ODE, Delivered at Jamestown at the late hibilee

Science, immers'd in death-like sleep, Had left benighted man to weep; The fires of Greece and Rome had fled, Or lay extinguish'd 'mong the dead, Bowing before the tyrant's nod, Or writhing underneath his rod, The hapless slave was doom'd to lie, To suffer, unavenged to die. Europe, defil'd with blood and tears, Plunged deep in superstition's fears, Beheld her Genius sad, forlorn, His visage wan, his mantle torn God saw-shot down a pitying ray, And spoke Columbus into day ; A new world burst upon the sight, Darkness roll'd back, and all was light. Behold upon the billowy deep, His daring course the hero keep ; Triumphant thro" the tempest's roar, Where man had never been before ; Guiding the proud adventurous bark, Another Noah in his ark, Sent forth upon the stormy wave, A future race of men to save. He came, he saw,-returned and told-A land of liberty and gold Presents its shores with freedom bless'd, A sweet asylum for th' oppress'd. Oh ! mark yon weak, but daring band Forsake their home, their parent land ; A band prepar'd for vent'rous deeds; And SMITH, the noble phalanx leads In safety from the stormy main ; Exultingly the port they gain-The anchor dropp'd, the sails are furl'd, They bound upon the new-found world. On this fam'd spot their standard place, The nucleus of a mighty race, Destin'd in arts and arms to dare, A light in peace, a storm in war. Along the deep mouth'd cannon's roar Resounds along the frightened shore ; The Indian from his covert flies, His wonted courage in him dies ; The genius of Columbia springs Aloft ! and waves his eagle wings. He views the scene with piercing eyes, Welcome, my future sons, he cries; The scroll of fate he now unroll'd, Your future destinies be told. To your posterity is given This smiling land by bounteous Heaven Far as the deep'ning forest waves, To shores which wide Pacific laves, Where now the wolf and panther stray, And savage man more fierce than they, Shall cheerful hamlets, cities rise, Like exhalations to the skies : Where wide and dreary rivers sweep Through solitary regions keep Their course majestic to the deep Shall numerous fleets triumphant sail, Their canvas swelling to the gale, Bearing their rich and boundless stores To gladden man on other shores, But Envy, fiend accursed, will rise To blast the scene with jealous eyes; Essay by grisly fronted war, Their cherish'd liberties to mar-Then will be seen a glorious band Stern in the gap of danger stand, Undauntedly their rights to claim, And Independence proud proclaim And thousands from the plough shall hie, The battle's bloody strife to try. Hail, cheering Epoch, beacon for the brave, To rise in majesty and freedom save-Now sternly looming o'er the tide, Shall gallant navies proudly ride, Bearing the brave Columbian tar, Resolv'd for Liberty to dare The sternest tug of desperate war. ) Sages the pen of science wield, And Washingtons shall sweep the field. Nations that long in darkness lay Beneath oppression's iron sway, Fir'd by the proud example given, Shall shout aloud their thanks to Heaven; And bards shall wake the sounding lyre And fan to flame the holy fire, From Magellan to Labrador, From Zara's sands to India's shore Shall freedom's banners proudly soar. Tyrants -- no more to rise, despised shall fall. And one unpitving ruin whelm them all; Hosannas loud shall ring, that man is free, And the whole world hold one great Jubilee.

SHARON FOR SALE.

THE place on which I reside, may be had on reasonable terms, for negotiable pa-per with Bank accommodation. It contains about 49 acres of Land, of good quality, bordesing on the City of Raleigh, and on a public road leading from the City. Sixteen or eighteen acres are cleared and under cultivation, the rest is covered with a heavy forest growth, abounding with fire-wood and timber. The land contains an excellent rock quarry ; well watered by branches, and has two rock springs near the house, equal probably to any in the county. My dwelling is about 300 yards from the town line. The situation, therefore, has the advantages of town and country united, and is, in ray estimation, the most desirable spot for a residence that I know in the State,-Apply soon. H. POTTER.

VALUABLE PROPERTY FOR SALE.

THE UNION TAVERN.

WILL sell privately, on accommodating terms, this Establishment. As a Stand for a Public House, it is believed to be equal if not superior to any in the City, being situated immediately at the Courthouse and in the centre of the city. The House is large and he is a free man, but has no evidence of convenient. There is a large Stable conve- the fact, and is therefore believed to nient to the Tavern, with a Well of excellent | be a Runaway. He is about 35 years of water in the lot. A person disposed to enter into a business of this kind, will find this situation can be recommended as a healthy and profitable stand. The payments will be made easy to any person disposed to purchase .--For terms, apply to the Subscriber, or Mrs. Jeter on the lot, who will continue to keep up the Honse as heretofore. She begs leave to tender her gratitude to her friends; and solicits a continuation of their custom ; and assures them that every attention shall be paid to the confortable accommodation of those who may call on her. THOMAS COBBS, Ex'or of C. JITTER, dec'd. May 23. 83 tf STATE OF NORTH-CAROLINA. Robeson County. In the Cowrt of Equity, March Term, 1822. John Gillis, Bill of 7%. TTHE semi-annual Examination of the pu-I pils (male and female,) of this Institution, will commence on Thursday, 13th June, and close on Saturday the 15th with Public Speaking, No vacation at this time. Terms of Tuition, Ten Dollars per session : Board Forty Dollars per session, payable in advance. Medical aid free in the Academics. Young ladies and little misses will board in the Fe. male Academy, under the immediate care of Mrs. COTTRELL. Small boys also can be accommodated in the family of Doctor Cor-TRELL. Young gentlemen can be well ac. commodated in respecable houses in the neighborhood. The two Departments are superintended at the distance of three hundred yards apart : the Male by Mr. BENJANIN ----COTTRELL, who has highly distinguished him. self as a teacher, by his indefatigable attention and success in the improvement of youth. The Female, under the principal care of Mrs. SUSAN L. COTTRELL, before mentioned, whom we believe to be inferior to no lady in our country for teaching both the literary and ornamental branches of female education. We, whose names are here annexed, do recommend this Seminary to the public, as being situated in a healthy, pleasant part of the country, having the advantage of a stated and regular ministry, and remote from any place of dissipation. We do promise to attend these Schools frequently, and use all possible influence to preserve the morals of all who may come under our care. We do also respectfully invite the public, and especially the friends of Literature, to attend our examination, and judge for themselves of the merits of this Institution. HENRY G. WILLIAMS, SAM.
