

FROM AFRICA.

The brig Prudent, Capt. Gould, has arrived at Boston from Africa. In April the English government took possession of the establishments on the coast, lately belonging to the African company, and put them under colonial laws and restrictions.

Sir Charles McCarty, Governor General and Commander of Western Africa, arrived in the Iphigenia, and on the 5th of April issued the King's proclamation, and closed the port to all foreigners. Commodore Sir R. Mead, of the British frigate Iphigenia, was at Accra in April, with five captured vessels. Com. M. had been informed that an American brig had been taken by the natives on the windward coast, captain and mate killed, vessel run ashore, and crew enslaved. Com. M. intended sending a sloop of war to obtain the property and survivors, and burn the town.

Com. Mead's squadron captured, in two months, principally in the Calabar and Benue rivers, upwards of 2000 slaves. The Commodore fell in with an U. States schooner, under command of Lieut. Hunter, and supplied her with 30 men and an officer at the request of Lieut. H.

SPAIN AND FRANCE.

The Philadelphia Aurora contained, some days ago, the following statement, on what authority the editor does not disclose, but he doubtless would not have published allegations of so grave a character on vague or slight authority. Whether they are true or not, time, perhaps, will show. The only public fact which would seem to warrant a belief in the statement, is the large army, (30,000 it is said) assembled by France near the Spanish frontier, for the ostensible purpose of preventing the introduction of contagion; but we confess that the professed object of this cordon of health, seems to us entirely inadequate to justify so large an army. The Spanish revolution, we have no doubt, was extremely obnoxious to the government of France, as it was to all those who assume to rule mankind by divine right; they could not behold the people of a great nation successfully reforming the abuses of their government, and curtailing the prerogatives of arbitrary power, without indignation & alarm. There were also reasons to be found in the late condition and present temper of her own population, and her contiguity to Spain, why the French government particularly should view with dislike the triumph of the people in the Peninsula; and it is not unfair to presume that she would lend a ready hand in restoring things to their ancient state. While, however, we doubt not the willingness of the government of France to co-operate in such a work, there are domestic considerations calculated to create hesitation on her part. Although for this reason we require facts to obtain our full belief in the statement of the Aurora, so far as regards France, we presume, nevertheless, that so positive a statement would not be hazarded without good grounds. As to England, she is ever ready to array herself where her interest invites her. She never loses an opportunity to increase her strength and extend her power at the expense of all other considerations; she has adopted the maxim, that self-preservation is the first law, and in that seeks her justification for every barter of generous feeling for sordid acquisition. That England, therefore, would give her aid in overthrowing the Spanish constitution and re-establishing the Inquisition, we could easily believe, if the rich and important island of Cuba were the price offered for her assistance. Whether, at any rate, such a plot be on foot now or not, we have little doubt that the preservation of the liberties of Spain must ultimately depend on her own vigilance and valor; for, after the suppression of the freedom of Naples and the heartless abandonment of the brave Greeks to their barbarian and merciless oppressors, by the potentates of Europe, no shadow of confidence can be placed in their justice or magnanimity; and we believe they will sooner or later seize some pretext for attempting to restore the despotic government of Spain, and extinguish every germ of freedom in the old world.—Nat. Int.

FROM THE AURORA.

The Cortes at Madrid have detected and possessed themselves of a secret treaty entered into between Louis XVIII and Ferdinand VII, negotiated by the Duke del Infantado and Count Legarde; which had in its express view, the overthrow of the constitutional and representative system of government.

The march of a large French army to the frontier (cordes unite) was stipulated to be at stated times augmented to 50,000 men; military supplies to be provided by France.

Great Britain to aid with her fleet, and on condition that she should not acknowledge the independent states of the new world, Spain would cede to her the island of Cuba.

This treaty was entered into deliberately by Ferdinand, and when it was presented to him was not denied, but he promised for the hundredth time to be faithful to the constitution if spared on this occasion.

The seizure and execution of the leaders of the liberals—Itiego, Quiroga, &c. were among the stipulations, and the concurrence of Austria and Russia, was expressly stated.

POSTSCRIPT.—The news from Gibraltar, in the succeeding columns, does not confirm the reported counter-revolution at Madrid. It, however, exhibits the country itself in a state of great trouble, and in some parts, even of actual civil war—the work, in all probability, of foreign emissaries and foreign aid, acting on the discontent of the priests and the priests ridden, who conceive themselves losers by the constitutional government.

PORTUGAL AND BRAZIL.

The news of the change of affairs in the Brazils, and the assumption of the government by the Prince Royal, under the title of Prince Regent & Constitutional Protector of Brazil, reached London on the 26th of July. The London Courier, after admitting that the Brazils are lost to the mother country, seems to think that the events that have taken place under the government of the Prince, have in some measure been the effects of a concerted policy between the King and his son. On returning to Portugal, the King must have foreseen that the Colonia would ere long become independent. Anticipating a speedy dismemberment from Portugal, he has wisely retained the sovereignty, in the person of his son; and that should his safety be threatened at home, he will still have an asylum and a kingdom; a kingdom, too, rivaling the empires of antiquity in extent, and capable of becoming great and powerful under the protection of a resident monarch. Upon such terms, Spain, had her councils not been so infatuated as to believe in an ultimate subjection to the refractory colonists, might have preserved Mexico. The throne of Mexico was offered to a Bourbon before Yturbe assumed the purple; and had it been accepted, Chili and Peru might, perhaps, have followed the example, and now been under the dominion of branches of the Spanish Royal Family.

CRUIZE OF THE GRAMPUS.

The U. S. schooner Grampus, Lieut. Com. Gregory, arrived at Charleston, S. C. on the 12th inst. from a cruize of 50 days in the West-Indian Seas. During the cruize the Grampus made a complete capture of the notorious piratical brig Panchita, formerly the Panchita. This vessel was armed with one long brass 13 pounder, eight 18lb. carronades, with a plenty of small arms, and 68 men. The following account of the engagement is taken from the Times, printed at St. Thomas.

ST. THOMAS, AUGUST 23.

The U. S. schr. Grampus, Lt. Com. Gregory, arrived at this port on Wednesday last, accompanied by the Spanish privateer, Panchita, as a prize.—We learn that Lt. Com. Gregory felt himself authorized to make this capture, from the circumstance of the Panchita having robbed amongst many others the American schr. Coquette, Capt. Southey, whose deposition of the circumstances, together with that of the mate and two of the crew, was in Lt. Gregory's possession.

We have been politely favored by the officers of the Grampus, with the following particulars of the rencontre between that vessel and the Panchita, which terminated in the capture of the latter—the Grampus sustained no loss in killed or wounded, and no other damage than that of having had her fore spring stay and some running rigging shot away, and a few shot thro' her sails. The Panchita had unfortunately one man killed & seven wounded, and was otherwise materially injured. The object of their visit to this port is to repair the latter vessel and obtain a supply of water.

Particulars.—On the 16th, at 2 o'clock, P. M. the Grampus descried a sail to windward, which was immediately recognized as the Panchita. At day-light of the following morning, she was again discovered two points on the weather bow; at 6 30 A. M. the Grampus hauled up and made all sail in chase, and at 10 A. M. came up with her; Capt. Gregory then ordered her to haul down her colors to the United States of America, this was answered by the firing of a gun from the Panchita, and that followed by a broadside of round and grape shot and musketry from the Grampus, which was promptly returned by the privateer. The action lasted four minutes, when the Panchita hauled down her colors and stated that she was sinking; the boats of the Grampus were then got out and the prisoners conveyed on board, consisting of eighty-seven in number.

And at 3 o'clock in the afternoon of the following day (Monday,) a meeting of the Members of that Society will be held, for the purposes pointed out by its Constitution. Raleigh, Sept. 18.

AMERICAN ATLAS. THE Author of the NEW AMERICAN ATLAS, deems it necessary to apprise his Patrons and the Public generally, lest any misapprehension should arise, from a similarity of names, that the work about to be published by Messrs. Carey and Lea, Booksellers, of this city, under the title of the "American Atlas," is a distinct and separate work from the former, in which the subscriber has no interest nor concern. The author of the first mentioned work, embraces this opportunity to inform his Patrons, that the fifth and last number of his Atlas will be prepared as soon as the surveys and other documents shall be arranged; the publication of which will, it is hoped, take place in the course of the present year. This number will embrace Maps of the following states: Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Kentucky, Tennessee, Illinois, Missouri, North & South Carolina, Georgia, and Alabama, all arranged on a uniform scale of 1 mile to the inch, being the same as the Maps of the other States, already published. SHARON FOR SALE. THE place on which I reside, may be had on reasonable terms, for negotiable paper with Bank accommodation. It contains about 49 acres of Land, of good quality, bordering on the City of Raleigh, and on a public road leading from the City. Sixteen or eighteen acres are cleared and under cultivation, the rest is covered with a heavy forest growth, abounding with fire-wood and timber. The land contains an excellent rock quarry; is well watered by branches, and has two rock springs near the house, equal probably to any in the county. My dwelling is about 300 yards from the town-line. The situation, therefore, has the advantages of town and country united, and is, in my estimation, the most desirable spot for a residence that I know in the State.—Apply soon. H. POTTER. AMOS, a dark mulatto fellow, tall and spare made, large white eyes, quick speech when spoken to, about 25 years old; had on home made clothes. NORTH-CAROLINA. A Proclamation. FIFTY DOLLARS REWARD.

WHEREAS, it has been represented to me, that a certain Negro Man, named JIM, believed to be the property of David Stone, Esq. of Wake County, stands charged by the verdict of a Jury of Inquest, with the murder of a young Negro Man, named Burton, the property of Green Ligon, of said county, a minor, and that said Ligon Jim has made his escape:

Now, therefore, to the end that he may be brought to justice, the above Reward will be given to any person or persons who shall apprehend and confine the said negro Jim in any Jail, so that he may be brought to trial for said offence: And I do moreover enjoin and command all Officers, Civil and Military, within this State, to apprehend and bring said negro Jim to justice.

Negro Jim is well known in this County and in Bertie, where he formerly lived; he is about five feet ten inches high, not very stoutly made, but is a negro of desperate character, and will probably resist all attempts to take him. He has a slit in his lower lip, one of his ears has been bitten off, and he wears his hair platted and turned up under his hat.

In testimony whereof, I have caused the Great Seal of the State to be hereunto affixed, and signed the same at the City of Raleigh, this 12th day of July, Anno Domini, 1822. GAB'L HOLMES.
