In preparing the foregoing list, great care has been taken to avoid error; but the information afforded by or to be obtained from the books and papers of the Office, is not such as to promise entire success; if, therefore, any error should appear, it will not, I trust, be said it was for want of attention; but be imputed to the true cause, the want of correct information.

I have thought it better to omit in this list the names of those on the Books that appear doubtful, which are not a few; because, by inserting them, much trouble and some expense might be occasioned to the individuals concerned, or to their Heirs, without obtaining the expected reward, whilst the Books will, as heretofore, remain open to all, and their claims, such as they may be, will stand on them, not at all injured or invalidated, by the omission of their names in this publication.

By an Act of the last Assembly, it will be seen that all claims of this description are to be passed on by a Board of Commissioners established for that purpose, and it is believed none will be granted except in cases where the act of 1811, Chapter 15th is strictly complied with.

By A. D. MURPHEY,
One of the Judges of the Superior Court of Law and Equity.

THE Cases decided at May Term were so numerous as to require two or three additional numbers, which will be published in succession as fast as they can be prepared for the press, and without limit as to particular periods. Before the December Term, it is expected, the volume will be completed.

The numbers will be sent to the subscribers of the Law Repository, under a belief that they will be acceptable; and if in any case they are not so, it is requested that notice may be sent forthwith to discontinue them.

Fellow-Citizens, & Electors for the County of Wake!

THE PERIOD is fast approaching when you will again be called upon to discharge the important trust delegated to you by the Constitution of our State. I have taken the liberty, through the means of this Circular, of informing you that I am a Candidate to represent you in the House of Commons of the next State Legislature.

Believing it to be nothing more than a duty necessarily incumbent on every person who offers to serve the People in a professional capacity, to declare the reasons which induced them to offer, their views of State Government, or rather, Political Principles; and in what manner they would act, provided they should be elected, I shall proceed to do so candidly and explicitly.

It is enough, I hope, for me to tell you, that I was solicited by some of the most respectable and worthy men in our County. But, I must confess to you, that this was one, amongst other motives, which first induced me to offer, viz: a desire for the promotion of the happiness of the People and the welfare of our great Republic. As for my Political Sentiments, let it be sufficient for the present,—that born in a State (Virginia) where their greatest boast is a Republican form of Government, I was early taught the instructive lesson of Republican Virtue. I was told that in such a Government was to be found the right of the People to Self Government, a most invaluable privilege! that in such alone the people were happy and independent: that it was best suited to the genius of man and to ensure prosperity and stability.

It must be, Fellow-Citizens, a source of peculiar pleasure to every honest good Republican, to see even the most bigoted of the European world laying down, and as it were, sacrificing their Aristocratical notions, on the pure and holy altar of Republicanism. I know that you all appreciate as much as I do, the happiness of our grand Republic: but believe me, in no better manner can we preserve our liberty, and hand down unimpaired to posterity our invaluable birth-rights, than by keeping constantly a good honest Republican Representation. In vain may a people seek for prosperity and stability in any other than a Republican Government: for, unless the People can govern, that Nation is not free, but worse than dependant. I have here thought it proper to inform you that, as respects my Religious principles, they are contained in this short sentence: "That all men have a natural and unalienable right to worship Almighty God according to the dictates of their own consciences, any preference to one sect, prejudicial to that of another, is unjust and incompatible to the genius of a free State!"

One of the most important subjects at this time, which calls aloud for remedy, is that of the Banks. Why is it, Fellow-Citizens, that the physical, and I believe I might say with safety, the intellectual resources and powers of our nation, but more particularly of our State, which were for a while and just so lately active, but are now permitted to lie in such a dormant and lethargic condition? Is it not owing to the Banking Institutions of our country? Most undoubtedly it is at once a self-evident truth. It does not require any of the aids or lights of Philosophy to discover the source of all our present embarrassments and difficulties. I have not the least earthly interest in the Banks whatever, and I am, considering our present condition, entirely opposed to them. It remains for the next Legislature, with an Herculean fortitude, to cleanse this Augean stable; for, unless a remedy of some sort is effected, I fear our country will experience a most dreadful shock. There are various and many other important subjects worthy of Legislative attention, all of which, together with every thing that will tend to promote the happiness of the people and the welfare of the community, shall receive my most earnest support and assiduous attention.

As it will not be in my power to see every man in the County, as I wish to do, I hope those who are unacquainted with me will give themselves the trouble to enquire of those who are, and know of them whether I am an industrious, honest mechanical citizen, and worthy a seat in the Legislative Councils of the State. I hope you will place the proper estimate upon my services rendered you in my mechanical capacity, during a residence of about twelve years. It is true, I have no claims to scientific knowledge, but I have a plain, good English education, which, together with purity of intention and upright integrity, will be considered as sufficient recommendations to your confidence.

Yours, Fellow-Citizens,
With the greatest respect,
DANIEL PECK.

Raleigh, June 8, 1820.
WE the Subscribers, attended the late Examination of the Students of Messrs. Freeman and Hassam's Private Academy in this City, and feel it due in justice to the Public, no less than to the talents and enterprise of the Teachers, to give our unsolicited suffrages in favor of the Institution. We were particularly gratified in finding that the course of instruction and discipline was, in an eminent degree, an exercise of the thinking faculties; a fact, which deserves emphatic observation. The progress of the Students was, in our opinion, unusually great, and their acquirements were in an equal degree valuable.
