27 years of age, 6 feet 1 inch high, his ears are cut off close to his head, which he says were done by a Sheriff in Missouri, but will not tell particularly for what offence. He can write a tolerably good hand, and has a valuable look. The owner is requested to come forward, prove property, pay charges and take him away; otherwise he will be dealt with according to law. JESSE BANNER, Jailer. Germantown, July 7th, 1824. 71-8w
