TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 16, 1824.

The 3d Monday in November being the day fixed by law for the annual meeting of our General Assembly, a majority of both Houses yesterday convened. The Senate re-elected BART KETT YANGEY, Esq. their Speaker, without opposition; and the House of Commons, ALER D MOORE, Esquire, without opposition

The Chamit Court of the United States or this district, commenced its term in this city, on Friday last. Chief Justice Marshall and Judge Potter were present. There being very little business before the Court; it adjourned the Adams and of Mr. Clay had failedfollowing day.

Election for Electors .- We have received returns from the following ty; but in all, we believe, the result Mr. Crawford, admitted to be decidedmay be considered as correct. From our remote counties we have not yet heard, the Members of Assembly from course to be pursued. In the mean the morning of the day of election .-From all we can learn on the subject. the majority will be small for either on Tuesday, it is probable the Elecwith certainty on which side it will be. Of course, both feel great solicitude, until complete returns are received. We shall probably in our next paper be able to state the result. At present Mr. CRAWFORD has a majority of 2658.

A few evenings since, an inhabitant of a neighboring village, returning from an excursion to Bellows Falls, Vermont, and happened to be v no cinque ravotus. (in English, with his skin full of gin,) fell fast asleep in his chaise. While enjoying nature's sweet balm, his horse attempting to turn, backed the wheels off one side of a bridge twenty feet high. But mark how fortune favors the sleepy !- The chaise lodged in the top of a young hemlock that stood by the bridge: the faithful steed maintained his ground; and our hero's slumbers were not disturbed till morning, when he clambered carefully out of his leafy couch, and called the nearest neighbours to help him to get his chaise out of the tree top.

A very serious accident lately occurred at a weaving factory in Ireland. A young woman, while in the act of combing her hair, had the end of it caught by a shaft turning furiously round: the whole head was instantly uncovered and the skin and hairy scalp turned round with the machinery; the skin covering the brow, eyelids, ears, cheek bones, was also torn off; the poor girl screamed, and Mr. John M'Arthur, tenter master, who was in the flat below, with the great presence of mind, instead of running to see what was the cause of the outcry, instantly Dewitt Clinton is elected Governor stopped fine engine. The poor girl however was never off her feet. Mr. James Smith, surgeon, in Bridgeton, was instantly sent for; in the mean time Mr. M'Arthur put the scalp and covering of the upper part of the face into a drawer. On the arrival of the surgeon about twenty minutes after the accident, Mr. Smith replaced the scalp and the other torn portions, and dressed the head .- Under the superintendence of Mr. M'Arthur, the greatest questions, and of all interesting debates on in good order was preserved, and the surgeon was thereby enabled to proceed as regularly as if he had been in an hospital. The greatest attention was paid to the unfortunate sufferer, and she was subsequently sent to the Royal Infir mary. On Wednesday night she was calm and perhaps much better than might have been expected. -The head had not been undressed yet; but the edges of the wound on the face, ears, eye and neck, have become swollen slightly and inflamed; indicating, it is presumable, its adhering or growing transmission beyond the limits of the city. together. A CCORDING to an intimation heretofore given, there will be published at this Office, during the next Session of Congress, and, if encouraged by the approbation of the Public, at every Session thereafter, a RE GISTER OF DEBATES IN CONGRESS, intended to comprehend a more full Report of the Speeches on topics of general interest; in each House of Congress, than has ever heretofore been published, or than can be given to the public through the orcinary and limited channel, the columns of a newspaper. This compilation will be of the most authentic cast, printed with great regard to accura-cy, and in a form for durable preservation-to substitute or supersede the Reports of Debates for the National Intelligencer, but rather, by withdrawing the heavy and encended Reports from its columns, to enable the Proprietors of that Journal to furnish, every day, in a comprehensive form, intelligible Reports of the Proceedings and Discussions on the day preceding in both Houses.

The "Register" is necessarily an experiment, but it is an experiment the success one who takes an interest in our political history, as well as all those who engage in the duties of political life, must have felt and lamented the want of a Record of Debates in es which might lead the inquirer to any object debated, and to the name of any one who engaged in debate. Such a work would be an elementay book for young politicians, and we have no hesitation in asserting that the possession of such a one, from the commencement of the existing government to this day, would be of immense value to the nation, were it only to show what has heretofore been said upon questions which are contimually recurring for discussion, and producing needless consumption of time by superfluous debate. What is true of the years that have passed, will, as soon as they are gone, be equally true of those in which we

It is not only, therefore, as a vehicle of present information, but also as a book for future reference-as a National Political Repository and Text-Book, that we hope this work will be both useful and popular.

From the lowness of the subscription to the work, it will be seen that it is no part of our calculation to realize any present profit from it. On the contrary, we shall, in all Court of Pleas and Quarter Sessions, Sep probability, lose money by it for a year or two, hoping that thereafter its established character will ensure it a sufficient patronage to make it profitable.

GALES & SEATON. CONDITIONS.

The publication of GALES & SEATON'S REGISTER OF DEBATES IN CONGRESS will commence as soon as the Debates at each successive Session of Congress shall afford materials to till a half sheet, (8 pages.)

The work will be printed in the octavo form, on a super-royal paper, made for the purpose, and on a brevier type, in doubie columns-each page comprising nearly a much matter as one of the columns of the National Intelligencer.

It will contain as full and accurate Report as can be obtained of all debates on main cidental questions; with an Appendix, con taining a list of the Hembers of each House the Yeas and Nays in each House on questions which have been the subject of Debate, such documents counceted, with the subjects of Debate, as may deemed essential to enable the reader to comprehend them, and proper indexes to the whole.

The Debates of the next Session, it is computed, will, with the Appendix, make a volume of five hundred pages, at least, and will be furnished to subscribers, through the Post Office, in sheets, as published, (or reserved at this office, at the subscriber's option,) at THREE DOLLARS for the volume, be it more or

The Debates of the Session of Congress following the next, and of the first Session of every Congress, will, it is supposed, fill ab ut 1000 pages, or perhaps more, making one very large volume, or two of a handsome sizethe first session of each Congress being nearly double the duration of the second. Stop the Villain.

On Tuesday night last, Narnas G. Busztt of Edgecomb county, eleped from his neighborhood, and as I have sufficient reason to believe, enticed away my daughter, one of my negroes and four other negroes from an orphan child. This fiend in human form, has left destitute wife and four helpless chilless, to be paid in advance in all cases of dren, and repaid the many benefits I had conferred upon him by decoying my child.

The negro belonging to me, is named At. without regard to any particular days, as the carband; be is a low thick-set fellow, about publication must of course be regulated by 24 years of age, and will weigh about 160 the preparation of the matter of which it is lbs. The wife and three children of the negro, lived with Mr. Thomas Boon of Edgecombe County, and was no doubt coaxed away by said Brazil. The woman's name is Nicey, and her children are called Jarman, Clarissa, and Henry. The oldest boy Jarman, has a mark on the left side of his neck occasioned by a burn, which may lead to a detection. All three of the children are yellow complected, as is the case with the mother. BRAZIL is nearly 30 years of age, with grey eyes, sandy hair inclined to curl, speaks in a fierce tone of voice, and is of slender statue. It is the interest as well as duty, of every virtuous member of society to aid in the apprehension of this consummate villain. To those who themselves have children, I need urge no stimulus to assist in restoring an innocent. though deluted young creature to the bosom of her family. I will give a reward of ONE HUNDRED DOL. LARS for the apprehension or confinement in jail of said Brazil and negroes. Letters to me, may be sent to Rocky Mount Post Office,
