The following voluntary certificates are proofs of their singular and superior efficacy.

CERTIFICATE.
This may certify that I, Gen. Jas. Whitelaw, of Beaufort, (N.C.) have a daughter, who has been from her youth to the age of 20 years, severely afflicted with the salt rheum, and after having tried many medicines to no effect, was induced to make trial of "Dr. Reef's Botanical Drops," prepared by W. T. Conway, which, after administering three bottles, completed a cure, and she has not been troubled with the complaint since.

JAMES WHITEAW.
Montpelier, March 6, 1816.

The following letter from the mother of an infant is truly interesting to the afflicted.

W. T. CONWAY,
Respected Sir—Agreeable to your request, I would inform you, that my son is now 8 years old, his health as follows—He has been sick 3 years; 18 months since, when informed of Dr. Reef's Botanical Drops and Pills, he then had not the use of his arms; one leg almost crippled; his drooping out of place; his thigh swelled up and broke in 5 places; arms in the mean time swelled up and broke in 12 places; many of the sores were down to the bone for one year; he had no use of the joints—but now has the use of both arms, sores all well but three, he now appears to be getting well very fast. Many said it was impossible that he could get well. Others say it seems like raising one from the dead. I must ever remain a sincere friend and well wisher to you who have shewn so much kindness to my son.

SALISBURY ACADEMY.

THE Examination of the Students in this Institution took place on the 30th of June, and resulted entirely to the satisfaction of the Trustees and of many Ladies and Gentlemen who attended. The Scholars in Latin, and Greek, gave the best proofs that they have not been taught the languages superficially, but with much accuracy, and great regard to first principles. The same may be said of every other Branch, but more particularly of the Class in English Grammar. The critical examination and rapid progress of every Class, far exceeded the expectations of the Trustees, and furnished the best eulogium on the Rev. T. HILLIARD, both as a classical Scholar & as an Instructor of Youth. He merits the thanks of the Trustees and of the Parents of his Scholars, for the able, indefatigable, and successful manner in which he has conducted the exercises of the Academy.

The business of the Institution will be renewed on Monday the 21st July.

RALEIGH:

FRIDAY, JULY 11, 1817.

The Supreme Court of this State commenced its Term in this city, on Monday last. All the Judges are present.

The Banks of Cape-Fear and Newbern, have each declared Dividends for the last half year, of four per cent; the Bank of Virginia has declared five.

Dr. James S. Smith, of Hillsborough, is a Candidate for Congress in this district; and John L. Henderson, Esq. for the Salisbury district.

The House of Representatives of New-Hampshire, on the amendments to the Constitution of the United States, proposed by this state, the object of which is to require Representatives in Congress and Electors to be chosen in districts, have voted that it is not expedient to adopt them.

Mr. Taylor, of Virginia, in his new edition of that excellent Farmer's Book, ARATOR, speaking of the too prevalent practice of the Southern Farmers of wearing out their land and then deserting it, says, "Posterity will see written in the face of the Country, Four Ancestors, like Indians, proved their regard for their children, by scalping the Mother!"

The President of the U. States, it appears from the Northern Papers, would be at Boston on the 4th instant, where preparations were making for receiving him with considerable pomp and splendor.

The preparations making in Massachusetts (says the Albany Argus) for the reception and escort of the President of the United States, surpass in magnitude those of their less notional neighbors. Orders have passed down from the commander in chief, to the commanders of all the companies of cavalry and artillery on the supposed route of the President, to hold their companies in constant readiness to do honor to him as he passes through the state. Although we should commend less parade, still the excess is more pardonable in Massachusetts, if we consider that it may be intended as an atonement for her political and moral sins during the war.

The Editor of the Norfolk Herald, in copying a piece from a late Star, under the signature of GRANVILLE, remarks on the following passage contained in that piece:

"Norfolk and Petersburg have been alternately poisoning up and down in alternate preponderation. Petersburg is now in the zenith of her prosperity, but her trade is going to Norfolk, and she must sink as her rival rises.—North-Carolina furnishes all (both) with the means of wealth, and in return is hated and treated with the affection of contempt."—Thus (says the Editor of the Herald) is rare logic indeed: because our neighbor helps us to make a fortune, we must, in return, hate and despise him! We are astonished that so good a writer as Granville appears to be, should adopt so wild a notion; or that he should possess so little candor and discretion as to attempt to persuade the people of North-Carolina, that they are hated and despised by their brethren of Virginia, for his declaration to that effect is utterly groundless.—We know there is a party in the State of North-Carolina, who for political reasons, would go any lengths to set their state at variance with ours; Granville is no doubt one of that party; and the evident tendency of the offensive remark we have quoted is, to effect that object: an object as degrading to the head and heart of the writer, as it must be disgusting to every liberal and intelligent citizen of whatever political party.

A new outlet to the Ocean.—The last Edenton paper, in reference to this subject, has the following article:

"In noticing in our last publication, the progress made by the Board of Commissioners, for ascertaining the practicability of opening an outlet to the ocean for the waters of Albemarle Sound, we incorrectly stated, it appears, that they were absent on that business nearly five days, three of which were taken up in going and returning; and that it was feared they had discovered that the whole scheme was a visionary one. This, we are credibly informed, is not the case: For, instead of the scheme being a visionary one, & the Commissioners devoting their time in the way stated, they were actively employed with Capt. Clark about three days in sounding the waters from Croatan to Roanoke-Island; and found, that the practicability, so far, of opening an outlet to the ocean, is by no means a task of such infinite difficulty as our observations, and the prejudice of a few individuals, would lead the public to suppose.—In making the remarks which we did, we were actuated by no other motive than that which irresistibly forced itself upon the minds of those unacquainted of their intention of returning as soon as they did. That we had no intention of wounding the feelings of these gentlemen, or thwarting an undertaking so laudable, must be obvious, when it is recollected, that we have invariably advocated it as an enterprise fraught with incalculable benefit to this section of the State."

American Independence.

—The anniversary of this glorious event was celebrated in this city on Friday last with the usual demonstrations of joy. The day was ushered in by the discharge of a field-piece. At 11 o'clock, the Citizens assembled at the State-House to hear an Oration from John W. Young, Esq. who had been appointed for that purpose. The Oration, which was spirited and appropriate, was preceded by a short Address and suitable Prayer by the Rev. Wm. M. Pheeters, our City Pastor, and accompanied with Music by the Amateurs of the City. At half past two, the Citizens and Strangers sat down to a plentiful and elegant Public Dinner, prepared at the Hotel by Mr. Ruffin... At which Governor Miller presided, assisted by Chief-Justice Taylor, and Judge Seawell.

The following Toasts, announced by the firing of cannon, and interspersed with patriotic and convivial Songs, were given on the occasion:

1. The Day—May it be forever observed as the great National Festival of America.
2. George Washington—The first of Soldiers, Patriots and Statesmen.
3. The Heroes and Patriots of the Revolution—It is to them we owe the blessings of Freedom.
4. The United States—May they forever continue, free, prosperous, and happy—the secure Asylum of the oppressed of other Nations.
5. The Constitution—Our Shield of Safety in every time of Peril.
6. The People—May they never lose sight of their invaluable privileges as Citizens of a free Country.
7. The President of the United States—A happy return from his Tour of Duty to the Northern Frontier.
8. The Congress and Constituted Authorities.
9. Our late Presidents and venerable Fellow Citizens, Adams, Jefferson, and Madison—They enjoy in retirement the sweet reward of their Country's love.
10. Our little Navy—The pride of America, and the wonder of the World.
11. Our Army—The brave Defenders of their Country's Honor.
12. The Militia—It wants but discipline to make it the sure defence of the Nation.
13. Agriculture, Commerce, and Manufactures—the unfeeling sources of Wealth and Comfort to an industrious and enterprising People.
14. Island Navigation—May the Spirit which has gone forth on this interesting subject, continue until its desirable object be accomplished.
15. Our University and Public Schools—It is by a due encouragement of these Institutions that the happiness and prosperity of the State will be best promoted.
16. The Friends of Freedom all over the World.
17. South America—May the struggle of her Sons to throw off the yoke of Tyranny finally prevail.
18. A free Press—the best security of Religious and Political Liberty.
19. The Nations of the Earth: May the period soon arrive when National Controversies shall be settled by the rules of Justice and Equity, without resort to War and Bloodshed.

The 4th of July.—This day was celebrated at Chapel Hill by the Students of the University, in a manner well adapted to the occasion. According to previous arrangements, the Students and others who thought proper to attend, repaired to the Chapel at the appointed hour, where, with some preparatory remarks, the Declaration of Independence was read by Mr. John L. Bailey, to the great satisfaction of all who heard him. The company were then requested to attend at the Eagle Hotel, to partake of an excellent Dinner prepared for the occasion. Mr. James K. Polk President, and Bevil G. Wyche Vice-President.

After dinner the following Toasts were drank.

1. The Day we celebrate—May it always find in America the land of Freedom.
2. The Revolutionary War—A practical comment on the assertion that a people who wishes to be free, has only to will it—may it stand as a flaming comet to direct the oppressed to the Mount of Liberty.
3. The Spirit of '76—May that enthusiastic love of Liberty, which roused our ancestors to shake off the fetters of despotism, forever be enshrined within the breasts of their posterity.
4. The Patriots of '76—Your disinterested Republicanism will ever meet with the grateful plaudits of your admiring countrymen, and your names be cherished as the safeguard of Independence.
5. Washington—More than Brutus—greater than Cato—when rolling years shall cease to move, thy name shall cease to live.
6. Thomas Jefferson—May his wise and politic administration be remembered as a standing monument of human greatness, and may the evening of his days be devoted to the study of Philosophy and the tranquility of retirement.
7. James Madison—Let the friends of Liberty and the votaries of Republicanism hail thy glorious name as a national ornament in War, and in peace as a national monument of Wisdom.
8. President of the United States—May he guide the rudder of government with as much prudence & wisdom as he wielded the sword of Independence with prowess and execution.
9. Judge Marshall—May the labors of this great and good man be forever cherished by the friends of Liberty and Science, and remain for posterity to admire as a pillar of American Jurisprudence.
10. Our Congress—The most enlightened National Assembly, representing the most enlightened people on the globe.

Blessed as the wise, for by their fruits they are known.

11. Our Government—Possessing the advantages of a Monarchy with the freedom of the people, eternal infamy to the villain who meditates its destruction.

12. Our Country—Dear Columbiabair! A sanctuary for the good and a sacred asylum for the persecuted—may thy land be sacred to science and devoted to religion, and may liberty always crown the spot of Independence.

13. The Tree of Liberty—May it be so nourished by the Constitution that the whole continent of America may be shaded by its boughs.

14. The last War—We plucked the laurels from the brows of the conquerors of Napoleon.

15. Capt. James Lawrence—Possessing virtue which nothing could subdue, and patriotism over which only death could triumph, in the last pang of fainting life, he cried "Don't give up the Ship."

16. Dr. Joseph Caldwell—The literary Colossus of North Carolina, whose exemplary virtue, exalted piety, and indefatigable exertions to promote the prosperity of this institution merit our warmest approbation.

17. University of North Carolina—May it raise another Blakey!

18. Our Navy—Its shout of victory was the dirge of British glory.

19. Our Army—Spartanism, Roman Virtue, and American magnanimity united and consolidated.

20. The Patriots of South-America—May the spirit of freedom, that awakened them to rebellion, animate them in their struggle for Liberty and ultimately enable them to shake off the shackles of slavery.

21. Gen. Jackson—Success to Old Hickory, the best curb to British insolence.

VOLUNTEER TOASTS.

By Mr. Bailey. Gen. Putnam—Called from the plough like a second Cincinnatus he rose triumphant at the Battle of Bankers' Hill—and preferred an "hour of Virtuous Liberty to a whole eternity of bondage."

Mr. Polk. May our little Navy ever continue to ride triumphant on the element of European despotism, and teach the pirates of the ocean that a free people will not be insulted.

Mr. Wyche. Our officers in the last War—like the old knight-errants, broke the charm of British invincibility. They met the enemy and they were ours!

Mr. Lee. Patrick Henry—the pillar of honesty and the model of virtue—excellence like his shall stand a pyramid of human greatness, amidst the lapse of ages.

Mr. T. B. Stude. Maj. Gen. Wm. R. Davie, Minister Plenipotentiary to France—the founder of our Institution, an enlightened statesman and a true patriot.

Mr. J. Sanders. Gen. Francis Marion—whose brave exploits recommend him to the friends of Liberty and whose exemplary life is a pattern to the rising generation.

Mr. A. H. Davis. Success to the Navy—in War a national bulwark, in peace a national safeguard.

Mr. Otey. Gen. Pike—May his gallant services meet with the just rewards of a grateful country.

Mr. Phillips. The day we celebrate—May it always meet with a joyful reception in the breast of every American.

Mr. B. Davis. Generals Brown and Scott, the Heroes of Chippewa—May their names sound with renown, when ours sleep in oblivion.

Mr. Palmer. The oppressed of Ireland—may they ever find an asylum in this country.

Mr. Martin. May North Carolina produce another Forsythe.

Mr. E. S. Greening. General De Kalb—Generous Frenchman! you left your native and happy shore to lay down your useful life on the fatal plains of Camden, where your remains are enshrined within the tomb of republicanism and reposing under the holy tree of Liberty.

Mr. J. H. Ruffin. Capt. Johnston Blakeley—Columbia's boast,—Carolina's pride.

"How sleep the brave who sink to rest By all their country's honours blest."

By—May the smiles of the American Fair, ever reward the Patriot, and their frowns punish the Traitor!

Cannon Foundry.—General Jackson is now superintending the erection of a cannon and cannon ball foundry, on Shoal creek, Madison county, Mississippi territory. He has laid off 50,000 acres for the use of the establishment.

Grand Banks Discounts.—Forty-seven schooners arrived at Marblehead, from the Grand Banks, from May 8 to June 9th, 1817, having caught seven hundred and thirty six thousand six hundred fish, averaging 15,672 fish to each vessel.

Specie.—An arrival at Charleston on Saturday week last, from Jamaica brought one hundred thousand in specie! This makes about three hundred thousand dollars, there within a fortnight.

Beware of Sharks!—A black man named Jimmy, a slave, was, on the 24th ultimo, at Fort Johnson, in Charleston, seized by a shark. It appears that he got adrift, and he swam out just as he had got hold of her tail, she seized him, and it is supposed entirely in two. Nothing was to be seen but his blood, which dyed the water at the spot.

MARRIED.

In Charleston on the 25th ult. Colonel James Bankhead, of the U. S. Army, to Miss Ann S. Payne.

DIED.

At Fayetteville on the 27th ult. Mr. Robinson Mumford, Jun. aged 52; long a respectable and valuable Citizen.
