Sec. 2. And be it further enacted, That the several sums hereby appropriated shall be paid out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated: Provided, however, That no money appropriated by this act, or by the act making appropriations for the military service of the United States, for the year eighteen hundred and twenty-two, and towards the service of the year eighteen hundred and twenty-three, shall be paid to any person for his compensation, who is in arrears to the United States, until such person shall have accounted for, and paid into the Treasury, all sums for which he may be liable: Provided, further, That nothing in this section contained shall extend to balances arising solely from the depreciation of Treasury Notes received by such person to be expended in the public service; but, in all cases where the pay or salary of any person is withheld in pursuance of this act, it shall be the duty of the accounting officer, if demanded by the party, his agent, or attorney, to report forthwith to the agent of the Treasury Department, the balance due; and it shall be the duty of said agent, within sixty days thereafter, to render suit to be commenced against the delinquent and his sureties.

Sec. 3. And be it further enacted, That the expense for the year ending by March 31st in taking and conducting the fourth census of the United States, not exceeding two thousand dollars, to be paid out of an unexpended balance of an appropriation for defraying the expense of the fourth enumeration of the inhabitants of the United States.

LATEST FROM EUROPE.

From the Norfolk Herald, of 7th inst.

The regular fast sailing ship Scipio, Capt. S. Drummond, arrived in Hampton Roads on Wednesday, in 31 days from Liverpool, which place she left on the 2d of May. Capt. Drummond states that there were no advances from the Russian and Turkish Armies, that had come to his knowledge, later than the Mercury contains—the impression among those well informed was, that there would be no war. He had heard nothing further on the subject of a difference between France and Spain; and respecting the West India restrictions, although he had not understood that the bill had been taken up since our last accounts, there was no doubt but it would pass, as the ministry were generally in favor of it.

LIVERPOOL, MAY 3.

We have nothing decisive to communicate as to the state of affairs between Russia and the Porte. The constant answer of the Reis Effendi to the renewed application of the English and Austrian Ambassadors, is, that the Porte has no desire for war; but that, if she is attacked by any power, she is prepared to defend herself.

Subscriptions are opened in London for the distressed Irish, and plans proposed, in which it is anticipated that government will assist to dispatch them from this port.

Distress and disturbances in Monmouthshire.—The peace of this country is greatly disturbed. Numbers of men nightly attack those who work at the mines, at prices which they consider low; though according to resolutions of a late meeting, at which the Lord Lieutenant presided, it was deemed impossible to raise wages on account of the depression of trade. Some coal wagons were attacked by the populace, whom it was found necessary to disperse by the military, (the Scotch Greys,) which was done with celerity and humanity, not a man being wounded. The dreadful distress to which the farmers are reduced, may be learned from the following facts: "the desertion of farms by their occupiers, after a thorough clearance of the property, is beginning to be very alarming in part of Monmouthshire. It is an absolute fact that two magistrates residing in that county, travelled 18 miles on Saturday night, to give possession to the landlord of a deserted farm; and in order to complete the business, they must travel as many more! The same magistrates had the mortification to learn, as they went along, that several other tenants in that part of the county had already done the same thing."

Catholic Peers.—The papers received last night contain a long report of the debate on Mr. Canning's motion for the admission of Catholic Peers into the House of Lords, which was carried by a majority of five, in an unusually full House, the number of members present being 493. We confess that we feel very little interest, nor do we believe that the great body of the Catholics feel much more, in the issue of this motion, which, like the disfranchisement of Grampound, is a mere "tub to the whale." The probability is, that it will be lost in the Upper House; but however that may be, it is a partial expedient, one of those half measures to which the present government so often resort with so bad a grace when it is in their power to conciliate by a more decided line of equitable policy.

Dreadful state of Ireland.—Sir E. O'Brien stated in the House of Commons, on Monday, that famine, desolated a large portion of the southern districts. The potatoe crop had partially failed; and on the banks of the Shannon, the potatoes had rotted, from continued inundations. He implored the interposition of government for one million of people who were in distress—in starvation; for four months they had nothing to look to for subsistence. One hundred and fifty thousand persons in Clare were starving.

FROM VALPARAISO.

Extract of a letter from an American gentleman at Valparaiso, to his friend in New-York, dated Jan. 29, 1822.

"The Patriots have continued successful in all their operations, and have completely put down their opponents. San Martin is now Director or Governor of Lima—still the Patriots cannot agree among themselves. San Martin wishes the fleet to be under the direction of the Patriot Governor of Peru; but Cochrane will not consent to it, which has caused some little difference between the two governments. San Martin must ultimately submit to that of Chili. The war appears to be at an end in this part of the world, and the prospect is, that, in a short time, a considerable business will be done. The English are flocking here, and large quantities of goods are arriving daily. Four English ships with full cargoes arrived this week; they did not go to Lima, on account of the heavy duty of 80 per cent which amounts to a prohibition. "This country, at present, is in a very distressed condition, owing to a failure of the crops. There is not enough wheat raised this season, for the consumption of the city of St. Jago. There will not be enough saved in the country for seed another year. The inhabitants of Peru are also in a very distressed state. Bread was selling in Lima a short time since, at five dollars a pound. The Government of Lima have contracted with the English here for large quantities of wheat, a great portion of which, I am informed, will be procured from the United States."—Com. Adv.

LATEST FROM BERMUDA.

Norfolk June 11, 1822.

Capt. Richard Webb, of the schooner John Rodman, which arrived at Elizabeth City, (N. C.) on Saturday last, in 11 days from St. George's, (Bermuda,) brings the pleasing intelligence that the petty tyrant, who has so long lorded it over the good people of that Island, is at length rendered incapable of further annoyance, by being called home to answer for his misdeeds. Capt. W. states that he left St. George's on the evening of the 25th May, and embarked the next day on board a Ship of War, which was to convey him to England. His exit produced among the people of St. George's the most enthusiastic joy, which was proclaimed by a brilliant illumination of the town, firing of guns, &c. on the night of the 26th. These lively expressions of popular feeling finished that night by dressing up a figure, in the full uniform of a British General, (the usual attire of his Excellency,) which, after parading through the streets, followed by a large concourse of citizens, was finally burnt to ashes, amidst the reiterated acclamations of the people. Capt. W. further states that this gracious act of royal condescension was the subject of general congratulation to the hour of his departure....Sic semper tyrannis. Beacon.

FROM TEXAS.

A gentleman who has lately been on an exploring tour in the Province of Texas, passed through Arkansas, and has communicated the following interesting facts relative to the situation of that country.

He represents the condition of the people as miserable in the extreme; industry is scarcely known among them; and business of every description at a stand. Although possessed of one of the finest and most fertile portions of the globe, yet agriculture is entirely neglected, and, to a person accustomed to civilized life, they present a picture literally bordering on starvation; bread-stuffs are very scarce and dear, and like the natives of the forest, they depend almost entirely on the chase for a scanty subsistence. At St. Antonio, a place which has once been a wealthy and populous city, nothing but wretchedness was visible. That place is garrisoned by about 75 soldiers, who were nearly destitute of ammunition. The people of that place have once been in a state of ease and affluence, but in consequence of the soldiers of the Spanish and Republican armies having been quartered on, and pillaging them, for several years, together with their own indolence, they are now reduced to the most abject state of poverty. This remark is also applicable to La Bada and the other principal posts which our informant visited.—Ark. Gaz.

ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE.

Raleigh, June 16, 1822.

GENERAL ORDERS.

From the returns of the Militia of the last year, it is very evident, notwithstanding all the Regiments of the State were included in the General Aggregate, there remained a fraction of not less than 20,000 men unaccounted for. This deficiency was discovered from a comparison of the returns with the census of 1820, which exhibits the number of men between 18 and 45 at 66,000, whereas the returns of the militia amounted to only 41,000; and on reference to the files of this office there appears, to have been a gradual decline in the number of the militia of the State for many years past. The number now enrolled, agreeably to the returns, is 12,000 less than there were ten years ago, while the State during the same time, has increased in population upwards of 80,000. Hence arises the most conclusive evidence of the existence (somewhere in the militia) of great negligence and inattention, which have become so palpable and serious in their consequences as not to be suffered to pass longer unnoticed.

The source from whence this deficiency has originated, no doubt, principally with Captains of Companies, in failing to make returns to the Colonels; and unless there is a more rigid enforcement of the penalty annexed to such delinquency in future, it is clearly perceived that the inconvenience already experienced will still exist and most likely continue to increase. The Commander in Chief is aware, however, that the many Volunteer Companies which have become disorganized, contribute not a little to the cause of this deficiency; and, although they may not have either been mustered or returned for years, the men, notwithstanding, shield themselves from service in any other company upon the grounds of their original enrolment as volunteers, and owing to the difficulty, entertained by the Captains of Infantry of procuring proof to the contrary, they are thus suffered to remain subject to no militia duty whatever. It is in this way a considerable proportion of the militia go clear of mustering and are never brought into the returns of this office.

Without making any particular reference to the laws on this subject (which are presumed to be in the hands of every officer, and sufficiently understood) the Captains of Infantry are instructed in every instance where a Volunteer Company is known to have ceased to perform the ordinary duties required under the militia laws, to enter the men composing such Company on the roll of the Infantry in the District where they reside; and if they do in fact still exist as a Volunteer Company according to law, it will be for them to furnish the proof proper to be required in such case.

It is confidently expected, after these remarks, every exertion will be made by the Captains to enable those officers who are bound to make returns to this office, to furnish a full and correct return of the Militia this year. The Colonels, at the same time, are reminded of their duty, in returning annually a "Roster of the names and dates of Commissions of the Field Officers composing their respective commands," a duty which was very generally omitted in the returns of the last year.

By order of the Commander in Chief.

WAKE JAIL BROKEN!

LAST night the following Prisoners made their escape from said Jail, by breaking through the Wall thereof, viz: THOMAS HASWELL, formerly of Louisville, in this State, under a sentence of three years imprisonment for robbing the Mail of the United States.

ELIJAH R. ROGERS, confined for a Misdemeanor; but whose time of punishment would have expired, as soon as he could pay his prison charges.

JACK HARRIS, a Mulatto, who called himself a free man, but who was suspected to be a Runaway Slave, and confined on that account.

Haswell is about 30 years of age, 5 feet 8 inches high, has black Hair and Eyes, and large black Whiskers; is rather slender made; has a down look; was raised a Blacksmith, but has for several years been in the Mercantile Business, and writes a fine ready hand.

Rogers is six feet high, and about 20 years of age. The Mulatto is nearly six feet high, about 35 years of age, has a small scar over the right eye, has lost his right eye-tooth and a jaw-tooth, and his back bears the mark of the whip. He says he was born in Bedford county, Virginia.

FIFTY DOLLARS Reward will be paid for the apprehension and recovery of Haswell, and FIVE DOLLARS for either Rogers or the Mulatto.
